LONDON, Aug. 19.—The critical moment has arrived in the transformation of Russia. The Bolshevist power is breaking up and allied troops have entered Russia by three gateways that still remain, in the north, in the Caucasus, and in Siberia.

It is characteristic of the anomalies of the situation that whereas in the north the Bolsheviki are fighting the Allies and describing them in their military bulletins as "the enemy," in the south British troops have come to the rescue of other Bolsheviki, who, with Armenian volunteers, are defending Baku against a Turkish force.

So far the allied operations in Russia are in the initial stage. The difficult work of preparation has been successfully surmounted, the enterprise is launched, its aims are proclaimed, and the troops are already in contact with different sections of the Russian population. That the allied force has been welcomed in the north is beyond question. The population of Archangel only submitted to Bolshevist rule when it was forced on them by an armed expedition in January and have since endured the yoke most unwillingly.

Inhabitants Sturdy Peasants.

The great majority of the inhabitants of the thickly wooded northern Governments are sturdy, independent peasants. There are few large landowners, and little industry, apart from saw milling. The class struggle has been hardly felt in this region, and there has been little sympathy for the Soviet doctrine, and for months past the population has been looking to England for relief.

As long ago as last December, when I was traveling to Kiev in a carriage full of soldiers, who were discussing with some amusement the declaration of Ukranian independence, I heard a soldier from Archangel put the view prevailing among his people in one sentence. "Well," he said, "if Russia is going to split up into a lot of separate States, we in the Archangel government think the best thing we can do is to put ourselves under England."

When at the end of March I traveled north from Petrograd to Murmansk I found the arrival of British troops eagerly anticipated all along the line.

That the allied troops will be received with sympathy by the local population in the north is certain.

The fighting, such as it is, has not gone entirely in our favor. A small force that marched along the flat road from Onega Bay to outflank the Bolshevist force that was retiring along the railway line seems to have suffered a temporary setback at Obozerskaya, where the road meets the railway. That is a slight misfortune that will delay our movement toward Vologda.

What is of more importance for the immediate purpose of the expedition is that a British force has gone up by boat along the Northern Dvina to Kotlas, one of the most beautiful stretches of river travel in Russia. From Kotlas a short branch railway leads to Viatka, a considerable town on the main line from Petrograd and Vologda to Siberia. It was reported recently that in Viatka the Bolshevist régime, never firmly established, had

Germany Makes Big Effort to Launch a New Loan

ZURICH, Aug. 19.—The Abendzeitung of Augsburg says that the Minister of Imperial Finance and the Reichsbank are working in the preparation of a scheme for a new war loan.

In official circles it is said that propaganda work in conection with this this loan will be extremely difficult consequence of recent events. Capitalists are especially cautious and pessimistic, and it will be necessary to make unheard-of efforts to obtain acceptable results.

All theatrical societies and all artists' committees will be compelled to further the propaganda for the loan by plays and songs. "But," the journal remarks, "the best propaganda will be Hindenburg's sabre, which will continue to win victories."

The loan will be isued in the middle of September.

SANK A U-BOAT, CAPTAIN REPORTS

TWO NORWEGIAN VICTIMS

Merchant Captain Tells How He Saw U-Boat Officer in New York Restaurant.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—A German submarine was sunk in a running battle with a British tank steamer last Friday, about 300 miles northeast of Nantucket, according to members of the tanker's crew. The oil ship arrived here tonight from Mexico.

When first sighted, the U-boat was two miles away, according to the Captain of the tanker, who said he immediately opened fire. Two shots from the submersible struck the British ship, one of them passing through the boiler room and the other through a tank. Neither of the shells exploded, and did no material damage, the Captain reported.

Twenty-seven shots were fired by the tank ship, one or more of which, her master declared, scored clean hits, as flames were seen bursting from the port side of the submarine, which, he said, sank a few minutes later.

SAW U-BOAT'S OFFICER IN A CITY RESTAURANT

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—From an authoritative naval source it was learned tonight that German submarines have twice cut cables along the coast of the United States and that officers and men of German U-boats have had the boldness to land at night on the shores of this country. Information has been given to the Navy Department that an under officer of a submarine recently operating off the Virginia coast is believed to have gone unnoticed to New York and mingled with crowds in saloons and other places in that city.

The information submitted to the Navy Department regarding the alleged trip of this under officer to New York City was of such a circumstantial character that high officials of the department credit it as being true. The statement that one German officer had the hardihood to land on the coast and make such a journey was made to a high official of the American naval administration by the Captain of a merchant vessel which was recently sunk off the Southern coast. This merchant Captain's name has been withheld, but it was authoritatively learned today that he came to Washington and personally submitted his facts to high naval officials in a straightforward and circumstantial a manner that the latter have no reason to believe he was mistaken.

According to the captain's story he went to New York after the sinking of his vessel. While there he entered a restaurant, accompanied by a friend, and was startled by meeting, face to face, a man whom, he has since informed high naval officials, he recognized as an under officer of the submarine that had sunk his merchant vessel not many days before. The captain said he was positive he made no mistake and that the man he saw showed clearly that he recognized the captain and immediately disappeared. No trace of him has since been seen, although naval intelligence officers have been given his description.

Unless the merchant captain is mistaken over the identity of the man, it is the belief of high naval officials that the German U-boat under-officer was landed at night somewhere along the coast, and then made his way to New York in

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 19.—Because the army gets in letters from home every day the query, "When will the war be over?" I will try to give the army's answer.

It seems to be the consensus of the best-informed army circles that the war will be over next year. While speculation differs as to the exact time, I have often heard the month of September mentioned as the time when the Germans will probably have had enough.

No one seriously expects a decision this year. General March has stated his belief that an American force [of 4,000,000 men under one commander in chief] can penetrate the German line when and where it pleases. That is perfectly true, but to make such a penetration on a large sector in ending the war, we must have many times the troops that it would take to make the initial hole, to widen it and to deepen it, and to make it secure enough to bring a decision.

Germans Being Worn Down.

Now the German effective strength is being worn down by constantly repeated allied attacks all along the front. Of course, during the Winter months, when fighting eases off, both sides will replenish their combat forces as best possible.

The German high command will have perhaps 600,000 recruits for that purpose, while the allied high command will have 2,000,000 or more Americans, in addition to recruits. Who can doubt the relative ability of the two sides when they face each other next Spring?

I repeat that it is the belief of the American Army that six months after next Spring's effort starts the Germans may be defeated.

While the German is still a formidable foe, those in our army who have the best information say he has shot his bolt. The allied task in March was to hold the Germans until cold weather hampered active military operations. That task has been so well done that the enemy not only is held, but is on the defensive everywhere on the western front. Having completed this year's task at least two, or perhaps three, months before the fighting season is over, the allied command is now carrying out a plan to weaken the enemy as much as practicable, so that he will be able to oppose that much less resistance to the allied victory drive of 1919.

French Spirit Unbroken.

I find that the idea that the war will continue at least another year has spread among the French people, and the condition has been completely accepted. This does not mean at all that they will not hold fast if it takes longer.

At present they are resigned to another year of war; if it takes longer, they will resign themselves to as much time as is necessary, for no

Strike of 14,000 Ties Up London Omnibus Lines

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Fourteen thousand omnibus and street car employes were on strike in London today. No omnibuses were operating in the metropolitan area. Several privately owned street car services and a number of suburban municipal services were suspended.

In the afternoon the strike spread to one of London's subways, sixty girl attendants at one station walking out. They declared their intention to induce other women to strike.

Although the strike order affected a large number of motormen and conductors of the London County Council Street Car Service, which covers the principal industrial districts, reports indicated that many of the men responded to the request of the Executive Committee not to strike and the service was said to have not been affected.

Although the Transport Workers Federation has not declared a national strike, reports were received this afternoon by the local union officials indicating that the street car and omnibus employes at Bristol, Brighton, Folkestone, and other towns had stopped work.

NEXT YEAR TO END WAR, SAYS MARCH

New Draft Will Put Victorious American Army Abroad, He Believes.

TO CALL BOYS OF 18 LAST

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—With 4,000,000 American soldiers fighting on the western front next year, embracing divisions to be obtained by increasing the draft ages, the war can be won in 1919, asserted General Peyton C. March, Chief of Staff, testifying today before the House Military Affairs Committee on the Administration's new Man-Power bill.

In making this statement, at the conclusion of his review of the situation facing the warring nations, General March said that, while it was the intention of the Government to delay taking boys of 18 and 19 as long as possible, the country should not have any false idea as to the purpose of the military authorities to increase the army to ninety-eight divisions as speedily as possible and have eighty divisions overseas by the end of next June. He said that, as it would be necessary to give the men who would come under the next draft at least from four to six months' training here, the youths between 18 and 19 would be inducted into active service almost at the same time as those of more mature ages.

In defining the war policies of the allied powers, General March said that the war would be won or lost on the western front. He stressed the point that it was imperative to have an army of ninety-eight divisions by June 30 next and transport the number necessary to increase our overseas force to eighty divisions.

The efforts of the allied powers and the United States, General March said, would be confined to actual fighting on the western front, where the war would be won or lost, without taking into consideration conditions in Russia.

Shall Need All Men From 18 to 45.

General March defined some of the policies of the War Department in connection with the new Draft bill.

"No nation has men in the army of an age lower than 18, except, perhaps, Germany," said General March. "The age limit in most countries is 50 years. As a principle I would say that the maximum is 50 and the minimum 18, while we have found that Germany had some as young as 16 years.

"By June 30, 1919, we shall need all the men from 18 to 45. We must not conclude that the men between 18 and 19 are going to be deferred any length of time. No committee ought to make a law which prevents the War Department from going into the 18 and 19 class when necessary."

General March said that the strength of the army on Aug. 1 last was 3,012,112, divided as follows: American Expeditionary Force, exclusive of Marines, 1,301,742; in the United States and the insular possessions, 1,432,706; August draft, 277,664.

"Will you be able to supply this vast army to be placed in France by June next?" General March was asked.

"We have had a most satisfactory report from Mr. Stettinius and General Pershing, showing that the harbor facilities in France are now in good shape," said the Chief of Staff. "There is no fear from that source, and what we want is ships. We have the assurance that American shipping will be able to take care of all the transportation by next April."

"Do you think that the number of men we are asked to supply you with in this bill, together with those now in

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, Aug. 19.—The successes of General Mangin's army yesterday and Saturday, though on a minor scale, demonstrate once more the fundamental danger of the German system of the formation of shock divisions at the expense of the rest of the army. Although the Germans were holding strong positions on the plateau between the Aisne and the Oise, the French effected a mile and a half advance on a ten-mile front and gathered a total of 2,500 prisoners, with losses so small as to be negligible.

The enemy divisions were good average holding troops whose weakness against similar attacks by the Franco-Americans had already been shown in similar operations preceding the Marne counter-offensive.

Ludendorff's new depth defense, adopted from the French and described fully in a recent dispatch, developed a fatal flaw when intrusted to other than shock troops of proved quality.

The scattered groups holding the outpost zone surrendered tamely at the first onslaught instead of holding up their assailants to permit a counterstroke by the supports further back, with the result that the French had already penetrated the combat zone and reached all their objectives before even the German artillery could react.

Yesterday's action began at 4 P. M. after a short, but very violent, artillery preparation. Similar bursts of shelling had been carried out by the French for the past few days, so that the infantry assault took the foe largely by surprise.

Independently of subsequent operations there is immediate value in a firmer foothold on the plateau. The advance brings the important road from Amiens through Roye and Noyon to Blerancourt under the fire of the French field guns and—what is still more important—increases the efficacy of the heavy gunfire against the Laon-La Fère-Chauny-Noyon railroad, a few miles to the north, which is one of the most vital German arteries.

Two weak counterattacks, finally launched this morning at 3:30 near Fouraverre and east of the Tracy-Carlepont Road, were easily repelled, and the enemy did not attempt further reaction, although the latest reports announce a very violent cannonade on Mangin's whole front.

Official Reports of the Day's Operations

French

PARIS, Aug. 19.

Night Report—Between the Matz and the Oise we continued to make progress during the day. Our troops, in spite of stubborn resistance by the enemy, have captured Fresnières and reached the western outskirts of Lassigny.

Further south we have succeeded in debouching from the Thiescourt Wood.

On our right we have conquered Pimprez and advanced up to the southern outskirts of Dreslincourt.

To the north of the Aisne, completing our success between Carlepont and Fontenoy, we have captured the village of Morsain.

The number of prisoners captured in this region since yesterday has reached 2,200.

Aviation.—On the 18th three German airplanes were brought down and one captive balloon was sent down in flames. On the night of the 18th-19th our bombing squadrons dropped eight tons of bombs on bivouacs in the region of Berry-au-Bac and Guignicourt, and the railway stations of Mezières and Chapelet-sur-Rétourne.

Day Report — During the night there were violent artillery actions north and south of the Avre.

Last evening at 6 o'clock French troops attacked to rectify their front between the Oise and the Aisne. The attack was over a front of about fifteen kilometers (about 9¼ miles) from south of Carlepont to Fontenoy. We have realized an advance over the whole line to an average of two kilometers (1¼ miles) approximately.

We have occupied the plateau west of Nampcel, reached the south edge of the ravine at Audignicourt and captured Nouvron-Vingre. Seventeen hundred prisoners, including two battalion commanders, were captured.

The night was calm on the rest of the front.

British

LONDON, Aug. 19.

Night Report — The enemy this morning strongly attacked on a front of a mile against our positions between Lihons and Herleville. He succeeded in penetrating our line at two points, but was immediately driven out by our counterattack, and the situation was completely restored. Many casualties were inflicted on the enemy and a few prisoners were captured.

Our advance has continued in the Merville sector (Lys salient.) Considerable progress has been made on a front of 10,000 yards. We reached the line of road running through Merville from Paradis to Les Puresbecques and have entered Merville.

There was sharp fighting at different points in the course of our advance and a number of prisoners and machine guns were captured.

The total prisoners captured yesterday in the neighborhood of Outtersteene was 676, including eighteen officers. The machine guns and trench mortars captured by us have not yet been counted.

Day Report—We secured a few prisoners last night in the Ayette sector and also south of the Scarpe, where our patrols entered the enemy's trenches and penetrated some distance into his position.

During the night our troops made progress in the Merville sector, in spite of the opposition of hostile machine gunners. They captured between forty and fifty prisoners and a few machine guns.

Early in the night the enemy launched a counterattack against our new positions between Outtersteene and Meteren. The attack was completely broken up by our artillery and machine-gun fire.

The total number of prisoners captured in yesterday's successful operation in this sector is not yet available.

The hostile artillery has shown some activity south of the Somme and has been active southwest and north of Bailleul.

BERLIN, Aug. 19, (via London.)

Night Report — Enemy attacks west of Chaulnes and north of Roye failed.

Throughout the day there has been a vigorous battle between the Oise and the Aisne. French attacks made on a wide front broke down with heavy losses. Temporary artillery activity occurred on the sectors where fighting took place yesterday between the Oise and the Aisne.

Day Report—Southwest of Bailleul British attacks were launched between Meteren and Merris after very strong firing. They were repulsed in our front battlelines.

On both sides of the Lys there has been lively reconnoitring activity on the part of the enemy.

We pushed our lines forward in local engagements north of the Ancre and captured prisoners.

Between the Ancre and the Oise there have been violent artillery duels. In the early morning the enemy advanced several times in strong partial attacks.

South of the Somme an attack by Australian troops against Herleville broke down. Northwest of Roye we delivered successful thrusts. French attacks on both sides of the Amiens-Roye road were everywhere repulsed, sometimes by counterattack. Several tanks were shot to pieces, and some were put out of action by our infantry with hand grenades. In the same way immediately south of the Avre enemy assaults, several times renewed, broke down.

The enemy has penetrated into the western part of Beuvraignes. We withdrew the troops fighting there to the eastern edge of the village. Northwest of Lassigny we beat off enemy partial attacks and thrusts which several times were renewed. Our fire held down further attempts to attack.

Between the Oise and the Aisne a strong artillery duel began early in the afternoon. Toward evening the enemy, after the strongest increase of firing, attacked getween Carlepont and southwest of Nouvron. Our front troops, in a bitter struggle which lasted many hours, held up the enemy's assault, which broke down everywhere before our battle positions.

On the Vesle there have been minor infantry engagements on both sides of Braisne, with reviving artillery duels.

Germans Attempt to Hide Air Loss But Paris Ridicules Their Figures

Foe Admits Only 129 Machines Lost in July, Though the French Alone Destroyed 293—First American Squadron Has Downed 59 Enemy Machines Since War Began.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—Paris is laughing this morning at the absurd figures of German airplane losses published in the Berlin communiqué of Aug. 12, which asserts that the total losses for July were 129 airplanes and 63 captive balloons. The real figures, as Paris knows them, show that out of 338 planes doing duty last month on the French front alone, the Germans lost 293. Nobody troubles to refer to the losses of "sausages," which undoubtedly have been similarly minimized.

What is known here in exact and indisputable figures is that since the beginning of January the Germans have lost 1,504 airplanes, as compared with 852 French machines brought down by them.

The text of captured German orders published here shows how anxious the enemy has become as to airplane losses. An order issued to the 183d German Infantry Regiment states flatly that, owing to the present feeble resources of the German Army in the department of aviation, it is absolutely useless for any regiments to continue the practice of sending in complaints of inefficient support afforded by the German air authorities against allied activity in the air. "The infantry," the order states, "must make even more use than in the past of its own arms, such as machine guns, &c., for defense against allied airplanes."

In the same order regiments are flatly forbidden to send in further requests for help from airplanes.

Another order promulgated by the commander of the German 1st Army complains pitifully of "extremely heavy" losses both in airplanes and pilots, remarking that the most celebrated and accomplished German pilots have been killed. Other sentences in captured orders show that the Germans are suffering daily from a slowing down in the production of machines, increased difficulties in developing new pilots and technicians, and the dire need for economizing the available resources.

All this shows that the Germans have arrived at the limit of effort they can make in the way of aerial warfare. At present, according to data published here, the utmost strength of the German air forces on the western front numbers between 2,500 and 2,700 machines. These consist of 200

HAIG GAINS ON 6-MILE FRONT

PROGRESS MADE ON VESLE

Americans and French Push Forward on North Bank—Bigger Guns Are Up.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Striking on two widely separated fronts, the British on the north in the Lys salient, and the French between the Aisne and Oise, the allied forces have made notable gains since.

Lassigny has also been more seriously threatened by the capture of Fresmières, [on the Roye highroad two and a half miles to the north,] the advance of the French to the western outskirts of the town and the debauching of Foch's troops from the Thiescourt woods, all of which are now in the possession of the French.

These operations against Lassigny are linked up with the attack launched by the French last night and continued today on a front of approximately fifteen miles east of Ribécourt and across the Oise to Fontenoy, six miles west of Soissons.

On the right of this Aisne-Oise attack they captured the village of Pimprez, on the west bank of the Oise, on the Noyon-Compiègne road, and advanced northward, about two miles, to the southern edge of Dreslincourt. Similar gains were made along the rest of the line of attack, the plateau west of Nampcel and the village of Nouvron-Vingre and Morsain having been carried by storm.

The night report of the French War Office puts the number of prisoners captured in this region since yesterday at 2,200, among whom are two battalion commanders.

Haig's advance in the Lys salient was on a front of nearly five and three-quarter miles. It carried his line to the town of Merville, which the British have entered, and to the north-and-south road through the town from a point at Les Purebecques on the north to Paradis on the south.

The Germans suffered many casualties in the fighting for this ground, and a few prisoners were taken. The number of those taken yesterday when Outtersteene was captured was 676.

On the British part of the Somme front the Germans this morning attacked in force on a mile front near Lihons [west of Chaulnes] and penetrated the British line at two points; but a counterattack immediately expelled them.

An unofficial dispatch received this evening reports the capture of the railway station at Roye by British troops.

May Make Soissons Safer.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—From the positions captured by the French north of the Aisne River the Allies now threaten the German batteries of big guns at Chavigny and Juvigny, north of Soissons. These guns have been able to command the City of Soissons and keep the whole region near that place under fire. It is possible that the enemy will be forced to abandon these positions, thus freeing Soissons from heavy bombardment.

Another great advantage resulting from the French success is the occupation of the edge of Audignicourt Ravine and the plateau west of Nampcel. At these points the Allies have excellent positions for observation over the rear of the enemy's lines.

French Command the Oise Valley.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY, Aug. 19, (Associated Press.)—In brilliant local operations, carried out by General Mangin's troops from the Oise River from near Ribécourt southeastward to Morsain, northwest of Soissons, Saturday and Sunday, important positions were wrested from the Germans, who left 2,200 prisoners in the hands of the French.

General Mangin now holds the line running from Morsain along the southern edge of the ravine of Audignicourt to Rosette Heights, dominating the plain of Carlepont, and thence on to Rimprez, across the Oise.

This success gives the French command of the valley of the Oise as far as Mont Renaud.

With these routes commanded by General Mangin's artillery, the only free route for exit from the region of Noyon and Lassigny is the narrow-gauge line running north to Ham, by way of Guiscard, and the high road running in the same direction. Unless the German General von Hutier is able to stop Mangin's advance, he will have only this narrow outlet for his troops and material, as the triangle between the Noyon-Chauny road and the road from Noyon to Guiscard, while a good position for defense, is not favorable for an intense movement of troops and transport.

They consequently are fighting desperately to hold their present lines while seeking a chance to shake off the grip of the Allies, break contact with them and slip away.

The results of yesterday's operations, while not spectacular, were entirely satisfactory to the French, overcoming the resistance of the Germans in the region of Lassigny and pressing on toward Plessis.

The French Army continues to close in upon both Roye and Lassigny. The stubborn resistance of the enemy has slowed up but thus far has ben unable to stop the progress of General Debeney's men. By sticking to Lassigny the Germans are taking a big chance against the possibility of a further advance by Field Marshal Haig's troops north of the Avre. The menace to Chaulnes has been further increased by the latest advance of the British, and the fall of that town will put Roye and Lassigny in a pocket which it will be far more difficult to empty than the pocket at Montdidier, since General Mangin's troops northwest of Soissons are advancing to the plateau west of Nampcel and are within shelling distance of the only railroad and the only good highroad from Noyon eastward to Chauny.

The capture of the village of Frapelle by American troops is an interesting development of recent operations, bringing attention back to the Vosges front, which had been dormant for a long time.

The soldiers under command of Duke Albrecht of Württemberg complain that the Americans have started the war all over again on the "quiet" sectors of the front in Alsace-Lorraine.

Germans Taken by Surprise.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY, Aug. 19, (Reuter.)—The battle has now extended to both banks of the Oise, and the enemy, hitherto fronting on the west, is now menaced on his southern flank. General Mangin's whole objective has been attained along the entire front of ten miles. The enemy, although he seems to have been aware of the coming attack, has again miscalculated the date, and was, in effect, taken by surprise on a weakly held front, the German commanders apparently having no reserves within call.

Germans Surrender Readily.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 19, (Associated Press.)—In response to pressure, applied first at one and then at another part of the line, the Germans opposite the British on several portions of the front continue to give ground.

The German troops which have been encountered in the last few days, especially during the operations of last night, in which Outtersteene Ridge was captured and consolidated, seem to have lost greatly in fighting efficiency. Of nearly 700 captured during the Outtersteene operation, many surrendered tamely, after securing their rations and personal belongings.

The operations of last night astride the Scarpe River may serve as an indication of the Germans' intentions. The old Hindenburg line crossed the river here at an angle, so that, compared with the present line, which here runs nearly north and south, the direction of the ground south of the Scarpe is deeper than that north of the river. In other words, the old Hindenburg line is closer to the present line north of the Scarpe than south of it. British patrols operating north of the river have met with stiff opposition, but south of the river patrols have managed to penetrate for some distance.

On the new Somme front the Germans overlook no opportunity to fight rearguard actions. They appear ready to retire, but apparently want to go pushed a little, because in the pushing operations they may get an opportunity to do deadly work with machine guns.

At the same time, the Germans apparently do not want to fall back farther than is necessary before the completion of the operations around Roye. There are no signs of further counter-attacks at this time.

Some forty divisions have been identified as having been engaged in the recent operations. Of these, twenty-seven have been used against the British and many of them are believed to have been exhausted.

Shortage of German Horses.

That General Ludendorff is displaying anxiety regarding a possible shortage of horses for the German Army is indicated in a secret order just captured. This order cautions all commanders not to expend their horses, as "they cannot be replaced. The men must understand that this is necessary in order to continue the war until victory is reached." It has been ascertained that 900 remounts recently received by one German formation were horses taken from officers.

The Germans have started using parachutes to permit their aviators to escape from doomed airplanes as observers escape from sausage balloons. A British pilot reports having seen a German pilot jump from a flaming airplane with a parachute and apparently escape death.

Two remarkable stories of air fighting came to light today. One relates that a British pilot dropped a bomb on an enemy machine in the air. The missile broke off a wing of the German machine and then exploded on the ground. In the other fight the observer of a two-seater machine climbed out on the wing and stopped with his glove a puncture made in the gasoline tank by an anti-aircraft gun. The machine side-slipped during the operation, but the observer remained out on the wing until the ground was almost reached. Then he climbed back into the machine, which landed safely.

Fiction in German Reports.

In connection with operations on the Somme front, it is worthy of mention that yesterday's German official statement, in which it was said that General von Boehn's group of armies had beaten off attacks with tanks in front of Roye, was a pure romance, as there was no such attack. The rest of the official statement from Berlin, referring to other attacks breaking down under German fire, was equally false.

Every assault made upon the German lines in this section has been successful, and the resistance offered by the enemy has been principally from isolated posts.

AMERICANS ADVANCE LINE NORTH OF VESLE

Infantry Moves Ahead Without Encountering Foe—Bigger Guns Now in Action.

THE VESLE FRONT, Aug. 19, (Associated Press.)—The Americans and French increased their grip on their holdings north of the Vesle River at several points early Monday morning by slight infantry advances. The manoeuvres were carried out without encountering any Germans. West of Bazoches the Germans sent out patrols, but these were pushed back by the Americans.

The French and Americans on Sunday began operating the biggest guns they have used since they reached the Vesle. These heavy guns are blazing away at the Aisne River region and beyond it, where aerial observers have reported that the Germans are concentrating supplise.

Certainly no one doubts that the British will hold on, and as for the Americans—they are only beginning.

It is felt that there will be poor soil in the lands of the Allies for pacifist seed in the next year. Certainly there is no field in the Entente armies, and, because it is freshest, there is the least of all in the American Army.

Then the answer of our army as to when the war will end is that it probably will be over by September of next year. If it takes longer to whip the enemy, why, so much more complete the job will be.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 18.—About the Fourth of July Ludendorff had it all worked out what would happen to the allied forces if they made a bold attack on the German lines. In a long general order dated July 6 he outlined the great scheme of defensive tactics, and wound up by saying:

"It could only be to our benefit if the Entente should attack."

While with a good many of his soldiers this is now the case, Herr Ludendorff and his imperial master forgot the benefits which have been wished for by the Allies for their own enjoyment, benefits which have been reaped and those which are still to come.

Ludendorff's order seems predicated upon the principle that the best way for the German infantry to beat the allied infantry was to get out of the way and let the artillery do it. His secret order began by calling attention to the large number of Germans captured in recent attacks, which included the performances of the Americans in the region of Château-Thierry. The order said that this showed the German front lines were too strongly held, and that a more elastic front should be used, keeping the main line of resistance from 500 to 1,000 meters back. Then it outlined a system of outposts to be sacrificed to engage the enemy until "annihilating" artillery fire fell on the field of combat. The order does not specify what was to happen to the Hun fighters in the zone of combat.

Ludendorff then tells the army there is no need to bother about allied attacks in force, because the soldiers were altogether lacking for such efforts. Nevertheless, he tells in these words what to do in such an eventuality:

"In case of attack methodically prepared by artillery fire, we should just as methodically renounce the intention of fighting to keep hold of an advance zone. It is much better to evacuate it. It will, perhaps, be necessary later to determine upon a new line of resistance if we do not succeed by our annihilating fire in preventing the enemy establishing himself in the advance zone. We will lose some ground, it is true, but the fear that the troops of the Entente may be able to cause us to fall back some kilometers is absolutely unjustifiable, because the Entente has at its disposal just as few men as we have for such attacks. It could only be to our benefit if the Entente should attack. The enemy generally attacks in dense lines. We could not wish a more propitious occasion to inflict losses upon him. The command and troops should be prepared for this and make the enemy suffer, avoiding at the same time losses on our side."

In conclusion, the order says: "If the manner in which the enemy attacks leaves any doubt as to whether the garrison of an advanced zone should retire or hold its ground, retirement shall be ordered. It is always better than to suffer losses in useless defense of this advanced zone."

OISE DRIVE SURPRISES FOE

ing voluntarily evacuated by the Germans and automatically occupied by the French. The latter attacked along a front nearly ten miles long, between Carlepont, which lies four and a half miles south of Noyon, in the angle between Ourscamp Wood and Carlepont Wood on the west and the village of Fontenoy, six miles west of Soissons, on the east.

The significance of the two-mile advance which was made all along the line becomes evident when it is realized that at the Carlepont end of the attack the advance which has been made brings appreciably nearer the envelopment of Noyon. What is much more important, it is a great protecting bastion to Mount Renaud from the eastern side of the Oise, and will enable the French to take still more under the enfilading fire of their heavy guns the enemy forces which are stubbornly defending Noyon, in front of the new positions at Ribecourt.

At the other end of the line yesterday the advance east of Soissons has been immensely improved by the capture of the Plateau of Nouvron, immediately north of Fontenoy. Fontenoy, which is on the bank of the Aisne, was the extreme left of the line from which Foch started his magnificently successful counteroffensive in July.

As a result of that victory the Allies secured bridgeheads on the north bank of the Aisne at Soissons and Pommiers, but have since been unable to dislodge the Germans on the adjacent henghts of Pasly and Cuffies.

The simple rectification of the front, described in this afternoon's communiqué, appears to be a decided step forward toward securing the great plateau above Pommiers, from which the heights of the Chemin des Dames may ultimately be turned.

With the Nouvron heights in allied hands, the position of the Germans in clinging to the hills north of the river in front of Soissons must speedily become difficult, and their retreat toward the Chemin des Dames may be anticipated. The further capture by the French of the important plateau west of Neampcel gives them a very valuable view, and places in their hands excellent supporting points for future operations.

The advance made yesterday is extremely valuable because of the favorable influence it must have not only on the operations against Roye, Lassigny, and Noyon, but especially on the efforts against the Crown Prince's troops, still resisting on the Vesle front. Every foot the Allies continue to advance on the line whence yesterday's attack started means greater possibility of being able to attack the German positions on the Vesle from their rear. Yesterday's advance, therefore, brought much nearer the probability that the Germans on the Vesle will soon have to choose between continuing their retreat to the Chemin des Dames positions or being caught on an exposed right flank.

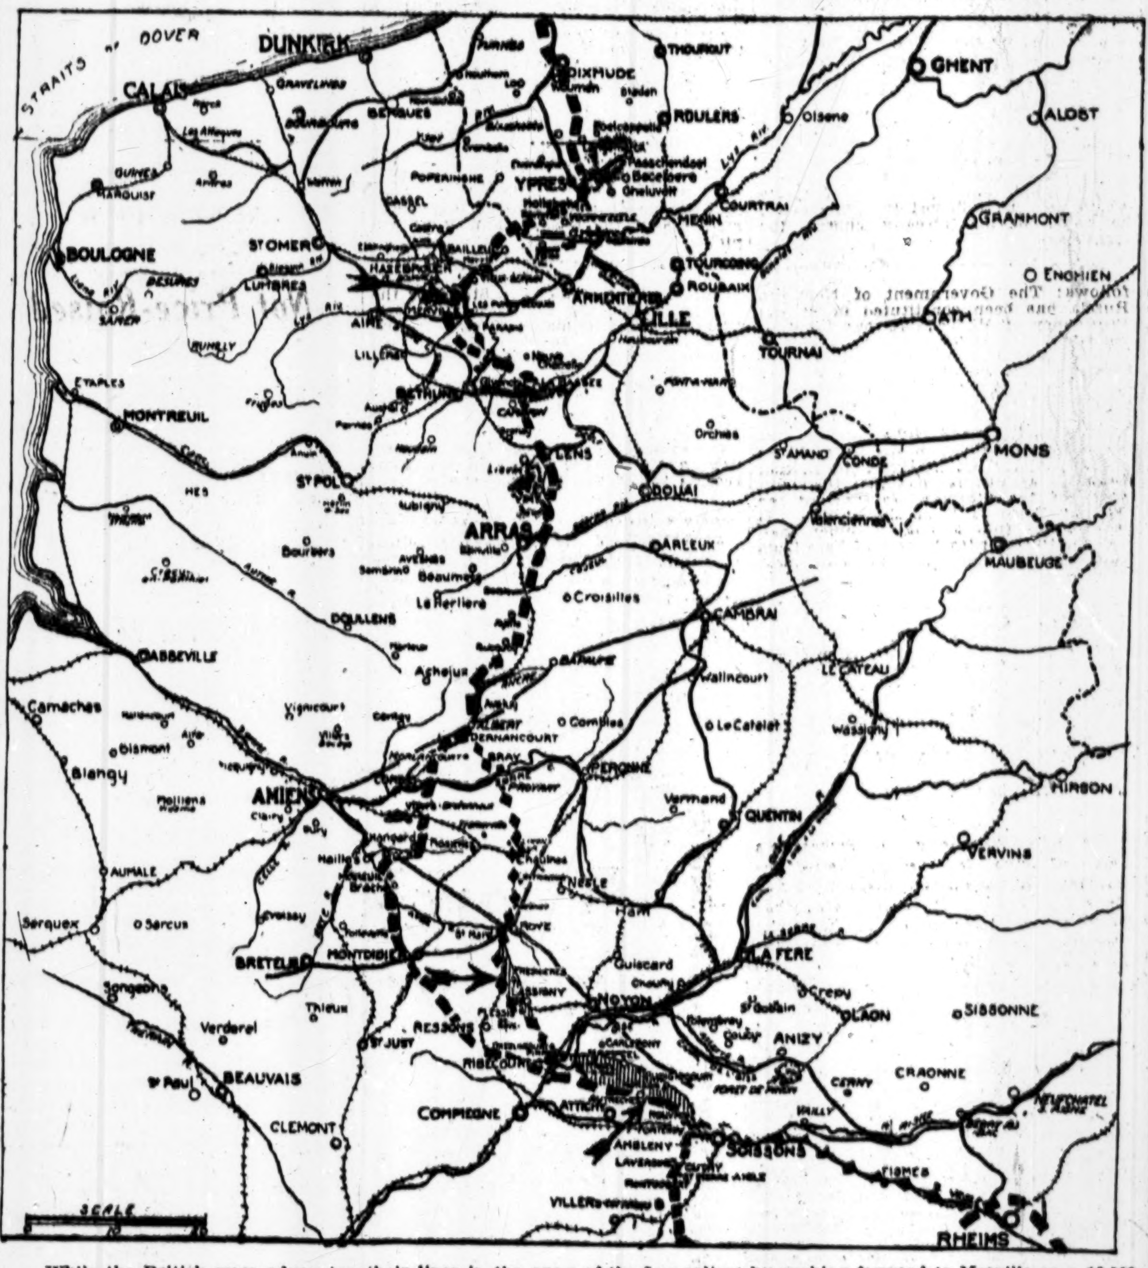
American Dash at Frapelle.

The brilliant work of the American troops on Saturday in low ground bordering the little River Fave, east of St. Dié, in the Vosges, has securely, perhaps, received the attention it deserves. It may be taken for granted that the affair must have been pretty serious for the enemy, otherwise Ludendorff would not have allowed himself in an official report to state that the German advanced posts had "yielded to an enemy local thrust."

What Ludendorff omitted to add was that very few of the defenders of these advanced posts succeeded in falling back, as nearly the whole lot were killed or made prisoners. The American attack, according to accounts which reached here today, was carried out with extraordinary dash. Charging with the bayonet on the village of Frapelle from two sides, the Americans carried the machine-gun nests with a single rush, cleaning out the trenches and shelters with grenades as they went. The German garrison was practically wiped out.

There is nothing so far to indicate whether Saturday's affair may be regarded as the precursor of other operations on that part of the front, which has been for many months regarded by both sides as exceptionally quiet. Frapelle, however, is the first stage on the very important road from St. Dié to Strasburg, via the Col de Saales. It lies in a river bottom, between five and six miles from the Col de Saales, from the crest of which the run down into Alsace is rapid and easy.

Scene of Yesterday's Allied Successes



While the British were advancing their lines in the apex of the Lys salient by pushing forward to Merville on a 10,000-yard front, the French in their operations of Sunday night and yesterday scored important successes about Lassigny (which by the capture of the outlying village of Frenières, the approach of the French to its western outskirts and their possession of the whole of the Thiescourt Wood to the south has been placed in imminent peril) and on a fifteen-mile stretch east and southeast, along which they made substantial gains, capturing the villages of Pimprez, Nouvron-Vingre and Morsain and commanding ground in this region north of the Aisne.

The gains are represented by the shaded areas on the map, and further distinguished by arrows indicating the general direction of the thrusts.

AMERICAN CITED BY FRENCH.

Lieut. Urband Continued Air Patrol After Downing German.

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—First Lieutenant Edward M. Urband of this city, serving with Escadrille 283 of the French Flying Corps, has been cited by his commander for his victory over two German airplanes, in which he sent one to the ground in flames and put the other to flight, according to a letter from Lieutenant Urband received by his parents here tonight.

The citation characterizes him as "full of dash and audacity," and says that after defeating the two enemy planes while on reconnoissance duty, "he continued his mission, although his plane was riddled with bullets."

Lieutenant Urband is a graduate of Cornell University and has been in the French service since December, 1917.

PAVE WAY FOR BIG RETREAT.

German Papers Assure Public That Retirement Is Necessary.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—The German press is attempting to reassure its public that a general retreat is necessary on the western front to allow General Ludendorff room to manoeuvre and to assume the initiative on a vast scale.

A German retreat, the newspapers say, would be a direct result of the recent allied successes. The newspapers assert that even if the Germans receive reinforcements from Austria they have lost the power to command events, as Marshal Foch has the initiative and will keep it.

German propaganda insists that the German General Staff will retain the initiative by forcing premature engagements on the American Army and thus wearing it out before it is fully prepared. L'Homme Libre says that the American forces taking part in the Picardy offensive could not be compared in size with those of the French and British. It says that America will soon have a first-class army in France, and that it will have airplanes which the German aviators will have reason to fear.

JUNKERS FEARFUL OF RISING

Form a League to Protect Their Domination After the War.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 8, (Correspondence of Associated Press.)—The "Imperial League for Combating Social Democracy" has issued a manifesto foreshadowing serious wage troubles in Germany after the war, dissolution of the Reichstag and the collapse of the middle classes. It warns against a rising of the proletariat and asks for funds to strengthen "the defensive war against social Democratic aggression."

The Socialist Vorwärts of Berlin says that the appeal "opportunely reminds us that after the war the second decisive battle for Germany's future begins." It urgently exhorts all workers to prepare to "fight Mammonism, so that at the end of the war we are not overpowered by the unendurable domination of capitalism."

The paper points out that the signers of the manifesto are rich land owners and industrial magnates.

Troops in France Get White Bread.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The American army in France is amply supplied with bread made of all-wheat flour, the War Department announced today, and the daily ration of eighteen ounces of flour for soft bread is so over-abundant that a reduction to sixteen ounces a day is now under consideration. Soldiers while in the United States consume Victory bread with the prescribed amount of substitutes for wheat flour. Not until they get to France are they allowed all-wheat bread. Field bakers must work swiftly and cannot afford to experiment with new flour mixtures.

GERMANS ATTEMPT TO HIDE AIR LOSS

bombarding machines, 250 for maintaining liaison with the infantry, 1,100 fighting machines, and 1,100 for reconnoissance work and regulating artillery fire.

The losses of the Germans, according to figures established here, involve a renewal of about three-quarters of their total air strength every month, as the allied aviators and anti-aircraft guns bring down an average of about 900 enemy airplanes monthly. About the same number of airplanes, according to the admission of the Germans themselves, are lost every month from other causes, such as accidents in landing, destruction in airdromes, and ordinary wear and tear. This means that the enemy must replace losses with 1,800 machines a month, or sixty every day. The figures explain eloquently the pleadings of German commanders in various orders that "all missions which are not of the first importance from a fighting point of view should be abandoned."

Allied supremacy in the air is already an indisputable factor in the situation. France is consequently looking forward with the most glowing hopes to the time when the long-expected American intensified production of airplanes and motors begins to manifest itself.

All expert opinion agrees that the day which sees the beginning of the American deliveries at even the modest rate of 1,000 machines a month will mark beyond all question the commencement of the final disaster to German militarism, which surely will bring the war to an end.

Exploits of Our Pursuit Squadron.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 19, (Associated Press.)—Statistics covering the activities of the first American pursuit group of aviators up to Aug. 1, comprising only four of the American squadrons now in operation, show in a striking way the strides made by American aviators since the United States entered the war.

The figures show that no less than fifty-eight aviators are officially credited with downing anywhere from one to five planes. Seventeen machines are credited to the late Raoul Lufbery.

In actual numbers the German machines downed total fifty-nine, exclusive of those of Lufbery, but they are divided officially among nearly twice that number of men because on numerous occasions several fliers participated in a battle.

The aviators with five victories each are: Lieutenants Campbell, Rickenbacher, O'Neill. Those with four each are: Captain Peterson, Lieutenant Meissner. Those with three each are: Lieutenant Mitchel, O. P. Porter, Simonds, Jones and Healy. Fourteen others have two victories each, and thirty-two more, including the late Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt, are credited with one each.

These figures do not include the records of other squadrons, which have been even more successful.

British Down Six Machines.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The official communication dealing with aerial activities, issued tonight, says:

> Low clouds and a high wind restricted work in the air on Aug. 18. Enemy aircraft were not active. We brought down six hostile machines and shot down a German balloon in flames. One of our airplanes is missing.
>

Naval Committee Reaches Rome.

ROME, Aug. 18.—The Naval Affairs Committee of the United States House of Representatives, headed by Lemuel P. Padgett, has arrived here. The members of the committee were welcomed by the Marquis Borsarelli, Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs, and Admiral Oresio in the name of the Minister of the Navy, and by Peter A. Jay, Secretary of the American Embassy, with the Embassy staff.

GENOA WELCOMED OUR MEN.

Enthusiastic Reception to First Troops Landed in Italy.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The reception accorded the first contingent of American troops to land in Italy was enthusiastic and cordial. The American Consul General at Genoa has informed the State Department that Il Corriere Mercantile, a newspaper of Genoa, published June 27, the date of the arrival of the Americans, an enthusiastic number praising highly the soldiers of the United States and declared that with their aid triumph would ultimately reward the efforts of the Allies.

Manifestoes were issued by the Mayor of Genoa and the Federated Works of Assistance and Propaganda calling upon the people to welcome the troops from America to the home of Columbus. General Garioni, commander of the army corps, and Admiral Cagni, with the other officers of the garrison at Genoa, went on board the transport and welcomed the officers and troops from America.

"Upon the soil of Italy, together with ours," said Mayor Massone in his manifesto, "the banner of the great Republic will wave proudly, and the love of the two peoples, already bound together by one and the same ideals, united in one and the same sacrifice, shall have in glory its solemn consecration."

The Corriere Mercantile observed that "a cause which, by force of its ideals, has succeeded in drawing to itself the aid of so great a people cannot fail to triumph."

FEARS APPEALS TO GERMANS

Reventlow Warns of Inciting the "Incompetent Masses."

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 19.—Count Ernst zu Reventlow, chief editorial writer of the Tages Zeitung of Berlin, recommends an "effective counteroffensive" against the extension of the propaganda contained in "masses of pamphlets spread over Germany, aiming at the confusion, excitement, and incitement of the incompetent masses."

Reventlow mentions a pamphlet entitled "The Hapiness of the Future—a Peace League of Nations," and another containing articles one of which praises the revelations of Prince Lichnowsky, while a third reproduces the letter from Dr. Wilhelm Mühlon, former director of Krupps, to former Imperial Chancellor Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg.

CONCESSIONS TO DOMINIONS

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The Government announces that it has been decided to grant each Dominion the right to send a Minister to London as a member of the Imperial War Cabinet at meetings other than those attended by the Prime Ministers. India also will be represented at these meetings.

To the Prime Ministers of the Dominions has been given the privilege of communicating direct with the British Prime Minister instead of through the Governor General or Colonial Secretary as at present. This is looked upon as a step toward giving the Dominions a greater voice in the war and in simplifying communications.

Changing centers of production, multiplied problems of transportation, frequent discarding of old machinery for new—all have helped to make wise financing a cornerstone of each development.

AUSTRIANS PREPARE TO MAKE NEW DRIVE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Advices received from Rome today indicate that the Austrian high command is reorganizing the Austrian front preparatory to resuming offensive operations, which may be expected at any time. The conferences of the two Kaisers, the recent closing of the Swiss frontier, and the recent visit of Emperor Charles to the Italian front are, the advices stated, looked upon as indications of imminent Austro-Hungarian offensive movements.

The Italian Embassy today received this summary of operations on the Italian front:

"The enemy artillery concentrated fire of a disturbing character on Val Brenta and on the western slopes of the Montello. Against the island occupied by our troops on the Piave, south of the Grave, the artillery fire had a character of preparation and was followed immediately by infantry attacks, which were soon counterattacked and the enemy was repulsed. We captured twenty-one prisoners, arms, and material. Our big guns opened fire on the enemy's rear lines on Val Lagarin. There have been patrol encounters in the zone of Col del Rosso and on the Piave, west of Falze. Our airships bombed military objectives in Val Rendena, Val Sarca, and between the Tagliamento and the Piave. Three enemy airplanes were brought down.

"The enemy artillery has been more active along the Adige, from Brentonico to the Zugna, where several hundreds of gas shells were fired. In Val Concol an enemy patrol was repulsed by our advanced posts, losing several men and leaving some prisoners in our hands. South of the Grave the enemy launched several unsuccessful counterattacks against the island recently occupied by our troops. Enemy aviation camps have been bombed by our Caproni squadrons. The general situation is unchanged."

Another Rome telegram stated that General Diaz returned this morning to the Italian General Headquarters in the field, after a brief stay in Rome, where he engaged in a series of interviews in which Premier Orlando and various members of the Cabinet participated.

ROME, Aug. 19.—The official statement from the War office today says:

On the whole front there have been artillery duels and considerable activity by reconnoitring patrols. East of Montello our patrols effectively harassed the enemy advanced lines.

VIENNA, Aug. 19, (via London.)—"In the Piave sector attempted enemy reconnoissances were frustrated," says the official statement from General Headquarters today.

The War Situation

By THE MILITARY EXPERT OF THE NEW YORK TIMES.

For several days the French have been conducting operations on a more or less extended scale west of Soissons, between the Oise and the Aisne rivers. It was quite generally prophesied that such a move would be made as soon as the German defense along the Vesle stiffened to the point where it appeared improbable that further advances would be made. The reasoning behind this prophecy was accurate, but because it was the expected and obvious thing to do at the moment Foch did something else—he moved against the Montdidier salient.

The reason why the attack was expected to develop in the angle between the two rivers was largely because a success in this region would have a twofold effect. It would flank the Aisne and therefore force a hasty retreat from the Vesle and even across the Aisne, and it would also flank the German positions along the big bend of the Oise and force an evacuation of the territory designated as "little Switzerland." An attack from the west was also considered, but because the distance to be traversed was so much greater than if the attack came in the east the consensus was that the territory east of the Oise would receive first attention.

The Germans evidently figured the same way and prepared for an attack in a quarter where Foch was expecting their defense. He, therefore, struck somewhere else and in an obviously unexpected quarter.

It has become bromidic but is none the less true, that we must be guided in our estimate of any situation not by how much territory can be retaken but by the prospects of doing damage to the maximum number of men. To have used his strength in the East, Foch could possibly have forced the abandonment of a greater amount of territory than he has done. This is conceivable if not necessarily true. But at no place along the line could he have done so much harm to Germany's military force as in just the place at which he struck. He is now preparing to do the same thing in a different way.

Between the French lines south of Lassigny and the apex of the angle between the Oise and the Aisne canal, there are a great many Germans holding the line against the French attacks. The present fighting is leveled essentially against them, and the possibilities of doing them considerable harm are exceedingly bright. A double pincers movement is now well under way. In the west, south of Roye, the French are pressing the situation desperately toward the east, driving the Germans back, step by step, upon the Oise river, between Noyons and Ribecourt. In the territory east of this line between the Oise and the Aisne, the Germans are being driven northward, toward the northern bank of the Oise and into the angle between the river and the Oise-Aisne canal.

Success on either front is fatal to the other, as in any event the country south of Noyon must be evacuated. If the Germans hold on a day too long, the number of prisoners would be great. In any event, however, whether or not the Germans are able to make good their retreat from this trap, they must leave their battle line in a very awkward shape. There will be, in fact, a right angle formed near, the apex of which will be Roye, one leg running through Noyon along the northern bank of the Oise, while the other leg will run northward across the Somme and behind the Avre. Before this time is reached, however, the entire German line may recoil across the Somme.

The war will not be won by a single battle. Of that we may be sure. A campaign is made up of a series of battles, and the series will decide the issue. It is like a game of chess, the various moves being made for the purpose of creating a situation from which there is no escape. But the preliminary moves are just as important as the final move which produces a checkmate. These moves are what we are now witnessing.

So far Foch has not made a misstep. His moves have been carefully calculated and admirably timed. Each has produced a certain positive result. What the culmination of these steps is, what the general plan is which dictates these successive steps, is not yet apparent.

In the process of preparing the way Foch is carrying on a great work of destruction. The Germans are suffering heavily. It was shown yesterday that since the latter part of March the German loss has been nearly a million men at the least calculation. It is a combination of attrition and superior leadership, with the idea that when Foch is ready for the final stroke, into which all his power will be thrown, there will not be sufficient resistance to withstand it.

ROME, Aug. 19.—Brave among the brave is one of Sardinia's sturdy fighters, Antonio Mangoo, whose body is covered with scars of over 100 wounds. He is decorated with the Gold Medal of Valor, which is seldom given to any one alive; with three Silver Medals of Valor, has been made Knight of the Crown of Italy on the battlefield, decorated by Serbia, Belgium, England, and France, having been already decorated in the Tripoli war and the Messina earthquake.

He was taken prisoner by the Austrians, but after four months at Mauthausen he escaped and rejoined the army at the front. Two of his brothers have been killed in the present war.

FIERCE REVOLTS CONTINUE

Stores and Houses Set on Fire in Kofu—Homes of Wealthy Burned Elsewhere.

TOKIO, Aug. 17, (Associated Press.)—An imperial ordinance, issued today, authorizes the Government to requisition all stocks of rice. The rice will be put on the market.

A mob of 4,000 persons attacked stores and set fire to many houses in the City of Kofu, capital of the Prefecture of Yamashina, according to an official statement issued today. Rioters, policemen, and a soldier were wounded. Twenty houses were destroyed and property damaged at Hiroshima. The text of the statement, which was issued at noon, says:

Tokio, Kobe, Osaka, and Magoya were quiet last night, but in the Yamashina prefecture, in the City of Kofu, four thousand persons attacked stores and burned several houses. Three policemen, one soldier, and thirteen rioters were wounded.

At Hiroshima mobs destroyed twenty houses. Mobs also damaged property in the Gifu and Fukushima prefectures and in the suburbs of Shizuaka.

Unofficial advices received from the provinces tell of the residences of several millionaires being burned. These reports say that the home of Soichiro Asano, President of the Toyo Steamship Company, has been attacked and damaged.

The newspapers have been prohibited from printing reports of the progress of the riots, and the organization of proprietors and editors of newspapers has adopted a resolution, declaring that the prohibition is an arbitrary interference with the right of free speech, as granted by the Constitution. They demand a cancellation of the order. The Constitutional Party holds the order of the Government is harmful because it suppresses news of a social movement vitally affecting the people.

The Governor of Tokio in a manifesto urges the residents of the city to remain indoors during the night. The theatres and the stores and the leading thoroughfares of the city have been ordered closed as a precautionary measure.

BRAZIL FOR POLISH LIBERTY

Asked by Allies to State Her Position, Rio Janeiro Reports.

RIO JANEIRO, Aug. 19.—Brazil has been invited by the Allies to outline her position on the restoration of independence to Poland as one of the conditions of peace.

Nilo Peçanha, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has stated that he would not consider any compromise on the part of the Allies on the question of Poland's freedom. Brazil has no choice of roads which may be followed in this matter, he says, having already chosen the right path.

GERMANS SOLD DRUGS TO DEBAUCH SOLDIERS

Federal Authorities Arrest Two in Boston—Plot Included Many Cantonments.

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—A concerted attempt by German agents to supply soldiers in army cantonments with drugs has been discovered, Federal authorities here said tonight. Two men, Nathan Simalovitch and Jacob Schwanasky, were arrested at Brockton today, and more arrests are to follow, the authorities announced.

Reports by surgeons in widely separated army camps of use of drugs among soldiers caused investigation, in which a private at Camp Devens, formerly a detective, was employed.

Federal authorities said the drugs were sold at surprisingly low prices.

CONVERTED TO HOME RULE.

Sir James Campbell, Irish Chancellor, Renounces Former Views.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—In political circles quite a sensation has been caused by a declaration by Sir James H. M. Campbell, Lord Chancellor of Ireland, that he is in favor of "self-government for a united Ireland." This statement was made by him at a luncheon at Dublin on Saturday.

When Sir James was appointed Lord Chancellor in succession to Sir Ignatius John O'Brien last June it was believed that the action of the Government meant a complete reversal of its Irish policy. His speech, however, proves that he is a convert to home rule, according to Liberal commentators. Sir James is quoted as follows:

"From the day the war broke out I determined, regardless of my commitments in the past and the views of my old political colleagues, that I should endeavor to the best of my ability to bring about a solution, by consent, of the Irish problem on the only lines which it seemed to me held any promise of success—I mean self-government for united Ireland."

ITALIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 19, (Canadian Press.)—Two Austrian documents captured on the Austro-Italian battlefront show the extraordinary mastery the Entente Allies have obtained over the enemy in aerial warfare.

The first enjoins greater protection for the ammunition dumps and emplacements against aerial observation by more efficient camouflaging and less military order. The second document, which is from a Colonel commanding an artillery unit, seeks to explain the impossibility of systematic effective destruction of the Entente Allied artillery. This indicates that the allied guns, as well as aerial observation, are superior.

The Austrian officer complains of the inferiority of his batteries in number and power, and says the restriction in the supply of ammunition has rendered it impossible to comply with the infantry's request for better artillery protection.

Pershing Names Aviator Who Downed Enemy Airplane in Lorraine

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Captain Charles J. Biddle of Andalusia, Penn., was the American aviator who brought down a German airplane in the Lorraine, mentioned in General Pershing's official communiqué, Aug. 17. Additional details are contained in Section B of the communiqué for that day, made public today. It follows:

"Section B—The following details of the aerial combat referred to in Section A have been reported in Lorraine:

"Captain Biddle brought down a Rumpler machine northwest of Bouxières-aux-Dames at 5:40 o'clock in the afternoon of Aug. 16. The observer was killed and the pilot wounded, but the machine landed intact."

REDS WEAKER WITH TROOPS IN RUSSIA

From Viatka it is not very far through Perm to Ekaterinburg, which, according to the last reports, was in the hands of the Czechoslovaks. The prospects of the Allies getting into touch with the Czechoslovak line in the interior seem, therefore, to be very favorable. But it must be remembered that all military operations in the north, including the occupation of strategic points, the maintenance of communications, and the creation of a Russian force must be carried out with great energy before Winter comes on and before the Germans succeed in effecting counterstrokes.

In the Caucasus conditions are even now, as they always have been, much more distinctly to the advantage of the allied plans. The chief difficulties, however, will be not military but political.

The Bolsheviki are falling, though reports that Lenine and Trotzky have left Moscow seem hardly credible, and it is for many reasons highly improbable that they would take refuge in Kronstadt, but their fall will leave many complications, and the Allies will have to exercise great tact and caution in dealing with the new developments.

In the allied capitals the representatives of the various parties and groups are pushing their claims, and the British, and French, and American public, unversed as it is in the intricacies of Russian politics, may easily become bewildered and wearied by the multitude of conflicting counselors.

Task of the Allies.

The task of the Allies in Russia is clear. The work of the troops is to help Russia free herself from the Germans and to restore to her people liberty of action. We cannot and must not impose on Russia any particular political system, nor can we, while engaged in the work to which we have set our hand, allow ourselves to be entangled with any particular faction or permit anything we do to prejudice the free reconstruction of Russia.

For instance, we are being assured, and shall be assured, on the one hand that only a monarchy can save Russia, and on the other hand that the Russian people will have nothing but a republic. And in pleading with the Allies partisans of each theory will be tempted to urge that their opponents are tainted with pro-Germanism. But it would be a very great misfortune if the Allies were to allow the directness of their aim to be impaired by considerations of this kind.

They know that there are both Monarchists and Republicans who have been most stubbornly pro-Ally, and there are Monarchists and Republicans who in one way or another have displayed German sympathies. The issue as between a monarchy and a republic in Russia is not one on which the Allies can, ought, or are even likely to make a declaration, still less to take action.

And it would be dangerous to let the view become prevalent that we, in our military and economic action in Russia, are working for or against either one of these strong currents of feeling. It would be equally dangerous if the Allies were to let themselves be persuaded into imagining that one movement is necessarily pro-Ally and the other necessarily pro-German. Our only course is to be impartial in bulk and in detail.

According to the terms of the British proclamation, we have no intention of imposing any political system. Our concern is with Russia, and we shall achieve real political success if we can hold together all pro-Ally elements of whatever political coloring until the main task is accomplished.

CHINA SENDS TROOPS TO SIBERIAN BORDER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The Chinese Government has sent a large force of troops to the Siberian border to prevent a threatened invasion of Chinese territory by German and Hungarian prisoners of war who joined with the Red Guard and other elements of the Bolsheviki against the Czechoslovaks in the Trans-Baikal region.

The sending of the Chinese force was taken to mean that everything possible to extend relief to the Czechoslovaks was being done by the allied powers. The active participation of the Chinese Army on the Siberian border may have an important bearing on developments there within a few days, according to officials here.

That the large army of prisoners who were set free by the Bolsheviki, armed and equipped, and enlisted to fight against the Czechoslovaks, are menacing the Chinese border has been known for several days. If permitted to cross the border they would be able to manoeuvre to far better advantage. This, however, China has declared she will not permit, and if Chinese territory is violated a battle is promised, with all the advantages resting with the Chinese.

It was said today at the State Department that the American troops were to be governed by military necessities and were not bound by orders to any particular field of action. It is safe to assume that the troops of the British, French and other allied nations at Vladivostok have similarly elastic instructions.

PEKING, Aug. 19, (Associated Press.)—The movement of Japanese troops from Chang-Chun, on the Mukden-Harbin Railroad, to the Manchuria-Siberian front has been further delayed. This delay is due to the demand made by the Japanese that they guard and virtually control the operations of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

HEAVY FIGHTING ON USSURI FRONT

Czech Outposts Forced Back, It Is Said—More American Troops Arrive.

LONDON, Aug. 19, (via Montreal.)—Heavy fighting has been in progress on the Ussuri front, (northeast of Vladivostok,) says Reuter's correspondent at Vladivostok, and the Czechoslovak outposts have been forced to retire.

A contingent of Japanese marines, the correspondent adds, has landed at Nicolalevsk, on the Amoy.

More U. S. Troopships Arriving.

VLADIVOSTOK, Aug. 19, (Associated Press.)—A second transport carrying American troops arrived at Vladivostok today. The transport bearing the first contingent of American soldiers entered the harbor yesterday afternoon after a voyage of seven and a half days from Manila. A third troopship is expected to arrive this evening.

General Diedrichs, the commander of the Czechoslovak forces, in pointing out today the great odds his troops are facing, estimated the enemy strength at 40,000 men, with seventy guns and 200 machine guns. The status of the Czechoslovaks in Trans-Baikalia was unknown, he said, but it certainly must be desperate. To attain the object sought by the Entente Allied Governments, a substantial force must be sent to the Manchurian front.

Dr. Yaromir Spacek, a member of the Czechoslovak National Council, has left for Washington to acquaint Professor T. G. Masaryk, the President of the Council, with the situation of the Czechoslovaks. Dr. Spacek told the correspondent that the Czechoslovaks would abide by the decision of Professor Masaryk as to whether they should proceed to France, which is their ambition, or stay in Russia to fight the enemy, if support were given to them.

Opinion on all sides appears to be that the Allied Governments are underestimating the magnitude of the task of liberating the Czechoslovaks, and do not realize the necessity of actual warfare against superior numbers.

In the absence of artillery, the British have equipped two gondolas with guns from a cruiser and sent them to the Ussuri front.

GETTING TOGETHER TO OPPOSE GERMANS

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The great and growing party in Russia which is both sincerely democratic and thoroughly at one with the aims of the Allies is showing much anxiety, first, as to whether sufficient help will be given to the Czechoslovaks in Siberia, and, second, whether that help will arrive in good time. Naturally enough, every Russian patriot feels that a political program must develop with the development of events rather than remain conditional on circumstances of the past.

For instance, the question now arises of declaring martial law in Vladivostok, a thing which is considered absolutely necessary by Russians acquainted with the local conditions, while the allied commanders show a perfectly understandable reluctance to take such a drastic measure.

The position of the day, or of the hour, for it changes with remarkable rapidity owing to the maelstrom of forces now contending in Russia, is somewhat as follows: The Government of Northern Russia has been constituted under the Presidency of M. Tchaikowsky, and includes in the Government Socialists of various shades. Their program is a recreation of Russian democracy and of the Russian Army, with an active renewal of the war on the eastern front and the expulsion of the invading Germans, together with other enemies of Russia, in co-operation with the Allies.

Beilby Alston, Counselor of the British Legation at Peking, has met the delegates of the Siberian Government, as well as those of General Horvath. It is proposed that a small Cabinet shall be constituted, with three members from each organization, to deal with local questions.

30,000 ARRESTED BY PETROGRAD REDS

Bolshevist Chiefs Reported on Warship at Kronstadt Ready to Flee to Germany.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Petrograd's reign of terror is reported raging unchecked, in an official dispatch today from Stockholm. It is estimated that 30,000 arrests have been made since the beginning of August among army officers and middle-class citizens. The Bolshevist chiefs are said to be on board the warship Aurora in the roadstead of Kronstadt, prepared to sail for Germany in case of a successful uprising against them.

Sweden has been asked by the Swedish consular office at Moscow, acting for the American and allied consuls there, to send a ship to Petrograd to take away 200 refugees, or if this is impossible to obtain permission for these persons to pass through Finland.

It is assumed here that the refugees are American and allied citizens seeking to escape from Russia. Under date of Aug. 17, the Swedish Consul General at Moscow reported that the German Government had refused safe-conducts for any refugees, including consular officers, and it was believed this refusal would stand until negotiations were concluded with England concerning the treatment of Germans in China.

When these dispatches were sent, efforts still were being made to obtain the release of British and French citizens held as hostages by the Bolsheviki. Some were released several days ago, but nearly 100 were held. The Swedish Consul General naïvely said that the negotiations would be greatly facilitated if the Allies would promise protection to Soviets in Northern Russia.

A report dated Aug. 16 said the Bolshevist authorities had agreed to permit the consuls to depart, and that the military missions of Great Britain and France were preparing to leave Moscow by way of Astrakan and Persia.

German agents in Stockholm were quoted as saying on Aug. 14 that the Germans were moving from Moscow, not because they were afraid, but because they felt certain of the fall of the Bolsheviki in the near future. They declared the Bolsheviki would probably be succeeded by Chernoff and his revolutionary party, who probably would summon at once a new Constituent Assemly which would be recognized by Germany.

APPEAL FOR FINLAND.

Finns Here Petition President to Let Food Be Sent.

A letter was sent to President Wilson and Acting Secretary of State Frank L. Polk on Aug. 9 by the Finland Constitutional League of America with a view to backing up the three Scandinavian Ministers in their appeal to the United States Government to ship food under their auspices to the starving Finns, food which, it is said, was bought and paid for here over a year ago but never delivered. Beyond a note from Mr. Tumulty, the President's secretary, acknowledging receipt, no action has as yet followed the communication.

The letter stated that the officers of the league would be glad to place themselves at the disposition of the President and the Secretary of State for the purpose of helping toward a final settlement of the Finnish embroglio in any way that might seem to the United States Government best adapted to further the interest of the Allies as well as those of Finland, which, they said, they were convinced were identical.

The letter was signed by H. Montagu Donner, President; John A. Pihlman, Vice President; Kalle Mäkinen, Treasurer, and P. J. Valkeapää, Special Representative of the Finnish Senate.

Joffe's Return Puzzles Germans.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 19.—The return to Berlin of Adolph Joffe, the Russian Ambassador to Germany, after a stay of but one day at Moscow, is puzzling the German papers. The Weser Zeitung of Bremen says that it is unable to understand a short stay at Moscow, inasmuch as "Joffe had to report on a supplementary treaty to the Brest-Litovsk Convention, which had been initiated at Berlin by representatives of both the Russians and Germans."

CARD CASE SAVED LIEUTENANT'S LIFE

Deflected Bullet from J.G.Mays' Heart and Later a Private Hid Him in Hole.

MANY NEW YORKERS LISTED

Major Willis J. Tack, who is reported severely wounded in yesterday's casualty list, is one of the youngest officers of his rank in the army. He was graduated at West Point in June, 1914, and is about 25 years old. Major Tack was transferred from the 28th Infantry to the National Army. His home is in Spencer, Wis.

Lieut. John G. Mays, who is also reported severely wounded, is a brother of Whiteford Mays of the Niagara Fire Insurance Company of 123 William Street. Lieutenant Mays, whose home is at 598 Riverside Drive, was wounded on July 19. In a letter received by his brother a few days ago he wrote that his life had been saved by a metal card case, which was in his blouse pocket. The bullet struck the card case and was deflected, otherwise it would have caused a heart wound.

The Lieutenant was fighting with the British when wounded, and is now convalescing in a British base hospital in the Flanders sector. He wrote that after he was wounded he lay for hours on the battlefield almost in direct line of fire of a German machine gun nest. He said that an enlisted man had dug a trench and buried him in it, covering his entire body and leaving only his face and nose above ground. This act, Lieutenant Mays added, saved him "from sure death in the rain of machine bullets which followed." After the Germans were driven back the private returned, dug Mays out, and carried him to a first aid station.

Lieutenant Mays is a graduate of the first Plattsburg Officers' Training Camp of 1917, and was among the first of the Plattsburgers to be ordered overseas. He is 31 years old and a son of the late John G. Mays of Atlanta, Ga.

Lieutenant Rudolph Kowlsky, severely wounded in action, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Kowlsky of 410 East Seventieth Street. He enlisted in the regular army as a private five years ago, and as a noncommissioned officer served under General Pershing in Mexico. He won his commission as a Second Lieutenant shortly before this country entered the war. Lieutenant Kowlsky, who is 22 years old, went to France as a junior officer of Company M, 28th Infantry. He is considered one of the best sharpshooters in the American Army.

Killed at Chateau-Thierry.

Lieut. Otis B. Thomas, who was a son of Francis B. Thomas of 70 Radford Street, Yonkers, died of wounds received at Château-Thierry. Lieutenant Thomas was a graduate of the 1917 Plattsburg Officers' Training Camp. He was a law student at New York University when Congress declared war. Miss Margaret Stevenson, a Red Cross nurse with the American forces in France, wrote to the officer's father that Lieutenant Thomas died two days after he was wounded.

Lieut. Harry P. Sampers, who is a son of J. H. Sampers, Editor of the Courrier des Etats-Unis of this city, has been shellshocked a second time. Lieutenant Sampers is a 1917 Plattsburg graduate. He was shellshocked the first time last May. He is now in a base hospital behind the American lines.

Lieutenant Charles F. Frizzell, Jr., missing in action, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Frizzell of 790 Riverside Drive. He is 22 years old and is a graduate of the first Plattsburg Camp. Lieutenant Frizzell went to France with the 38th Infantry. Before entering the service he was an insurance underwriter at 55 Maiden Lane. A telegram from the War Department to his father stated that he has been missing since July 22.

Lieutenant Thomas Henry, severely wounded, is 26 years old and is in the regular army. His home in this city is at 324 Bleecker Street. His wife is now in the mountains. Lieutenant Henry was struck by a shell fragment.

Captain Clarence R. Oliver, missing in action, is a regular army veteran. He was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in 1916 and went to France as a company commander of the 23d Infantry.

Lieut. Mortimore Steinhardt, severely wounded, is 27 years old and a Cornell University graduate of 1915. He won his commission at Plattsburg last Summer, and went to France with a regular army infantry unit. His parents live at 254 West Eighty-second Street. On May 20 last he was gassed.

John Karp, who is reported missing is not missing, but is in a base hospital recovering from wounds received in action, according to a letter which his parents, who live at 15 West 115th Street, received from him a few days ago. The letter was dated July 28. The War Department telegram to Mr. Karp said that the soldier had been missing since July 24. Private Karp was in the piano business before he enlisted.

Official Report in Error.

Sergeant William C. O.Keefe of the 165th Infantry of the Rainbow Division, who is lisited as missing, is in a base hospital in Southern France recovering from mustard gas poisoning. His wife, who is living at 422 Forty-third Street, received a letter from him yesterday dated July 25. The War Department telegram to Mrs. O'Feefe said that the Sergeant had been missing since July 19. In his letter Sergeant O'Keefe said that he was rapidly recovering.

Theodore C. Conway of 500 Greene Avenue, Brooklyn, a private in the 106th Infantry, was wounded in action on Aug. 1. Conway went to France as a Mess Sergeant of Company L. In a letter to his mother, dated July 5, Conway wrote that he did not like his job and was going into the line.

William E. Shea, whose home is at 343 Lexington Avenue, Brooklyn, has been wounded in action. He went to France with the 114th Infantry of the Ohio Guard Division. His brother John is in the navy.

P. De Grotta, a private in Company K, 9th Infantry, who has been wounded, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. De Grotta of 1158 Madison Street, Brooklyn. He was wounded on July 18. In a letter to his mother, written in a hospital, Private De Grotta wrote that he would be "all right soon."

Frank A. Austin, who is missing, went to France with Company D, 9th Infantry. He is 26 years old, and is a son of Mrs. Katherine Austin of 369 Eleventh Street, Brooklyn.

Edward Joseph Reid, missing, went overseas with Company A of the 9th Machine Gun Battalion. He is a nephew of Edward Fitzgerald of 7,318 Third Avenue, Brooklyn. He was in the employ of The New York American when he enlisted a few weeks after Congress declared war. He is 19 years old.

James Trivison, wounded, is a member of Company L, 19th Infantry. He is 21 years old and is a son of Mrs. Anna Trivison of 119 President Street, Brooklyn. He wrote his mother that he was wounded in the leg on Aug. 18.

Joseph J. Bernat, seriously wounded, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bernat of 96 North Ninth Street, Brooklyn. Private Bernat is in the 106th Infantry of the New York Guard Division. He is 24 years old and was wounded on July 31.

Henry Baldauf, another soldier of the 106th Infantry, was wounded on July 30. He is 19 years old and is a son of Bernard Baldauf, who is in the Government employ at Camp Mills.

Francis P. Smith, a private in Company I, 112th Infantry, has been severely wounded, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Smith, 102 Littleton Avenue, Newark, were notified by the War Department yesterday.

Corporal William H. Budd, who is a grandnephew of the late E. H. Harriman, and is a member of the Headquarters Company of the 58th Infantry, has been wounded. His mother, Mrs. William H. Budd of 81 Park Avenue, Yonkers, received a letter yesterday in which he wrote that he was doing very well and could "only account for two Huns."

Seargeant Thomas A. Beatty, a son of Mrs. George Beatty of 806 Park Avenue, Hoboken, has been wounded. Sergeant Beatty, who is 19 years old, went to France with the Fourth Infantry, and was recently promoted to a Sergeantcy for gallantry under fire. He has a brother in France with the marines.

On List of Missing.

Edward B. Hunt, listed as missing, is a son of Mrs. Margaret Hunt of 117 Manning Street, Jersey City. This report is believed to be an error. A War Department telegram said he had been missing since July 18, but yesterday Mrs. Hunt received two letters from her son, one dated July 27 and the other July 29. Hunt wrote that he was all right and with his command.

Corporal C. P. Englishman, reported missing by the War Department, is a son of K. Englishman of Paterson, N. J. Mr. Englishman received a letter from his son dated several days subsequent to the date of his reported disappearance which states that he was in a hospital recovering from wounds.

Bugler Julius Zawadski, reported missing, also appears to be the victim of a mistake. His parents in Newark have received a letter from him stating that he has been wounded, and is in a base hospital.

James J. Bevan of Company F, 165th Infantry has been severely wounded. He is a brother of Miss E. Bevan, a school teacher of Portchester, N. Y. He was wounded on July 17.

Frank Shamy of South River, N. J., was wounded by a shell fragment.

John Ellis, a son of Deputy Sheriff Joseph G. Ellis of Orange, has also been wounded. Ellis received a letter yesterday from his son, who wrote that he hoped to be back with his company soon.

Harry Weiner, who was a nephew of Morris Gold of 814 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, has been killed in action. He went to France with the 33d Infantry.

Joseph Rinck of Patchogue, L. I, was wounded in the Marne actions. He is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eckhorn of Patchogue, and went to France with one of the first regular units ordered overseas.

Jersey City Pastor Wounded.

The Rev. Abel C. McRea, who was reported a prisoner several weeks ago, is in a French hospital recovering from wounds received while ministering to soldiers on the field of battle. Mr. McRea was pastor of the Emory Methodist Episcopal Church of Jersey City when he got a leave of absence to enter the service of the Y. M. C. A.

Harvey V. Duffy, reported wounded, is a son of Mrs. Mary Duffy of Richmond Hill, L. I. He is in the 106th Infantry of the New York Division.

John Marks, reported by the Canadian Government as among the wounded of the Dominion forces, is a son of Thomas Marks of 90 New Street, Paterson.

Sergt. William E. Ensko of the 318th Regiment of Pioneer Engineers, who is reported dead as a result of accident, was 31 years old and was a son of Mrs. M. Ensko of 1,383 Dean Street, Brooklyn. He was mortally injured in an automobile accident.

Sergeant McLaughlin's Death.

Sergeant William B. McLaughlin of Company 1, 165th Infantry, was killed two weeks ago. He was one of the veterans of the old Sixty-ninth and one of the best known "non-coms" in the National Guard of New York.

Sergeant Robert H. Stewart, killed in action, would have been commissioned a Second Lieutenant had he lived one day longer. Sergeant Stewart was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Stewart, of Maywood, N. J. He was a member of the 308th Infantry of the Camp Upton Division. He was twenty-seven years old.

Adam Urbanski, who was killed, was twenty-eight years old and went to France with the Camp Dix division. His home was in Perth Amboy.

Joseph Kaiser, of Company K, 18th Infantry, is the first man to die in actual battle of the 1,035 former employes of the United Cigar Stores Company who are now in the national service. Kaiser was gassed in an engagement in June, and on recovery went back to his company, and in action on July 22 was killed on the field. He was for three years a salesman in New York. His parents live at 996 Simpson Street, New York.

Sergeant William Taylor, Jr., reported killed, lived with his father and mother at 545 Lafayette Avenue, Brooklyn. The father was notified from Washington that his son was killed in August. Sergeant Taylor had been in the regular army for three years, and had seen service on the Mexican border. He went to France last December, with Company C, 106th Infantry. He was a clerk with the New York Life Insurance Company before he enlisted.

Charles Miellentz, reported killed, lived with his mother and stepfather, William Zietlec. He was 22 years old. He enlisted last November and went to France last March with Company I, 38th Infantry. Miellentz was reported wounded in action in June.

Floyd W. Campbell, missing in action, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell of Trenton, N. J. He went to France with the 9th Infantry. Campbell enlisted a week after Congress declared war. He is 18 years old.

Elisha Kelly Snodgrass, dead of disease, was a native of Princeton, N. J. His parents live at 75 Ogden Lance, Princeton.

Corporal Charles Rattman, a son of Mrs. Mary Rattman of 214 Culver Avenue, Jersey City, has been wounded, according to a message she received yesterday. Rattman has been in the regular army for more than ten years.

Two Men from Tuckahoe, N. J.

Charles P. Sujeski, wounded, is a son of Joseph Sujeski, a farmer whose home is near Tuckahoe, N. J. He was drafted into the Camp Upton Division last Fall.

Corporal Vincent Siano, listed among the missing, is a member of Company K, Ninth Infantry. His home is in Tuckahoe, and he has been missing since July 18. In a letter written to the Rev. Father R. B. Cashion of Tuckahoe, Siano wrote that his chum, Private John Grogan of Tuckahoe had been killed in action.

William E. Fleming, missing since July 15, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fleming of 87 Liberty Avenue, Jersey City. He enlisted in the regular army last Summer.

Charles S. Anderson, a private in the 9th Infantry, is missing, according to information which reached his mother, Mrs. Charles W. Anderson, of 1,031 Washington Street, Hoboken, yesterday. In a recent letter to her he wrote that he had been in action four times.

Thomas Agnew, a son of Mrs. Mary Agnew of 222 Willow Avenue, Hoboken, has been severely wounded. He is a member of Company B, Ninth Infantry. Agnew underwent a severe operation in Hoboken last Summer in order to pass the examination for enlistment.

Walter H. Hoag, missing since July 15, is a son of Thomas Hoag of 74 Congress Street, Jersey City. He is 25 years old, and went to France with the 38th Infantry.

Walter Scott Clark of New Brunswick, N. J., is reported missing, but letters received from him yesterday stated that he was in a hospital recovering from shrapnel wounds.

Edward McCourt, a son of Mr. and Mrs. James McCourt of New Brunswick, N. J., has been severely wounded. Mrs. McCourt received a letter from Miss Catharine Edwards, an American Red Cross nurse, yesterday, stating that he was ni a base hospital.

Sergeant Albert Jacobus, a son of Frank Jacobus of Cedar Grove, N. J., was wounded by shrapnel at the Marne. Jacobus is 25 years old and is a member of a field artillery unit.

Lieut. Harold M. Flanagan, a son of the late John P. Flanagan of New Brunswick, N. J., has been wounded. Mayor Edward F. Farrington of New Brunswick received a letter from Lieutenant Flanagan yesterday, in which the writer said that he was rapidly recovering.

Henry M. Young, who is also listed among the missing, is a native of Kansas, and had been living in New York seven months when drafted last Summer. He went to France with the Camp Upton Division.

SIX SOLDIERS WIN D. S. C. FOR GALLANTRY

General Pershing Awards Crosses for Heroism in Action—Four Enlisted Men.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—General Pershing today notified the War Department that he had awarded the Distinguished Service Cross to two officers and four men of the American Expeditionary Force for "acts of gallantry set forth after their names," as follows:

Second Lieutenant Carl C. Rice, M. G. B.—"In command of a machine-gun section on June 6, near Château-Thierry. He was wounded soon after the advance began, but refused to have his wound dressed for fear it would delay the movement. He bravely continued to lead the section until he fell from exhaustion."

Private Theodore Platicoudis, M. G. B.—"When three infantry men were buried by a shell explosion near Château-Thierry, June 6, he fearlessly left shelter in face of heavy shelling and rescued them."

First Lieutenant H. C. Molesberry, Engineers—"In the vicinity of Le Thiolet on the night of June 6-7, he courageously took command of and efficiently directed the advance of an infantry unit, when all its officers had been killed or wounded."

Private Jefferson Holt, Medical Detachment, Engineers, and Private Charles Raffington, Medical Detachment, Engineers—"During the day and night of June 2-3 they exposed themselves to severe and continuous fire beyond call of duty in order to bring aid to wounded engineers and marines."

First Lieutenant Charles C. Rentfro, Infantry—"For three days, June 15-18, before Saint Agnan, he went without sleep in order to care for the wounded, and performed his work fearlessly without shelter under continuous bombardment."

Private George W. Holly, Infantry—"On the night of June 23, near Baccarat, France, he attempted to catch a hand grenade thrown into the window of his dugout by a German and did succeed in diverting it, and thereby saving from death or injury a number of his comrades, but in the effort lost most of his hand."

Meatless Days in Vienna.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Three meatless days a week have been ordered by the municipal authorities at Vienna, according to an official dispatch today from Switzerland. The Austrian capital is reported threatened with complete exhaustion of its meat supply.

ARMY DOES ITS BEST TO FORWARD LISTS

Reports of Casualties Are Carefully Checked Up to Avoid Any Mistakes.

BUT ACCURACY IS DIFFICULT

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 19, (Associated Press.)—The recent Marne fighting has illustrated sharply the difficulties in prompt reporting of casualties. The army authorities, keenly realizing the anxiety prevailing at home during and since this first extended action largely participated in by the American forces, the whole machinery of casualty reports has been worked to the limit within the basic rule of accuracy before speed.

The system of keeping track of every member of the American Expeditionary Forces is organized simply, but it is gigantic. It radiates from the Central Records office, where is kept the complete history of every officer and man and civilian worker.

The facts concerning every casualty are rushed by courier to the Central Records office, where a check is made against his name and record to prevent confusion and to identify him. Then a message is prepared and checked back, and the facts are then cabled to Washington, where the next of kin is notified and the list is published.

The work is done as expeditiously as possible, and were it not for battle conditions beyond human remedy the American people might read each day's roll of honor the next day.

In trench fighting and in small operations it is possible to make almost immediate casualty reports, but in a warfare of movement, involving large numbers and extended territory, such as the Marne battle, the task becomes enormously difficult and slow, despite the best efforts of the authorities.

The regulations require that every report of killed, wounded or missing must be established beyond a doubt. Units moving forward for hours under heavy fire and losing men on the way cannot pause to check casualties. These must come later from dressing stations, hospitals or burying parties operating in the wake of the advancing lines.

Frequently, company, battalion, or even regimental records and reports are destroyed or lost in action. At Seicheprey a certain American unit was isolated for nearly two days by a heavy German barrage.

Several members of the unit sacrificed their lives in an effort to penetrate the wall of fire. Finally, a German raiding party captured and made off with the organization's records. On another occasion a statistical unit was bombed out of its position and its carefully prepared casualty reports were scattered over the landscape.

Again, replacement troops may be thrown into action with some organization being reformed for attack, the unit commander having no knowledge of who they are. Thus, if the records are lost or destroyed by shellfire or bombing, it becomes almost impossible to make accurate casualty reports for days, perhaps for weeks.

American wounded often find their way into French or British dressing stations and are sent on to French or British hospitals. They are carried on their own rolls as missing until finally they find their way back to their own units or are officially reported at home as missing.

With the assistance of trained experts, the authorities constantly are endeavoring to speed up casualty reports. But they are unwilling to sacrifice accuracy, so that as far as is possible, needless pain and anxiety to the families and friends of the men may be avoided.

CONTRACTS FOR 33 SHIPS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Contracts for thirty-three wooden cargo vessels, each of 3,500 deadweight tons, seven wooden barges, and three wooden harbor tugs were let the week ending Aug. 19, the Shipping Board announced today.

Eighteen of the ships will be built by the Universal Shipbuilding Company, Houston, Tex., six by the Kruse & Banks Shipbuilding Company at North Bend, Wash., and two each by the Fulton Shipbuilding Company, Wilmington, Cal., the Seaborn Shipyards Company, Tacoma, Wash., the Saint Helen (Wash.) Shipbuilding Company, and Nilson & Kelez Shipbuilding Company, Seattle, Wash., and one by George F. Rodgers & Co., Astoria, Ore.

The barges will be of 2,500 tons. Five will be built by the Coastwise Shipbuilding Company of Baltimore and two by the Universal Company at Houston, Tax.

FIXED PHONE LINES 24 TIMES UNDER FIRE

SOME OF THEM WOUNDED

Others Took Their Places in Keeping Communication Unbroken—Many Cited for Gallantry.

By FREDERICK A. SMITH.

Copyright, 1918, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, Aug. 18.—After several days with a regiment of artillery, messing with officers and men, sleeping in shattered châteaus and sharing with them the grandeur of a struggle against an enemy seldom visible, I have come away from the line with a message to deliver to hundreds of mothers. It is a message which should reinsure and make them proud.

First—The perfect discipline, the esprit de corps, the robust health, the intelligent, broad view of the best way to beat the Hun and why it is a sacred duty to do it, have given all regiments an efficiency that has inspired the spontaneous praise of the co-operating French forces and American infantry.

Second—The same efficiency and intelligent direction have reduced losses from all causes to a minimum, despite participation in some of the most violent phases of the second battle of the Marne.

Third.—Like most soldiers, these boys write home infrequently, but like all soldiers they would rather receive letters from home than anything else. A machine gunner took me to one side to say: "You want to know what to say for us to our mothers? Say we are happy and busy, but ought to write them oftener. Still, if they want to send something, tell them to send letters and chocolate bars, and then more letters."

They Won't Quit.

"I have seen you sweating over the guns and horses, digging pits, making camp in the middle of the night, and resuming a hike in the dark, getting a late breakfast or no breakfast at all, fighting all day and turning in at night to repeat the whole performance," I told him. "Now, after a year of this, what do you honestly think of war and do you want to stick?"

"This service has benefited me more than anything that ever happened to me, and I haven't now, and never had, any other idea than to stay here until this job is all cleaned up," he replied.

This chronicle carries the regiment from the Champagne sector to the Vesle, covering six weeks, and is based on official regimental records. One of the essentials of the artillery service is the establishing and maintaining of telephone communication between forward observation posts and batteries. All concede it is easier to work batteries where the men feel they have something to do with the offensive than to go forward through fields raked by planes using machine guns and where shells are falling on all sides, with nothing in the hands to fight with and an absolute lack of protection from bullets and high explosives.

For gallantry in this difficult work Corporal Alvin G. Robinson has won repeatedly the admiration of the regiment. On July 15, in the Champagne, he ran a new telephone line and went out twenty-four times to repair breaks.

Keeping Observers in Touch.

Corporal Mason nine times went out and repaired a line between a battery forward observing station and his battery. Corporal Fred T. King took extreme risk in repairing a line from his battalion post command to the French artillery group with which his battalion was acting. This he did twenty-four times in two hours, at all time under heavy fire. Later he rescued Private Paul Sutton, who was wounded, and was himself wounded in taking him back. He insisted that aid first be given Sutton.

Private Daniel Shouse repaired thirteen breaks under fire, and later helped Corporal King repair twenty-four breaks. Lieutenant Arthur Dixon, posted in a front parallel of an intermediate line to observe the accuracy of barrages and insure their being launched at the proper time, carried out his duties, despite heavy shell fire and an attack by enemy infantry. Communication being broken, he made his way through a storm of gas and high explosive shells to the observation posts a second time, visiting three of them, seeking to find communication.

A few paces from a defending battery I visited the dugout where Captain Dickinson, a son of the former Secretary of War, was using one of the field phones under astonishing difficulties. He was standing under a sheet iron roof giving directions to the various batteries of change in range and direction. Instructions involve the use of letters and figures in code, and are seemingly hopelessly complicated, and yet he transmitted his orders amid momentary interruptions by gun explosions and made himself understood.

SPANISH NEWSPAPERS SQUABBLE OVER "NOTE"

None Sent to Berlin, Says Dato, but Talk of a Crisis Persists.

MADRID, Aug. 18.—(Associated Press)—Germanophile newspapers, such as the A. B. C., Tribuna and Nacion, in commenting upon the note from Spain to Germany, the text of which is still unknown, publish articles reflecting a threat of civil war in case of a rupture in relations with Germany. This has aroused an energetic protest from the press which is friendly to the Allies.

Although the country preserves its tranquillity, newspapers publish alarmist articles and the international situation is a general topic if conversation at clubs and cafés.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 18.—Foreign Minister Dato today issued a denial to recent press reports that the neutrality of Spain was threatened. He said that the Cabinet "would suffer nothing to turn it aside from a policy" of neutrality.

"As to the Spanish note addressed to Germany," the Minister continued, "it is impossible to publish it, because it does not exist."

He denied that Spain had sent a note to Germany concerning the alleged torpedoing of the Spanish steamer Serantes. He said the sinking was due to a fire in the cargo of petroleum.

There have been persistent reports in the last week that Spain had sent another note to Germany concerning the torpedoing of Spanish ships. Reports from Madrid stated that a note had been sent to Berlin and that as soon as it was received there it would be made public by Foreign Minister Dato. It was asserted that the note included a notice to Germany that Spain would compensate herself for future losses from self-interned German vessels in Spanish harbors.

The Spanish steamer Serantes, loaded with 10,000 barrels of oil, was set on fire by two explosions, while anchored off Sixty-ninth Street, Brooklyn, on July 13.

German "Oratorical Offensive."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—An official dispatch from France today quotes a telegram from Zurich saying the Berlin papers are announcing that a great German oratorical offensive will shortly take place. It is stated that three German Ministers will speak in order to explain the most important problems to the German people.

SCHWAB TO TAKE CLOSE CONTROL OF SHIPYARDS

Piecework to be Wage Basis in All Plants—No Monopolies on Improvements.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—In an effort to speed up the Government's shipbuilding program, Charles M. Schwab said today, after a conference with representatives of all the Atlantic Coast steel shipyards, that the direction and management of the yards hereafter would be collective rather than individual, and that piecework would be adopted as the wage basis. More than ninety shipyard officials attended the conference, which Mr. Schwab described as a "get together and speed up" meeting.

"The changes of wages, of working conditions, and all other improvements that are brought about in one yard will be introduced in all the other plants," said Mr. Schwab. "What we find best in one case will be adopted in all.

"The consensus of opinion as to why the yards of the East are behind those of the Great Lakes and the Pacific Coast was that the Eastern yards either are newly organized or are working on ships of a great variety of design, while the yards of the West have been in existence for some time and are building ships of only one design. It is not a question of labor or management. The men and management of the Atlantic Coast yards are equally as good."

Everything was harmonious at the meeting and every one present was anxious to do all possible to increase the production of the yards, Mr. Schwab said.

WILSON GUARDED BY NAVY.

Watchfulness to Prevent U-Boat Attack on Seaside Retreat.

MANCHESTER, Mass., Aug. 19.—President Wilson's outing has done him a world of good. Except for the first day, when the abrupt change from a high temperature in Washington to a daily average of 65 degrees here was felt by the whole party, the improvement in the President's condition has been steady and pronounced.

The benefit that the President has had for five days has been due largely to the seclusion made possible by the most thorough guard ever thrown about the Chief Executive on a vacation. While he and Mrs. Wilson drove along the shore or strolled on the beach and in the woods they were accompanied, as usual, by Secret Service men.

Less noticeable and observed by but few was the part played by the navy, three branches of which kept vigilant watch over his safety. Marines picketed the grounds of the house which the President occupied. Two hydroaeroplanes persistently searched adjacent waters and at a little distance off the coast two torpedoboat destroyers and a fleet of submarine chasers made sure that no unwelcome craft ventured in.

This watch over the sea was taken because of some uneasiness due to the selection by the President and Mrs. Wilson of a house almost at the edge of a promontory which can be seen plainly from a considerable distance out. It was not believed to be beyond possibility that some German submarine commander would be tempted to risk his ship to take a pot shot at so conspicuous a target.

The President and Mrs. Wilson occupy the house of T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr. on Coolidge Point. The house, which authorities consider to be one of the best examples in America of Georgian architecture, stands out from a forest of pines, oak, and silver cedar not more than 150 yards from the water's edge.

Through constant touch with Washington the President was kept informed of important developments, and each evening he has had an extended conference with Colonel House.

MONAGHAN A FULL DEPUTY.

Health Commissioner Copeland Denies Hylan Brought Pressure.

Health Commissioner Copeland officially announced yesterday the appointment of Dr. Frank Monaghan, who has been serving as Acting Deputy Health Commissioner, to the full Deputy Commissionership. It was announced several days ago that Dr. Monaghan, who is Mayor Hylan's personal physician, would be appointed to succeed Dr. B. Frank Knause, who resigned to accept a commission in the army. Dr. Monaghan, it was said yesterday, would not assume his new duties until October.

Dr. Copeland denied that Mayor Hylan had brought any pressure to bear on the appointment of Dr. Monaghan, asserting that the Mayor made no recommendation in the matter, but had opposed it.

"It is only fair to the Mayor," said Dr. Copeland, "to tell the public that he urged me not to make the recommendation to the Board of Health."

"Public-Be-Damned" Policy Will Not Be Tolerated, Director General McAdoo Warns.

BANS SHIFTING OF BLAME

Excuses Such as "Uncle Sam's Running Roads" or "McAdoo's Orders" Called Reprehensible.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Railroad employes were specifically ordered by Director General McAdoo today to show courtesy in dealings with the public and to cease excusing train delays and other errors with the plea that "Uncle Sam is running the railroads now."

"'The public-be-damned' policy will in no circumstances be tolerated on the railroads under Government control," said the Director General's order, which follows:

United States Railroad Administration,
Washington, D. C., Aug. 19, 1918.

To All Employes in the Railroad Service of the United States:

Complaints have reached me from time to time that employes are not treating the public with as much consideration and courtesy under Government control of the railroads as under private control. I do not know how much courtesy was accorded the public under private control, and I have no basis, therefore, for accurate comparison. I hope, however, that the reports of discourtesy under Government administration of the railroads are incorrect, or that they are at least confined to a relatively few cases. Whatever may be the merits of these complaints, they draw attention to a question which is of the utmost importance in the management of the railroads.

For many years it was popularly believed that "the public-be-damned" policy was the policy of the railroads under private control. Such a policy is indefensible either under private control or Government control. It would be particularly indefensible under public control when railroad employes are the direct servants of the public. "The public-be-damned" policy will in no circumstances be tolerated on the railroads under Government control. Every employe of the railroads should take pride in serving the public courteously and efficiently. Courtesy costs nothing, and when it is dispensed it makes friends of the public and adds to the self-respect of the employe.

My attention has also been called to the fact that employes have sometimes offered as an excuse for their own shortcomings, or as a justification for delayed trains or other difficulties the statement that "Uncle Sam is running the railroads now," or "They are McAdoo's orders," &c. Nothing could be more reprehensible than statements of this character, and nothing could be more hurtful to the success of the Railroad Administration or to the welfare of railroad employes themselves. No doubt, those who have made them have done so thoughtlessly in most instances, but the harm is just as great if a thing of this sort is done thoughtlessly as if done deliberately.

There are many people who for partisan or selfish purposes wish Government operation of the railroads to be a failure. Every employe who is discourteous to the public or makes excuses or statements of the kind I have described is helping these partisans or selfish interests to discredit Government control of railroads.

Recently the wages of railroad employes were largely increased, involving an addition to railroad operating expenses of more than $475,000,000 per annum. In order to meet this increase the public has been called upon to pay largely increased passenger and freight rates. The people have accepted this new burden cheerfully and patriotically. The least that every employe can do in return is to serve the public courteously, faithfully and efficiently.

A great responsibility and duty rests upon the railroad employes of the United States. Upon their loyalty, efficiency and patriotism depend in large part America's success and the overthrow of the Kaiser and all that he represents. Let us not fail to measure up to our duty and to the just demand of the public that railroad service shall not only be efficient, but that it shall always be courteously administered.

W. G. McADOO.

What the Complaints Were About.

It was the grandfather of the present President of the New York Central Railroad, the late William H. Vanderbilt, who, many years ago, in commenting on the duties of the management of a railroad to the public, was credited with having remarked: "The public be damned."

Many years afterward a young man came out of the South to New York, tubed the Hudson River, and began running trains through the tubes between Manhattan Island and New Jersey. His name was William G. McAdoo, and the tubes under the Hudson are still familiarly known as the McAdoo tunnels. On the day the tubes were opened for traffic, the crowds who patronized them noticed, in an advertising space in every car, a sign bearing this legend: "The public be pleased!"

Regional Director A. H. Smith, who resigned the Presidency of the New York Central to help Mr. McAdoo, issued an order on July 29 to all employes of the railrads under his immediate direction on this very subject of courtesy to the public. It was very much to the point, and the employes knew what was expected of them after they had read it.

Those who haven't been doing much traveling by railroad recently may be ignorant of the nature of the complaints to which Mr. McAdoo refers, but does not enumerate. It was said at the Grand Central Terminal yesterday that the first growl heard from anybody in these parts came from shippers when they found that all the freight offices in this city of railroads not having terminals here had been closed. For years shippers had been in the habit of telephoning, let us say, to the New York freight agent of the Burlington to arrange for a shipment of goods to the Northwest. When the "not-on-the-road" offices were abolished, shippers began to complain of the lack of consideration shown to them by the Government management.

Then the far travelers began to growl, because they found that they could not, under Government control, call up the office of the General Passenger Agent of the New York Central, for instance, as they had been long in the habit of doing, and say:

"We want to go to Southern California. Please send somebody around to show us several routes to choose from."

These people complained that the Government managers of the railroads wouldn't know courtesy after they had been introduced to it. Finally, from the big shippers and the far travelers, the growl spread to the general public, so those in the know at the Grand Central Terminal said, the trainmen and the station men coming in for most of the complaints. The complainants charged rudeness, discourtesy, and general lack of consideration for almost any traveler who had the temerity to ask a simple question. It has been complained of also that in some cities, notably Washington and a few along the line of the New Haven, there is a lack of station men who have any useful information to give the inquiring public.

TOOK NEWS AGENCY ON ORDER OF BERLIN

HAD TO FLEE FOR HIS LIFE

Germans Angered by Uncensored Dispatches He Received—All His Property Confiscated.

Deputy Attorney General Becker gave out a statement on Sunday in which he told of an attempt by the Imperial German Government, through its Ambassador at Constantinople, to buy the Ottoman Telegraphic News Agency, the official news dispenser of the Turkish Empire, and bearing very much the same relation to the Ottoman Government as Wolff's agency bears to the German Government.

Although 40,000 marks and then 100,000 marks were offered for the property, the offer, so Mr. Becker said, was declined. The Deputy Attorney General did not tell what Germany's next move was to acquire a channel through which to spread its propaganda in the guise of news dispatches. This was told last evening by the man to whom the offer was made and the owner of the Ottoman News Agency. He is Selih Gourdji, now living in New York at 65 West Fifty-second Street.

Mr. Gourdji is an Arab, and was born in Bagdad. He was one of the most active organizers of the Young Turk Party, and when that party came into power he became a member of the Turkish Parliament. After completing his studies in political science in Paris he returned to Constantinople, and established the Ottoman News Agency. As for his experiences with the German Government and with his own after it had become thoroughly Germanized, Mr. Gourdji said:

"In May, 1914, the German Ambassador offered me 40,000 marks for my agency. This offer I refused, saying that the business was profitable and that, even if it were not, I was fortunate to be of independent means and I wished to retain and further develop what I had built up. Not long afterward the bid was raised to 100,000 marks, which was also declined. Meantime I had made connections with the Havas Agency and the Reuter Agency to get their news from other parts of Europe in exchange for my news from the entire Turkish Empire.

"The result was that the newspapers of Turkey got news from the allied countries before it had passed through the hands of a German censor. This, of course, was reported to Berlin by the German Ambassador at Constantinople and the German Government got—what do you call it so well in this country? Oh, yes, got busy. On Sept. 9, 1914, the Constantinople Commissioner of Police, Bedri Bey, summoned me to his office and told me that I must not go to my offices again until I was told that I might do so. The alternative was that I would be imprisoned, and I knew that that would mean I would be executed not long after I had been made a prisoner.

"'But,' said I to the Commissioner of Police, 'from whom do you get your orders? You are but a subordinate. In this case you could get your orders only from the Minister of the Interior. Do you mean to tell me that he has issued any such orders?'

"All explanation the Commissioner refused. Whereupon I went straight to the Minister of the Interior, Talaat Bey, who is now the Grand Vizier. It was with him, representing the Turkish Government, that I signed the convention which made my agency the official news agency of Turkey, with a Government subsidy.

"Talaat Bey swore to me that he had given no such orders. Then I went to the Foreign Minister, Halil Bey, and he told me that I had given him the first news of what had occurred. That was all the satisfaction I got. A short time later my agency and all my other property in Turkey was confiscated, and I was threatened again with arrest, and, therefore, I was certain to be hanged later. So my friends advised me to leave Constantinople, and a way was provided for myself and family to do so. We got safely to Paris with hardly more than the clothing we wore. My wife and two daughters are there now.

"Before I left Constantinople I found out, however, that the Government at Berlin ordered that I be got out of the way. I do not regret at all what I have suffered, although I sometimes have not had the money to buy needed food, so long as the cause of the Allies triumphs, as triumph it must and will."

MAKE EARLY START ON FUND

Y. W. C. A. Workers Begin Campaign Away Ahead of Time.

Word reached the War Work Council of the Young Women's Christian Association that a number of girls wearing their insignia started out yesterday to collect money for the fund of $15,000,000 for which a drive is to be made later in connection with the Y. M. C. A. and other organizations. Miss Helen Davis, Executive Secretary of the Field Work Department of the War Work Council, said it must be misplaced exuberance on the part of the young women, as the financial campaign will not take place until Nov. 11, and it is hoped these premature workers will call themselves in. Among the women who will speak in the campaign will be Margaret Deland, Kate Langley Bosher, and Blanche Bates. Mrs. Henry P. Davison is Chairman.

Word comes from French workers of the publishing of a war workers' bulletin, similar to that published in this country, and that for recreation purposes a part of a beautiful large island in the Loire at Tours has been obtained, where many amusements are provided for the workers.

Sightseeing Tours for Soldiers.

A sightseeing tour of the city for soldiers and sailors will be part of the regular weekly program of entertainment of the Y. M. C. A. Eagle Hut in Bryant Park. The first of the trips was taken Sunday on two Fifth Avenue buses, carrying forty-two men each. The expense of the trips is being borne by a donor whose name was withheld by the Y. M. C. A. Tickets for the jaunts are issued, beginning noon Saturdays, the rule being "first come, first served."

search of information. The coast is patrolled by naval vessels as well as by coast guardsmen who walk along the shores. Nevertheless, it is not considered impossible for men from submarines to come ashore in collapsible boat at night.

The cables cut by the German submarines were lines running from the American coast to the South. One of them was cut when the German submarines first visited American shores a few months ago and the other was cut last week. Both of the cables have been repaired, however. The one cut some time ago was severed somewhere along the New Jersey coast. It ran toward the West Indies. The one cut last week was a French cable running toward the Indies and was cut off the Virginia coast. It has just been repaired. In each instance it was necessary to convoy the cable ship that was sent out to repair the cables.

It was definitely ascertained today that the Navy Department has information convincing it that three submarines have operated along the American coast during the campaign that has been in progress during the last few weeks. One of them was a cable-cutting submarine. These submarines are now known to have been of the large cruising type, each about 300 feet long, and with a cruising radius of 17,000 miles. They are each equipped with two guns, one 5.7 and the other 6 inches.

Positive information is now in possession of the Navy Department convincing its higher officials that more than half of the German submarines have been destroyed in the campaign against the U-boats. This information is to the effect that 150 submarines have been definitely destroyed, and that the number of "probable" and "possible" sinkings of submarines is around fifty, bringing the total losses of submarines in all three classifications to approximately 200. It is learned that the Navy Department has information indicating that there are now from 160 to 180 submarines left and operating. These estimates make it appear that the number of submarines that have been destroyed is at least a score greater than all the submarines left in the German navy.

TWO NORWEGIAN SHIPS SUNK BY SUBMARINES

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—Captain David Evans of the British steamer Penistone, who was taken aboard a German submarine as a prisoner after the undersea boat sank his vessel off Nantucket last week, was landed here late today. With Captain Evans were eight members of the crew of the Norwegian steamer San Jose, also a victim of the same submarine that destroyed the Penistone.

The San Jose was sunk on Saturday morning. Captain Evans, who had been kept prisoner on the submarine eight days, was put into one of the San Jose's small boats, which was picked up later by a Government vessel. Naval authorities refused to give out anything concerning the experiences of Captain Evans or the sinking of the San Jose.

The Penistone was sent down 100 miles east of Nantucket on Aug. 11. Her engineer was killed and four firemen were wounded by the explosion of the torpedo in her engine room. The other survivors landed on the New England Coast four days later, after having suffered severely from their experience in open boats.

Captain Evans appeared little the worse for his adventures. He was seized by the German commander when he tried to return to his sinking vessel for the ship's papers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The Norwegian bark Nordhav was sunk by a German submarine 125 miles off the Virginia Capes Saturday. Her crew escaped in small boats and have been brought into an Atlantic port by an American warship.

Advices to the Navy Department today announcing the sinking did not say whether the bark was torpedoed or shelled. She was a vessel of 2,623 net tons and sailed on June 15 from Buenos Aires, Argentina. Captain Berntsen was master of the bark.

The Navy Department announced tonight that all the members of the crew of the San Jose, which was sunk today, have been accounted for. Thirty-one in all were landed at an Atlantic port.

DISCREDIT MUSTARD GAS.

Naval Officers Do Not Believe That Attack Was Made.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Secretary Daniels has received unofficial information from officers in the North Carolina naval district which seems to make it appear there is no real foundation in fact for the assumption that a mustard gas attack was made on that coast on the afternoon of Saturday, Aug. 10, by a German submarine. No official report discrediting the reputed mustard gas attack has yet been received by the Navy Department, but it is ascertained that the department has heard unofficially that a number of officers in the district do not now, after an investigation, believe that any mustard gas attack was made.

It has been unofficially stated that the oil spots, which were supposed to have been caused by a submarine dumping mustard gas oil on the surface of the water, were in fact caused by a merchant steamer dumping oil overboard. Secretary Daniels, however, said tonight that this phase of the matter had not been brought officially to his attention.

SENATE GIVES DRAFT BILL RIGHT OF WAY

57 ANSWER QUORUM CALL

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Quick action on the Man Power bill in the Senate was assured today when fifty Senators—more than a quorum—responding to the call to cut short the vacation taken under a gentlemen's agreement and return to the capital, voted to take up the measure next Thursday. Senator Chamberlain, Chairman of the Military Affairs Committee, expects that the debate on the bill will be ended and the vote taken by Saturday night.

Of the fifty-seven Senators present, twenty-nine were Democrats and twenty-eight Republicans.

Senator Chamberlain, after the quorum had been announced, moved that the unanimous consent by which the Senate, on July 15, embarked on its Summer recess, to terminate next Monday, be set aside. This was done by unanimous vote and without a word of debate.

The Senate, under another unanimous consent agreement, has as its exclusive business for next Monday Senator Gore's amendment to the Food Stimulation bill, providing for nation-wide prohibition after Dec. 31 next. Under the unanimous consent agreement, this is to hold the stage in the Senate until it reaches a final vote. Senate leaders, it was said today, will agree to have the prohibition amendment deferred until the Man Power bill is disposed of, if the debate on the latter should run over into next week.

The Senate Military Affairs Committee believes the Man Power bill will be passed substantially as offered in the Senate last week, with the draft ages fixed at from 18 to 45 years. Some Senators have voiced opposition to the extension of the age limit to 18 years, but it is expected that they will yield or be out-voted. The War Department's insistance that the 18-year limit is necessary to obtain the fighting force necessary to beat Germany is expected to prevail.

Senator Gore of Oklahoma drafted an amendment today to provide that men of 21 years and over shall be drawn before those of from 18 to 21. He would separate the draft below 21 into three classes—men of 20 years, those of 19, and those of 18, to be called in that order after the rest of the draft has been exhausted.

It is not expected that this amendment will be adopted, the majority of the Senate apparently preferring to allow the President to determine how the classes are to be called, as provided in the bill as now before the Senate.

Training of College Men.

In evidence given before the Senate Military Affairs Committee, made public today, Dr. C. R. Mann, ex-Professor of Physics at Chicago University and later engaged in investigations into engineering education in New York for the National Engineering Societies, who for the last nine months has worked with the Council of National Defense in organizing the training of young college men in technical war activities, told of the work of training in fitting the country's youths for army service.

Dr Mann said that of approximately 700,000 young men in the high schools and colleges, about 250,000 were from 18 to 21 years. In the colleges and universities, he said, there are approximately 165,000 young men between those ages.

There are already established, Dr. Mann said, 147 military training posts throughout the country where young men are being trained in skilled work that would make them readily adaptable to special service in the army. These training posts, Dr. Mann told the committee, are supplying about 20,000 men to the army every month. They are not connected with the colleges or universities. Men in the colleges, he said, are now being trained apart from the others, and it is expected to have 359 colleges on the list before many months.

The project to train the college men, Dr. Mann said, is backed by the War Department. The scheme is to allow the college men—and also high school boys, when they are organized, later on—to remain at college or school, learning technical work, in addition to the established curriculum, until needed by the army for the draft. When the army wants them, he said, the young men will have had the advantage of several months of training and will be equipped to take places of greater responsibility in the service.

Senator Reed asked Dr. Mann if the idea was to concentrate on courses that would have military value.

"That is exactly it," replied Dr. Mann. He wanted it made plain that the colleges did not want exemption for any of their students, nor did the latter want it. The colleges simply feel that they can render a service to the country by equipping their men in technical work before their entry into the military service.

The committee expressed itself as deeply impressed with the scheme. It will probably be urged during debate in the Senate later in the week.

House May Amend the Bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19, (Associated Press.)—Chairman Dent said tonight that he hoped to report the Man Power Bill Wednesday or Thursday, probably with amendments. If sentiment in the committee for provisions specifying the order of classes to be called and to specificaly defer calls for 18-year-old boys shall prevail, Representative Kann of California, ranking Republican member, plans a minority report in favor of the Administration plan.

General Crowder told the committee that men now in Class 1 would be exhausted after the September call and urged speedy action on the bill to provide sufficient men for future calls, although General March said he thought there would be enough men to last until November, without the new legislation. By Jan. 1, General Crowder said, he hoped to complete "classifying the nation."

General Crowder said that by Sept. 1 there would be 216,000 men left in Class 1, while the September call planned is for more than that number. Weekly registrations of men becoming 21, he said, will furnish 80,000 more men. For October calls, he said, therefore there will be a deficiency unless the bill provides a new supply.

After the bill is enacted, General Crowder said, he would ask the President to order the new registration in ten days, to provide for drawing of numbers as soon thereafter as possible.

"Within thirty days after questionnaires are distributed," he said, "I probably would have enough men for future calls."

On the question of volunteer enlistments, which some committee members said should be discontinued for the navy and Marine Corps, as well as the army, if the new bill should be passed, Secretary Baker said the navy opposed prohibiting volunteer enlistment, and he had withheld an expression of opinion. He pointed out, however, that the bill would place every man between 18 and 45 under control of the War Department, and that it would be possible for him and Secretary Daniels to work out in harmony a program to supply men for the navy for the fighting branch and also the merchant ship service.

Secretary Baker and General March explained that calls are planned for first, the men in the class from 19 to 30 years, next from 36 to 45, and last of eighteen-year-old youths. The greater task of classifying men over 36, it was explained, led to the policy of calling them later than those between 19 and 36.

The bill, General March said, would not interfere with men between 18 and 45 going into training camps to seek commissions.

Says Normal Rate Should Be Higher—Member Predicts Secretary Will Have His Way.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—In a letter sent to Chairman Kitchin of the Ways and Means Committee today, Secretary McAdoo reiterated his insistence that the committee write into the $8,000,000,000 Revenue bill now being drafted the war profits plan, with the alternative excess profits system recommended to the committee by the Treasury Department.

This letter was sent in response to the submission by the committee of another plan containing slightly higher excess profits rates. It caused the committee to delay consideration of war profits taxation until the controversy between Mr. McAdoo and the committee could be adjusted.

Chairman Kitchin is reluctant to abandon his plan for placing a high excess profits rate in connection with a war profits tax. In the tentative plan submitted to Secretary McAdoo the 80 per cent. flat war profits tax is adopted, with the excess profits tax as an alternative plan, the rates in the latter having been fixed at from 40 to 60 per cent.

Secretary McAdoo called the attention of the committee to his argument that with the excess profits rate fixed at 40 to 60 per cent. great hardship would be placed on small business, and said the lower rate should not be made higher than 20 per cent., as in the present law.

It is expected that the committee will accede to the Secretary's wishes to some extent, if not entirely. Members of the committee, while agreeing with Mr. McAdoo's conclusions, are not disposed to affront their Chairman. For that reason there is a chance that the committee will increase the lower rate in the excess profits section slightly over 20 per cent.

In his letter Mr. McAdoo declined to accept the proposed normal tax on personal incomes. The committee had tentatively fixed the normal rate on earned incomes at 10 per cent., and on unearned incomes at 13 per cent. Mr. McAdoo said he thought these rates should be fixed at 12 and 15 per cent., respectively.

Mr. Kitchin appeared provoked at the attitude taken by Secretary McAdoo. He said to newspaper men that there was nothing to give out. The committe, he said, had made no further progress. It was learned later that Mr. Kitchin had received the Secretary's letter and that the committee had been impressed with the idea of keeping silent as to this development.

After it had become known that the letter had been received Mr. Kitchin was asked to make it public. He declined, saying that the letter should be given out, if at all, by Secretary McAdoo. It is expected that Mr. McAdoo will furnish copies to the press tomorrow.

One member said the committee could have finished its work today if the dispute between Chairman Kitchin and Secretary McAdoo had been adjusted.

"We know perfectly well," said this member, "that Mr. McAdoo is going to have his way, either in the bill we write or in the Senate bill. I think we might as well bow to his wishes gracefully, rather than keep up the losing struggle against his dictation.

Mr. Kitchin authorized the clerk of the committee to announce that the committee had decided to increase the tax on playing cards from 70 to 80 cents a pack.

"We also fixed a tax of 10 per cent. on the gross price of the fare charged by sight-seeing cars," said a member of the committee. "This will mean that it will cost $1.10 to ride on these 'rubber neck wagons.'"

ROBBERIES GROW IN VIENNA.

Thieves Eager to Get Clothes, Which Cost $375 or More a Suit.

BERNE, Aug. 19.—Public insecurity is greatly increased in Vienna because of the war, according to a traveler who has just returned to Switzerland from the Austrian capital. Thefts are reported every night, the thieves being especially anxious to obtain clothes, the price of which has risen fabulously.

A good suit for a man costs from 1,500 to 2,000 crowns. Shoes are worth 300 crowns, and a pound of bread, bought secretly without a bread card, costs from 12 to 15 crowns.

On the other hand, the ordinary worker is earning from 400 to 500 crowns a week and often more. As a result iron-workers and coal carriers are seen drinking champagne at fashionable bars.

Coopers are greatly needed in view of the excellent harvests in the wine district. Hungarian vineyard owners are offering master coopers 30,000 crowns a year.

CALL 5,709 SELECTMEN.

Eighteen States to Furnish Draft Registrants for Special Training.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Eighteen States were called upon by the Provost Marshal General today to furnish 5,709 white draft registrants of grammar school education for general military service. The men will entrain Sept. 6. Voluntary enlistments will be accepted until Aug. 26. All of these men will be sent to training centres for instruction in special lines of service.

Following are the calls upon the Eastern States and the points to which the men were ordered:

Massachusetts.—255, Wentworth Institute, Boston; 103, Franklin Union, Boston.

In addition, Ohio and the District of Columbia were directed to furnish fifteen white registrants each, to report Aug. 26 at Wilbur Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, and the 88th Aero Squadron.

LINCOLN IN A BRITISH COURT

Barrister Quotes "Lost Speech" as a Principle in Contracts.

LONDON, July 25, (Associated Press Correspondence.)—In the course of a hearing in the Prize Court yesterday, Sir Samuel Evans drew the attention of the Attorney General to a legal dictum of President Lincoln. Sir Samuel, examining a law book, came across a manuscript note and said:

"I see I have here a note from President Lincoln's lost speech. President Lincoln was not only American President, he was also a lawyer. He stated: 'It is, I believe, a principle of law that when one party to a contract violates it so grossly as to destroy the object for which it is made, the other party may rescind it.' The speech was made in 1856, and is called the 'Lost Speech.'"

FIRE AT ACID PLANT LAID TO ENEMY PLOT

GRAVE DISASTER AVERTED

Blaze Kept from Chemicals with Difficulty—N. Y. Juvenile Asylum Half a Mile Away.

DOBBS FERRY, N. Y., Aug. 19.—A mysterious explosion, which occurred at noon today at the Strausser Chemical Company's plant at Chauncey, near here, where a big Government order for acids used in manufacturing explosives is being filled, has caused the policee and Federal authorities to begin an investigation.

The explosion did not occur in any of the tanks of chemicals, but on the outside of the main building, which is of brick, blowing the wall in and setting fire to the frame part of the adjoining buildings. The fire was not put out until 5 o'clock this evening. Water was scarce, as the pipes in that section had gone dry, and water had to be pumped from Sawmill Creek, on which the building stood, by engines from here and Ardsley.

The chemicals used in making the acids are stored in big cement underground tanks. Had any of these caught fire a terrific explosion would have followed and might have endangered the lives of the 1,000 or more inmates of the New York Juvenile Asylum, just over a small hill and half a mile from the plant, but the fire was kept from these with difficulty.

It was not until the fire had been put out that a hasty investigation showed the explosion was not caused by chemicals in the plant. An electrician was working near the wall where the explosion occurred. He says he heard a terrific explosion, and that the wall caved in. He ran and gave the alarm.

Arthur Walters, manager of the plant, said tonight that he felt certain the explosion and resulting fire were of incendiary origin. He stated positively that the explosion did not originate within the plant, and consequently could not have been from anything but an outside source.

There were only about fifteen men in the building when the explosion occurred. None was hurt. The damage to the building could not be estimated, but the main mixing room was wrecked and will have to be rebuilt.

Federal agents arrived this evening and made an investigation, but would make no statement. The order which the company is filling is an important one, it is said, and because of this the belief that German plotters or spies are responsible for the explosion is given much credence.

MENNONITES FACE CHARGE.

Bishops May Be Indicted for Anti-War Declaration.

Special to The New York Times.

GOSHEN, Ind., Aug. 19.—Expecting to obtain evidence upon which to secure indictments before a Federal Grand Jury in Cleveland of 185 bishops, ministers, and deacons of the Mennonite Church of the World, F. E. Fortune of Wooster, Ohio, a United States Department of Justice agent, arrived in Goshen today. Charges against the men are based on a pamphlet which they signed following the annual convention of the Mennonite Church of the United States, Canada, and India at Yellow Creek Church, westof Goshen, a year ago.

The conference devoted much time to a discussion of war subjects, especially the Army draft, and in the pamphlet, which was circulated throughout the United States. advised Mennonites in the draft to respond to calls from draft officials, but to decline to give military service, basing their refusal upon their church teachings. Several Mennonites who followed this advice are now servin gterms in Fort Leavenworth Federal Prison, having been tried before courts-martial at training camps.

PROTEUS SUNK IN COLLISION

3,000-Ton Steamer Struck Off Hatteras—No Lives Lost.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The merchant steamer Proteus of 3,000 tons was sunk last night in a collision, the Navy Department was informed today. The announcement of the Navy Department said:

"The Navy Department is informed that the merchant steamer Proteus, 3,000 tons, was sunk last night in collision with another steamship about thirty-four miles southwest of Diamond Shoals, off Cape Hatteras, N. C. The other vessel was not seriously damaged and stood by to rescue the crew of the Proteus."

NEXT YEAR TO END WAR, SAYS MARCH

France, are sufficient to win the war?" asked Mr. Kahn.

"If you put eighty divisions in France on the western front, we can go through the German line. That is my firm belief."

"Can you give the approximate number of men required to win the war?" continued Mr. Kahn.

"When Germany started this drive she was superior in riflemen. The allied armies are now becoming superior. Eighty divisions of Americans should be able to bring the war to a successful conclusion in 1919. The war will be won or lost on the western front, without taking into consideration conditions in Russia."

Youngest Men to be Called Last.

Secretary of War Baker, who opened the hearing, broadly defined the Administration's policy respecting the men to be drafted under the new Man Power bill. He said that the registrants would be divided into three classes, and that, while the junior class, 18 to 19 years, would be called into actual service last, it would be almost at the same time as those in the other classes.

Men subject to military service under the pending bill who had married since the extension of the ages had been proposed, Secretary Baker said, would not be able to avoid military duty because married. The War Department, he said, would disregard the marriage as making the registrant eligible for deferred classification.

Frank Morrison, Secretary of the American Federation of Labor, registered a protest against the bill on the ground that through the anti-strike amendment it "conscripted labor."

Secretary Baker declined to oppose the anti-strike amendment, which was added to the bill by a Senate committee. He said there was no objection to the amendment, inasmuch as the War Department was now proceeding under regulation in the way it was now proposed to prescribe by law. This amendment, which is opposed by organized labor, reads:

"Provided, That, when any person shall have been placed in a deferred or exempted class for any of the reasons in this paragraph set forth, he shall not be entitled to remain there, unless he shall in good faith continue, while physically able so to do, to work at and follow such occupation, employment, or business, and, if he fails so to do, he shall again become subject to the draft. The President shall make regulations for enforcing this provision."

Secretary Baker took exception to the assertion that the measure was intended to conscript labor.

Representative Lunn of Schenectady, N. Y., who represents labor interests on the committee, flatly opposed the anti-strike amendment. He said he was "afraid of it" and urged that it be stricken from the bill. He asked Secretary Baker his attitude on the amendment.

"I see no particular objection to it," said Mr. Baker, "in view of the fact that the regulations of the President are to be relied upon in carrying it into effect."

Representative Lunn insisted that in the event of a strike the language of the Senate amendment would make it mandatory upon the President to draft any striker who was within the draft age. Secretary Baker did not agree to this construction, and said.

No Sympathy With Slackers.

"I would be opposed to using the draft law as a method of adjusting differences between capital and labor, if these difficulties arose in good faith. While I have no sympathy with the use of the draft law to regulate general relations between labor and capital, still I do have a very strong feeling against any one who is given an industrial exemption and then does not work in that industry. Slackers should be prevented from using the industrial exemption to escape the draft."

Secretary Baker said that the policy of the War Department now was to force a man to work or fight. He said that principle should continue to prevail, and he saw no objection to writing it into the law. He said he believed labor itself was in accord with that view.

"The attitude of labor is and has been fine, wholesome, helpful, and patriotic, so far as my attention has been called to it," said Secretary Baker.

Representative Hull of Iowa sharply challenged the drafting of men employed on the farms, and insisted that in his own State, where the agricultural interests are large, thousands of young men essential to farm work had been drafted.

"What is your policy with regard to agricultural labor?" asked Representative Hull.

"The policy is to take men working on farms in such a way as will still permit the farmers to operate," replied Secretary Baker.

"That question is left entirely in the hands of the district boards," interjected Provost Marshal Gen. Crowder. "It is up to them to determine from the evidence placed before them as to whether the place of the men drafted from the farm can be taken by some one else."

Mr. Hull insisted that the rules were not definite enough and suggested that the law be made specific on the question of drafting farm labor. Both Secretary Baker and General Crowder opposed this.

"There are two ways of fighting this war," said Mr. Baker. "One is to make every possible effort to win quickly, and the other is to proceed leisurely and win it late. Financial, economical, and other considerations induce us to put forth every effort to win it early. That is the reason for asking for this law, providing for the maximum effort. It was determined that the maximum military effort at present should be ninety-eight divisions, of which eighty were to be used abroad and eighteen were to be in training here. In order to secure the necessary men for an army of that size it was determined that the age limits should be eighteen to forty-five.

"There is a sentiment in the country that men of 18 are too young to be taken, unless they are absolutely necessary. I have placed the men between 18 and 19 in a separate class, with a view of deferring their call until necessary."

"Ought this classification be written into the bill or made a regulation?" asked Representative McKenzie of Illinois.

"I can see no objection to putting it into the bill, provided it is not made too rigid and gives the War Department full discretion as to when this class shall be called into active service. The time might come very quickly when those in the class from 45 down would be exhausted, and if the bill is rigid the department might be prevented from going into the junior class to make up the shortage."

Marriage and Exemption.

Secretary Baker said there was a public misconception of marriage as a reason for automatic exemption from military service. He said the idea he had was to relieve patriotic married men of the necessity of claiming exemption when rightly entitled to it.

"How about the men who are working the marriage license clerks overtime?" demanded Representative Field of Kentucky. "I see in the New York papers that there is an unprecedented rush for marriage licenses since plans for the new draft have become known, on the theory that all married men will be put in deferred classifications automatically."

"That situation will be met," said General Crowder, "by a regulation disregarding all such marriages."

"Why not provide in the bill that marriages contracted subsequent to the introduction of the bill shall not be cause for exemption?" suggested Representative McKenzie of Illinois.

"That will not be necessary," Secretary Baker said. "The regulations will provide fully against exemptions in such cases. I realize that there are some married men who ought to go into the army, and provision will be made for them. If you leave the matter to regulations, we can get those men, but if you make a hard and fast rule in the enactment of the law we cannot touch them."

"What consideration has been given to the education of drafted men between 18 and 20 years?" asked Representative Crago of Pennsylvania.

"Could these boys have their education carried along with their military training?"

No Time for More Than Training.

"That is not possible. Their education cannot be carried along with the intensive training which will be necessary. There will not be sufficient time to give them any real educational facilities. If they get six months training in this country that is all they can expect.

"It would be a public misfortune if academic education should be suspended during the war. Of course, it will not be necessary to suspend it entirely, because some unfit for military duty will be able to continue their courses. This is a scientific war, and many scientific and technical men will have to be exempted to continue their courses. I think it would be admirable, if practicable, to have a national examination to determine who should be exempted and allowed to continue a college or university career.

"No such question of exempting men to continue their college courses should be considered if it would interfere with military efficiency. The first consideration is to obtain a maximum army."

Representative Kahn of California said only 20 per cent. of men after 18 years of age continue their education.

"Is it not possible to relieve the younger army officers in the department here and elsewhere with older men?" asked Representative Lunn.

"It is being done now. We are taking out of home service every man capable of active duty and replacing him with a man of limited capability."

"Would you favor replacing military men with women and commissioning the latter?" asked Mr. Lunn.

"I would not. I do not believe it necessary, and I do not believe women could do effective work. Women are now being used wherever possible."

"Would it not be good policy for Congress to revoke all exemptions made for clerical purposes?" asked Representative McKenzie.

Exemption of Specialists.

"I do not think so. These exemptions have been made with care. Most of the men in deferred classifications in Washington are men who have been very hard to get. They are highly trained specialists who are needed for skilled work in connection with scientific problems. We are replacing them as fast as we can, but if the present orders for deferred classification were revoked suddenly the result would be little short of chaos, so far as the work of the department is concerned."

Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor at the conclusion of Secretary Baker's testimony asked to be heard, and before his request could be considered made a brief statement. He said:

"There is no question about labor doing the right thing by the Government. The President and Secretary Baker and all officers of the Government have been working along splendid lines, and labor has been doing its level best. President Gompers entered a protest against this measure, which is nothing more than the conscription of labor."

Chairman Dent halted Mr. Morrison, but the latter added before taking his seat that he wished to be heard later. He then asked Secretary Baker what he would do in case a strike occurred when the employer refused to arbitrate.

"There is no question what the War Department would do in such a case," Secretary Baker replied. "The men would not be taken into the military service if they were prevented from working by such a lockout."

Mr. Morrison, as the representative of organized labor, will be heard by the committee tomorrow.

Provost Marshal General Crowder said he would be able to register those subject to the new draft ten days after the bill was passed, and hoped to be able within two months to begin calling the men between 18 and 45 years into military service.

There is no indication that the committee will change the age limits in the bill, although there is a disposition in the House to fix the ages at from 20 to 40 years.

Status of Married Men.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(Associated Press.)—In answer to a letter from Chairman Chamberlain of the Senate Military Committee, asking whether it was true that the War Department proposed to exempt married men as a class under the new man-power bill, Secretary Baker today informed the Senator that the existing regulations as to married men would continue in force. Senator Chamberlain had written to the Secretary saying if it was true that deferred classification for married men generally was contemplated, many Senators would oppose lowering the present draft age to 18 years.

"The present situation," Mr. Baker replied, "with regard to married men in Class 1 is that four classes of married men are included within the limits of that class: First, married men who do not support their wives or families; second, married men whose wives support them; third, married men whose wives have adequate and independent means; fourth, married men engaged in useless accupations, and who are not the main or principal support of their families.

"There is no intention to change this situation. In construing the regulations with regard to dependency of wives and children, financial dependency has been looked upon as the reason for deferred classification. This will continue to be the case.

"I am told that in some parts of the country there is an abnormal increase in the rate of marriages, which suggests the possibility of a desire to use marriage as a basis for a claim of exemption. The status of registrants married at a time or under conditions suggesting any such purpose will be that of unmarried persons, so far as their classification is concerned."

The Dictaphone solves vacation troubles

To Secretaries and Stenographers

You have to pay for the time you lose going back and forth to take dictation—and waiting to take dictation—with overtime work and constant strain and anxiety. Send for free book "One Way to Bigger Pay."

Look at this waste! The typewriter is absolutely idle. One stenographer has been taking dictation continuously for nearly two hours. The second stenographer is puzzling over her shorthand notes. And all this time, not one letter is actually being written.

No wonder that every stenographer away on her vacation adds greatly to the burden of short help, mail congestion and overtime work.

What is the remedy? Stop writing each letter twice. The Dictaphone makes it necessary to write each letter only once—on the typewriter. Result—from 50% to 100% more letters per day—better letters, too, and at one-third less cost. Phone or write for demonstration in your office, on your work.

THE COMEDY OF A GOOD YOUNG MAN

Too Flawless Virtue Finds Its Redeeming Vice at the Plymouth.

WALLACE EDDINGER ERUPTS

Pebolita Berrigan	Eleanor Boardman

Oscar Wilde, among others, has spoken in scorn of men "without a redeeming vice." Such was Wallace Eddinger in the first act of "A Very Good Young Man." And the social circles of darkest Brooklyn, in which he moved, shared the very common prejudice. So great was the odium of his virtue that the fair maid whom he adored, and who adored him, finally came to feel it. And she wanted to be sure that he had dispelled from his system all possible wild oats before she trusted him with her happiness. So the very good young man, to redeem his character, set out to make a night of it in company with a vulgar little flirt.

The second act saw him in the process, and the third witnessed the sad morning after. Dramatic complications intervened, among them a demand on the part of the flirtatious fair one that he marry her to save her reputation. But the end was that the very good young man and the lady of his heart were reconciled to each other, and to virtue.

This phase of the play, its more serious groundwork, will not contribute much to the success of the new piece at the Plymouth. The idea, to be sure, is fresh, and the start unusually promising, but the action proceeds somewhat wildly, even preposterously, and runs down in talk long before the final curtain.

What delighted the audience last night—and it laughed loud and incessantly during the first two acts—was the humorous sketching of social life in Greenpoint, Sheepshead Bay, and among the Mandelharpers of East New York. The comedy consisted not in acts but in three "parties." The first was the evening "at home" in which the good young man was stung by the taunts of his social circle into producing wild oats out of his hitherto blameless soul. Josephine Meyer gave a somewhat overemphasized but very funny portrait of a mother who mingled hysterics with the profoundest cynicism as to men folk. Harold Salter contributed a very skilfully rendered portrait of a local politician and bruiser.

The scene in Pantzer's Pier Pavilion at Sheepshead Bay was a most spirited rendering of the humors of the popular restaurant. The leading feature was a quartet of waiters, ably led by Alan Dinehart, who at intervals suddenly ceased the prosaic serving of food and drinks to burst into soulful melody. It is said on high authority that there really are places where song thus mingle with service. The business was very comically managed, and the scene in general had a real flavor of popular humor or at least of caricature.

The party at the Mandelharpers' suffered an irruption of drama and heart interest and the humorous details came at rarer intervals. Yet the touch that had inspired the preceding acts persisted, and was now chiefly embodied in Ada Lewis, who gave a very broad but vital and irresistibly funny rendering of Mrs. Mandelharper. So the evening ended with what appeared to be a novel and very real success of laughter.

Mr. Eddinger bestowed a very valuable touch of simplicity and artistic sincerity upon the good young man. One liked him always, and, in his wildest extravagance of attempted evil, actually believed in him. The scene in which he "broke out" at Sheepshead Bay was really an achievement in eruptive comedy. Even his love scene of the final "party" had the touch of genuine feeling.

A part of his success here may have been contributed by Ruth Findlay. Reputed to have won the prize as the prettiest girl in Brooklyn, she might have been equally successful in any burg, and she also played with simplicity and true feeling. The humor of the play were no more fresh and enlivening than the quality of the acting.

The finical may object that this is the kind of comedy in which one laughs at the characters, rather than with them. One shuddered a bit to think what Greenpoint, Sheepshead Bay, and East New York would say to such a rendering of their social life. Yet it is much if one laughs at all, and there is a good prospect that the caricatures in "A Very Good Young Man" will delight many audiences. It may even become familiar to the actual locale of those parties.

SHOW 'OUR BRIDGE OF SHIPS'

Government's Film Reveals the Magnitude of Shipbuilding.

"Our Bridge of Ships," a two-reel motion picture presented by the Division of Films of the Committee on Public Information, was shown privately yesterday afternoon in the projection room of the Kineto Company, at 71 West Twenty-third Street, and will be released at once for exhibition throughout the country. In this film the Government has probably done more to emphasize the importance of shipbuilding, the magnitude of the work involved, and what has already been accomplished than could be done in a speaking campaign that extended from coast to coast.

The pictures show shipbuilding in many of its stages, from the cutting of great trees and the preparation of steel in the mills to the launching of nearly completed vessels. There are also panoramic views of the shipyards at Hog Island and other places, and scenes of congregated workers that give an idea of the number of men employed in building the bridge of ships. Incidentally, the film includes some of the best animated pictures of President Wilson, Secretary Daniels, E. N. Hurley, Chairman of the United States Shipping Board, and Charles M. Schwab, Director General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, that have been shown on screens since the beginning of the war. Several of the scenes give the uninitiated illuminating glimpses of how ships are constructed.

All together "Our Bridge of Ships" has interest for any one interested in the big things going on in the world, and would be a picture worth seeing if there were no war and its purpose of propaganda were absent.

American Company for Yorkville.

The German company which has held the boards of the Yorkville Theatre in Eighty-sixth Street for the last three or four years will give way to an American company this season, it was announced yesterday. Adolf Philipp, who has long been a well-known figure here on both the German and English-speaking stages, is the manager of the theatre. The opening attraction will be "Tell That to the Marines," a play by Mr. Philipp and Edward A. Paulton, which will be presented next month. Philipp is an American citizen.

WAR LABOR SHORTAGE NEARLY 1,000,000 MEN

Appeal for Volunteers to Do Unskilled Work as a Patriotic Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—That the shortage of labor in war industries, estimated at nearly 1,000,000 men, is seriously curtailing production, and unless quickly remedied, threatens to result in a shortage of supplies and equipment for the army when it is increased under the new program, was emphasized today in a statement of the Department of Labor.

The shortage in skilled labor is becoming almost as acute as that in unskilled labor. The available supply of unemployed labor is now practically depleted, the department said, and the one remedy lies in the patriotic recognition by non-war employers that they must release labor to war industries in order not to imperil the supply of the military forces.

Solution of the problem has been put up to the individual States, Nathan A. Smyth, Assistant Director General of the employment service, today notified all State Directors that "the seriousness of the situation can scarcely be exaggerated."

"Instance after instance," Mr. Smyth added, "has come to our attention, where the lack of unskilled labor threatens to cause some highly essential war project to close down.

"What, perhaps, is most needed in our war industries is an infusion of men who will undertake to work as common laborers because of our country's need. Americans, like the English and the French, must learn that 'common labor,' when performed for one's country in time of war, is worthy of any man, whatever his prior position or experience."

FAIL TO STOP HEARST PAPERS

Newsdealers' Boycott Plan Makes Little Progress.

About 100 newsdealers from the upper west side of Manhattan voted last night at a meeting at Juliet Hall, 103 West 117th Street, in favor of laying an embargo on all Hearst publications. No date was fixed for the embargo, this and other details being left to a meeting to be held tonight, at which, it was said, dealers from all parts of the city would be represented.

The project of the Newsdealers' Association of Brooklyn to boycott Hearst publications was launched yesterday by a number of newsdealers in Brooklyn and some dealers on the Manhattan side of the Brooklyn Bridge, but the Hearst publications continued on sale at most of the stands. In the afternoon stands which had displayed placards saying, "Because We Refuse to Sell Hearst Publications the Publishers Will Not Serve Us," resumed the sale of The Evening Journal.

Joseph A. Sultan, President of the Brooklyn organization, asserted, however, at a meeting of newsdealers of Manhattan at Juliet Hall, at 103 West 117th Street, last night, that the strike had started successfully.

FALSE NOSES FOR SHELLS.

Germans Are Using Them to Increase Heavy Artillery Range.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY, Aug. 19, (Associated Press.)—The Germans are now using false noses on shells of certain calibres of heavy artillery. The shells used in the bombardment of the Paris region had false noses in order to increase the range of fire. Official documents captured at the front show that a considerable part of the German armament has been provided with this device.

Ten, twelve, and sixteen inch projectiles have been found to be provided with false noses, some of them longer than the shell itself. They also appear to have been provided with a double-acting fuse.

LAKE COAL MOVEMENT LAGS

Total Is Nearly 9 Per Cent. Behind the Schedule.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—With a comparatively short period remaining of the Great Lakes navigation season, the movement of bituminous coal is 8.8 per cent. behind schedule, the Fuel Administration today announced. An extra effort is being made to speed up shipments of coal on the Great Lakes before Winter sets in.

The Ohio operators, who ship most of this coal, will meet district representatives of the Fuel Administration Thursday and Friday in Cleveland, when the coal situation will be discussed.

Mr. Garfield will be represented by Director of Distribution Morrow, C. P. White, in charge of the Lake distribution, and A. W. Calloway, Director of Bituminous Distribution.

Disputes Connolly's Petitions.

Arthur E. Keating, who is opposing Maurice E. Connolly, the Democratic leader of Queens and candidate for Supreme Court Justiceship on the Democratic ticket, applied to Justice Lazansky yesterday for a writ of mandamus restraining the Board of Elections from accepting certificates designating the Connolly candidates for State and County Committeemen from Queens. He alleged that not enough registered voters signed the petitions. Justice Lazansky set the hearing for today. The Justice also will hear at that time the complaint of George P. Jewesson of the Twenty-first Assembly District, Brooklyn, that Benjamin Elwin, the Republican candidate for State Committeeman from that district, did not have the requisite number of signers to his petition and therefore it should be thrown out.

KEEP TEETH CLEAN IN HOT WEATHER

Propagation of Germ Life in Mouth Increases, so Teeth, Gums and Mouth Should Be Kept Sterile.

High authorities in the dental profession advise more frequent brushing of teeth during hot weather.

But of course you should use a toothpaste that is an enemy of vicious germ life.

Senreco toothpaste is prescribed by many dentists because it not only helps to keep the teeth radiantly white and clean, but helps to speedily remove from the teeth the germ infested film that seldom yields to other dentifrices.

Senreco sterilizes the teeth, gums and mouth and makes the whole oral cavity cool, clean and refreshed.

It is highly recommended to check the ravishes of Pyorrhea, that vicious mouth disease so common now-a-days. Senreco comes in large two-ounce tubes at all drug and department stores anywhere in America, 25 cents—why pay more?—Advt.

'YIP! YIP! YAPHANK!' MAKES ROUSING HIT

ITS MUSIC BEST FEATURE

All of the Numbers Are Patriotic and Its Chorus "Maidens" Are One Long Laugh.

The induction of Irving Berlin into the National Army naturally marked the beginning of a new era in musical military affairs, and some of the results of the amalgamation were revealed at the Century Theatre last night in the shape of a rousing show given by and for the men from Camp Upton. Previous service shows have demonstrated that this type of entertainment requires no handicap from the musical comedy of Broadway, and the Uptonites, with the professional hand of Berlin at the helm, have turned out an entertainment which is in all respects the equal of the service shows which have gone before, and in several particulars their superior. "Yip! Yip! Yaphank!" is the name of it, and the audience of theatrical notables who made up the first night audience received it with the acclaim which only Broadway knows how to lavish.

Merely to say that these shows are as good as the average Broadway piece is grossly to undervalue them. "Yip! Yip! Yaphank!" for example, is vastly better. It has, of course, one immeasurable advantage over the commercial musical show, for the fact that it is being played by men in service can never for a moment be lost sight of. This fact is of greatest value, of course, when the "female" chorus is on the stage, and then, assuredly, no one can forget that these chorus maidens are soldiers. The chorus of "Yip! Yip! Yaphank!" is guaranteed to be one long laugh, whether one regards the third from the left, the fourth from the right, or the ensemble in general. Whoever picked its members was nothing less than inspired.

But the piece does not depend solely upon such obvious points for its merit. It is at its best when the music is playing, for Berlin is first of all a song writer, and a librettist second. Army life and its adjuncts are the theme throughout, and the author has found plenty about which to lyricize. The most appreciated number was an old one, Berlin's classic bugler lyric, but half a dozen others ran a close race for second place. Most of them will probably soon be more than familiar, for they are certain to find their way into vaudeville or musical comedy when "Yip! Yip! Yaphank" is permitted to pass.

The author appeared twice during the evening, once to sing the bugler number and again as a member of the despised kitchen police. The military police were there as well, and so were the cooks, the doctors, and the various other addenda of a training camp. There were also the girls from the "Follies," who are not generally regarded as a necessary camp adjunct. They brought with them the "Follies" principals, the best of whom were Ann Pennington and Eddie Cantor, impersonated by Privates Kendall and Cutner, respectively.

The nature of the specialties indicated the presence of more than one regular performer in the company. There was, for example, a juggler, a workmanlike imitation of Joe Jackson, and a troupe of acrobats, to say nothing of some clever dancing and some varying singing. Benny Leonard, prizefighter, gave an exhibition of his skill somewhere around the hour of 11, after which a patriotic number, although they were all patriotic, brought the show to a close.

Major Gen. J. Franklin Bell made an address from his box following the performance, and vain efforts were made to coax a speech from Sergeant Berlin. "Yip! Yip! Yaphank!" will be played at the Century for the rest of the week, with matinées tomorrow and Saturday, and the proceeds will be used for the erection of a community house at Camp Upton.

12 HURT IN WRECK OF BUFFALO EXPRESS

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 19.—An eastbound New York Central express train, which left Buffalo at 3:25 o'clock this afternoon, was wrecked from a cause not yet determined two miles west of Bergen, near Mann's Crossing. The engine and eight coaches left the rails and all but one of the coaches overturned in the ditch, yet not more than a dozen persons were injured and none of them seriously.

The engine came to a standstill 500 feet away from the nearest coach. It ran 1,500 feet after leaving the rails and stopped in an orchard after crashing through two telegraph poles, cedar fence posts, and trees.

Fireman W. K. Skelley came out without a scratch. Engineer Charles Wilkie was scalded about the feet by steam from a broken pipe, but was otherwise unhurt.

The injured brought to the Batavia Hospital included Mrs. Mary McMillan of North Bay, Ontario; Corporal Thomas C. Meagher of the training detachment at the Oswego Normal School; W. H. Jones of Buffalo, an express messenger; V. Tartagley, New York Central Labor Agent, of Syracuse; Tony Mazzarisi of Buffalo, and Engineer Wilkie.

U-BOAT LEFT MEN TO DIE.

Norwegian Sailor Tells How Eight Perished on a Raft.

LONDON, July 31, (Correspondence of Associated Press.)—A story of nine sailors, four of whom were wounded, left by a German submarine commander to perish on a ramshackle raft in the North Sea, where eight of them died, is told by Haakon Ohlson, the sole survivor of the Norwegian bark Eglinton, now recovering in a British naval hospital. When near death, Ohlson was rescued by a British motor boat patrolling in Heligoland bight.

The Eglinton was carrying coal to Norway when attacked by the submarine, firing shrapnel. The Captain's right arm was shattered, the steward was badly wounded in the leg, a seaman was shot through the body, and the second mate's arm was torn by splinters.

The ship filled rapidly, but the crew put out a raft made of five planks and supported by barrels. A barrel of water and a case of biscuits were placed on the raft. The submarine came up, fired into the sinking bark, and passed within twenty feet of the unfortunates as it circled about the raft.

"Not a word did the Huns say to us," said Ohlson, "although they could see our wounded and the plight we were in. There was a stiff breeze blowing, and I expected the raft to break up. The submarine steamed away.

"The wounded seaman died soon afterward, and we threw his body overboard. The next morning, after a sleepless night for all, the steward died, and then the second mate. We shoved their bodies into the water also. On the third day the Captain died. Then I must have lost count of time, for on the afternoon of the fourth day I found myself alone with the chief mate.

"I did my best to cheer him up, but he only said, 'I am going down into the cabin to get my pipe,' and I knew his mind was failing. He died that afternoon, and I managed to get the body clear of the raft."

One of the barrel buoys had leaked, and that end of the raft settled low in the water. Brine got into the biscuits and into the barrel of fresh water.

"I was alone on the raft for five days," Ohlson went on. "I didn't see a single ship all that time. I must have been a little delirious, because I lost count of the hours. I was wet through."

On the ninth day he heard distant firing. He managed to get to his knees to look about him and saw a British patrol boat. When Ohlson was taken aboard he collapsed.

INTOXICATION PLEA IN SEDITION TRIAL

DR. WEISS ASSERTS LOYALTY

Dr. von Strensch, Wealthy Friend of Kaiser, Recommended for Internment for Period of the War.

Dr. George C. Weiss, former Health Commissioner of Mount Vernon, was placed on trial in the Federal District Court before Judge J. C. Hutcheson yesterday charged with having stated that although he was an American citizen he was pro-German and that if his son was drafted and sent overseas with the American forces he, Dr. Weiss, would "start something." The remarks which Dr. Weiss is alleged to have spoken were uttered, according to the indictment, on June 16 last, in the Villa California, a restaurant near the Empire City Race Track at Yonkers.

The jury to try the case was quickly obtained and Assistant United States District Attorney James S. Johnson, who is prosecuting the case for the Government, called as his first witness Dal Hawkins, the proprietor of the restaurant in which the alleged seditious remarks are said to have been spoken. Mr. Hawkins testified that Weiss, after buying and drinking a pint of wine, made the remarks charged and that in order to prevent the other people in the restaurant from attacking Weiss he ordered him out of the restaurant. When counsel for the defense asked Hawkins if Dr. Weiss was drunk when he made the remarks charged, he replied:

"I would not say that he was drunk, although his actions indicated that he had been drinking."

Other witnesses called by the Government corroborated what Hawkins had testified, and said that Dr. Weiss had said that "Germany will win the war and the Dutch in me is coming out, and I intend to make trouble," and other remarks of a similar nature.

Dr. Weiss, in answer to questions by his lawyer, said that he had bought Liberty bonds, that he had contributed to the Red Cross, that the American flag flew from a staff on his home place, and that he had taken part in many patriotic exercises and gatherings. He read a letter written to his son on Memorial Day of last year, in which he said that now that the United States "is involved in the fray there is but one path, and that all medical men, old as well as young, will soon be called to the colors."

Testifying as to what happened on the day he is alleged to have uttered the seditious remarks, Dr. Weiss put in a defense that he was intoxicated. He said he was a victim of "periodical sprees" and that he had twice taken the whisky cure. On June 16, 1918, the date named in the indictment, he asserted that he had had an automobile trip to Rye Beach and New Rochelle, and that in various places he had drunk cocktails and straight whisky. He said that he had no recollection of having visited the Villa California.

"Now that you have heard Hawkins and the other witnesses testify about what they say you said in the Villa California, I wish to ask you if those remarks, if made, indicated your real feeling toward the United States?" Weiss was asked.

"They are not my sentiments," he replied, "and I have not a drop of disloyal blood in my veins and I have always stood ready to do my bit for the country."

John Fraser, the chauffeur who drove Dr. Weiss on June 16, also testified. He said that Dr. Weiss was under the influence of liquor the day named in the indictment.

In summing up for the Government, Mr. Johnson told the jury that if Dr. Weiss's plea of drunkenness was accepted as an excuse for making disloyal statements the whole purpose of the Espionage Act would be defeated.

Judge Hutcheson will charge the jury at 10 o'clock this morning.

Dr. Friedrich August Richard von Strensch, recently arrested on a Presidential warrant as a dangerous enemy alien, was recommended for internment for the rest of the war yesterday. Dr. von Strensch is 61 years old, and is said to be a member of one of the wealthiest families in Würtemberg, Germany. Under examination by agents of the Department of Justice he said that when he was twenty-one years old his father had given him $100,000 with which to start in business. Instead of going into business he rejoined the Royal Saxon Artillery as an officer, and he said that in 1886 he was summoned to the Foreign Office in Berlin and directed to go to Africa and make an inspection of commercial conditions there. Subsequently he said Emperor I., grand-Subsequently he said Emperor Wilhelm I., grandfather of the present Kaiser, conferred on him the title of "von." Strensen came to this country in 1891. He admits that he wrote to the Kaiser soon after the present war started and offered to do anything he could for the Fatherland. He also wrote to von Papen and other German plotters, and is said to have suggested the organization of a German force in this country to invade Canada.

CAPT. FISH IN THE FIGHTING.

His Helmet Hit by Shrapnel—Narrow Escape from a Shell.

A letter received from Captain Hamilton Fish, Jr., now in service on the western front in France, by a friend in this city shows that Captain Fish is one of the officers in the thick of the fighting there. Writing under date of July 25, he says:

"The last two weeks have been sleepless preparing and waiting for the German offensive. Consequently, when it broke loose we were ready for them and gave them a bad beating, which I hope will hasten the end of this fiendish war. My company was holding first line position the night of the 15th, and if the boches had attacked in force we would have all been sacrificed. It was not a pleasant anticipation to go through for ten successive nights, but luckily for us the boches did not attack in force and contented themselves with smothering us with shells. My company lost three killed, six wounded and four badly gassed. The men conducted themselves bravely.

"We are now acting as support for a French regiment in an active sector and the shells are constantly crashing overhead. I have had several narrow escapes, being hit by shrapnel on the helmet, and being covered by dirt from a big German shell in an open field. My horse, a fine, powerful bay, was killed a few days ago in a barn a couple of miles behind the lines. War is no respector of men or animals. We have held the boche all along the Champagne front in the intermediary positions and his losses have been very severe.

"I hope to get my permission about the first of August or as soon as this battle has become stabilized. For the last five months I have been at or near the front and am ready for a change of environment."

PLAN FOR POLICE FUND.

Speaking at a luncheon given by the New York Police Association at the Bankers' Club yesterday, Police Commissioner Enright declared that the draft had made the police situation in this city serious. Every man taken was a dead loss, he said, because it was impossible to replace him. The purpose of the gathering was to consider the question of raising $500,000 for the purchase of uniforms for the reserves who take the places of the regular policemen called into the service of the country.

The Police Field Days to be held at the Sheepshead Speedway on Aug. 24 and 31 are for this purpose.

Among those present were William Fellowes Morgan, President of the Merchants Association; E. E. Olcott, R. A. C. Smith, F. W. Woolworth, Bernard Gimbel, Major Michael Friedsam, Colonel T. S. Williams, Robert Grier Cooke, William C. Breed, C. B. Alexander, and Cleveland H. Dodge.

Deputy Police Commissioner Wallis announced that Ralph de Palma, who won the International Sweepstakes at the Speedway on Saturday afternoon, had agreed to appear in his racing car and attempt to break his own ten-mile record. He will also race an airplane driven by a military pilot from Mineola.

CONGRESS AND THE COUNTRY.

Congress continues to please itself rather than the country by insisting upon its original ideas regarding taxation rather than those suggested to it by representatives of the taxpayers, and by the collectors of the taxes. The Treasury as administrator of the existing tax laws, and the commercial organizations of the taxpayers, are in the best position to know the hardships under the tax laws, and to suggest changes for their convenience and for the enlargement of the Government's income with least disturbance to the activities from which the taxes result. Yet Congress is so indifferent to the Treasury's suggestions that its Ways and Means Committee is asking the Treasury to accept as a compromise a proposal to make worse the excess profits tax. The Treasury went as far as it should in accepting the excess profits tax in its original form as a complement to the war profits tax. To accept an increase in the tax on the lower classes of excess profits would be to increase the discrimination against them under the original tax.

The discrimination was not intentional, for Congress prefers to discriminate against wealth. But the returns under the excess profits law show that the largest proportion of corporations taxable under the proposed increase of excess profits tax would be found among concerns of smallest invested capital, and that the smallest proportion would be found among concerns in excess of $500,000 invested capital. No concern of over $5,000,000 capital would be found among the corporations paying the largest percentage of proposed taxes on excess profits. The Treasury dissented from that discarded proposal, and it should also dissent from the proposal to raise the tax on the lower brackets. It is true that the taxes must come mainly from the smaller taxpayers, and that it is futile to discriminate against great wealth in the hope of increasing revenues. If all the income of the very wealthy were confiscated by taxes it would still be necessary to tax the smaller incomes and profits. But that is no reason or excuse for increasing a tax which has been shown to be disproportionately burdensome to the moderate profits. The Treasury has been generous in saving the face of Mr. KITCHIN, but if he insists upon defeat instead of compromise he should be allowed to have his way in that rather than in going further in a wrong direction.

No complaint comes from the largest taxpayers, against whom the present law was designed to be punitive, respecting the taxes they must pay. Their complaint is only against the method in which their taxes are laid. Assuming that they are silent about the amount of their taxes from prudential reasons, it remains true that they have a right to ask that their taxes shall be collected from them with no unnecessary burdens from perplexity and discouragement of business, and that other taxpayers shall bear a fairer share of the total. The United States Chamber of Commerce and the Investment Bankers' Association have made formal and detailed suggestions for the betterment of Chairman KITCHIN's proposals, but there is not the least reflection of the advice in the news from Washington. For example, the consumption tax. It would fall on necessaries, and would be unpopular, Congress thinks. Taxes on luxuries would be popular, and therefore are preferred by those who think that the connection between popularity and taxation is closer than it really is. Congress has gained no popularity by discriminating against wealth, and it will gain none by discriminating in favor of the millions who are thinking more about winning the war than about politics. The moderately well-to-do will pay taxes as readily as the rich if once they are persuaded that the taxes laid are the best for the purpose.

The commercial organizations think that the laying of few and productive taxes on large classes of taxpayers is the best and fairest way to get money for the war. Congress prefers to raise taxes from many small classes of goods and consumers. The catalogue of luxuries which must pay under pending proposals would bring in small revenue, despite its portentous length compared with the list of consumption taxes. The taxes on gems, furs, silks, and so on do not suffice to justify the exemption of tea, coffee, sugar, and other articles of universal use, the consumption of which would enable all to contribute toward the support of the men in the trenches. The Council of National Defense has made a study of popular purchases, with results corresponding to experience in other countries. The wealthy are spending less on their accustomed luxuries as the taxes rise. The extravagance now is among those who are spending unaccustomed sums on what are luxuries for them. The wealthy buy but a small part of music machines, jewelry of moderate price, such as diamonds under half a carat, the cheaper watches, and things of that sort. They are among the list of luxuries bought by those whom Congress wishes to exempt from consumption taxes, and are bought by those whose wages surpass their most generous expectation. Such expenditures stimulate nonessential industries, increase the cost of living for those inclined toward economy, and show that consumption taxes can be borne by those whom Congress would exempt, contrary to the practice of other nations which are older in the war and its lessons than we are.

PICNIC WHEREASING.

Hear the enemies of virtue. Why, you can't go to a picnic, even to the annual picnic of the Dairymen's League at Mexico Point, Oswego County, without having to listen to the patter of "Resolved" and "Whereas." Will it be believed in this Christian land that "two thousand voters, men and women of Central New York, jeered Governor CHARLES S. WHITMAN and cheered the name of Attorney General LEWIS" at this Mexico Point festival?

Sad to read are those resolutions charging "political agents of the Whitman administration" with trying to prevent the farmers from organizing; charging that "State moneys secured by farm taxes have been used in this propaganda to defeat the best interests of farmers and farm organizations." What was the use of adopting unanimously a resolution, started by such whereases, demanding that "the administration of our agricultural affairs be taken out of political control"? Can crops grow without political control? Isn't Mr. WHITMAN the farmer's best friend?

And what was the use of asking Governor WHITMAN to give his reasons for vetoing the Wicks bill, which authorized the Commissioner of Agriculture "to license and bond milk dealers"; of telling Governor WHITMAN that the farmers have lost a pot of money by failures of milk dealers this year?

Whatever Governor WHITMAN does or refuses to do is for his own best interests. Why try to poke into the mysterious silence where his wisdom broods? Milk, of all things, is most, is quintessentially, Whitmanian. Fresh, pure, sincere, iced, prohibition, a glass of milk makes every good soul think of Governor WHITMAN.

Why can't a dairyman, at least why can't an admirer of WHITMAN, milk, and water, go to a picnic without having his feelings trodden on by elephantine and malignant resolutions?

THE BOMBING OF FRANKFORT.

"It is our own nerveless policy which exposes us to the outrages of the Huns," wrote Sir ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE in May. "They will do what they think they can do with impunity, and they will avoid that which entails punishment." The Kaiser's telegram of sympathy to the Burgomaster of Frankfort, which has been bombed by enemy airplanes, is the All-Highest's worst exhibition of hypocrisy. It was "contrary to international law and claimed many victims." Germany from the firing of the first shot has conducted her war—the war she provoked and started—in accordance with the principle laid down by General VON HARTMANN in his "Military Necessity and Humanity," published in 1877:

> It is a gratuitous illusion to suppose that modern war does not demand far more brutality, far more violence, and an action far more general than was formerly the case. When international war has burst upon us, terrorism becomes a principle made necessary by military considerations.

The codes of the Geneva and Hague conventions were never accepted by Germany in good faith. The hour her troops invaded France and Belgium the mask was thrown away, and international law became a ribald gibe. It will never be possible to catalogue, much less to describe with fidelity to truth, the atrocities which the Germans have perpetrated in every State invaded by them. The Kaiser is familiar with the monstrous story. To compare him with ATTILA is defamation of ATTILA's character. ATTILA had some compunction, he could stay the hand of rapine, he spared some things; but no relic, no monument, neither merit, honor, nor virtue, childhood nor old age, has been spared by the armies of Germany, and the Kaiser, in the name of military necessity, defends all the crimes his soldiers have committed. He was callous to the enormity of bombing defenseless towns in England and France until, protests proving unavailing, reprisals were resorted to, on the same principle that it became necessary to use poisonous gases in defense of helpless troops.

In the British raids there has always been an objective, railway stations, munition factories, steel works, barracks, military headquarters, aerodromes, as appears from an official report of the British Air Ministry of eleven weeks of raiding such towns as Zweibrücken, Mannheim, Karlsruhe, Thionville, Metz, Conflans, Treves, Saarburg. Doubtless there was an objective when Frankfort was bombed. However, the French and British do not deny that in their raids noncombatants are killed, nor are they shocked when such casualties are reported. Reprisal is a part of their program. Retribution it might be called.

It is not international law that the Kaiser is concerned about in his whine to the Burgomaster of Frankfort. The destroyer of cathedrals, works of art, monuments, and ancient relics, who thanks GOD in interviews dictated to KARL ROSNER that the fair Fatherland has been spared the horrors of war, is fearful for the treasures of Frankfort, the Römerberg market place, the Gutenberg Monument, the Kaiserplatz, the Goethe and Schiller statues, the Cathedral of St. Bartholomew, the Nikolaikirche, built in the thirteenth century; the Kaisersaal, the house in which GOETHE was born, the picture gallery of the Städel Institute, and many other treasures not to be touched by vandal hand. The Kaiser can regard devastated Belgium and despoiled France with equanimity, but let bombs be dropped upon historic Frankfort and he stands aghast at the enemy's wanton disregard of international law.

WHY THEY WANT HIM.

There is a queer misapprehension among some of the opponents of Mr. HENRY FORD's burst into the Michigan primaries. Thus The Detroit Free Press ascribes to him a contempt for the political processes by which the Government is carried on. "Mr. FORD," says The Chicago Tribune, "has indulged himself for years in the gratification of not knowing anything about the country's political procedure, of not connecting himself with it, or having anything to do with it."

This is a little unjust. Mr. FORD remembers that he cast his first vote for President "for GARFIELD" in 1884. If his memory, busy with so many weightier matters, has mislaid his candidate's name, at least Mr. FORD once voted, and he knows that there are Presidents.

But it is not as an authority on politics, on the American political system, that he has been picked for Senator by an expert and an illustrious hand. Just as the Prussian Herrenhaus includes a number of life-peers who are chosen by the King from among great landholders, rich industrials, "national celebrities"; just as the House of Lords has among its members great men of business, of letters, so should not our Senate be in part a Chamber of Notables, of Magnates, a House of Fame, in another than CHAUCER's sense?

Few men are better known than Mr. FORD. In the matter of swift, romantic, inexhaustible riches Monte Cristo was Lazarus compared to this Wolverine machinist. He is one of the greatest carriers in the world. In what hamlet is the sound of his wheels unheard? His experience on the ship of peace makes him an authority on shipping. His Christmas evacuation of the trenches makes him an authority on military affairs. Yet not as a common politician, but as a rare, a natural, an unconscious genius do his enthusiasts push him toward the Senate.

AN OLD HUMBUG.

How loud is the roaring of the German League for Freedom and Fatherland against the Pan Germanists, the annexationists, the Fatherland Party, "the inner enemy." Wicked, wicked VON TIRPITZ, Junkers, militarists, coveters of NABOTH's vineyard! We, the gentle leaguers, "declare that the German people, for whose overwhelming majority we speak, see the goal of this defensive war in a peace honorable for all—a peace of understanding, without violent annexations or compulsory indemnities, a peace safeguarding our Fatherland's integrity and our people's freedom for development in the same degree that it guarantees our enemies the same blessings."

Something nice in the Brest-Litovsk-Bucharest style. Bait for gudgeons is the pretense of a desire for a league of nations; but the essential part of the manifesto is the repetition of the old falsehood that Germany's enemies wish to annihilate her, that she is fighting a defensive war. Now, "every German man and woman" must realize that Germans must "strain their forces to the uttermost" for the Fatherland's defense.

When Germany is winning, practically all Germans are annexationists, Pan Germanists. When Germany is losing, we get such camouflage as this proclamation of the League for Freedom and Fatherland. See, the Pan Germans are not the majority! See how we sail into them!

It won't work. It is a "put-up job." Compare Abbé WETTERLÉ's description of the fierce pretended rage of Reichstag Centre and Left against the Tirpitzian navy increase bill of 1906, finally accepted without a murmur. In Germany all parties and newspapers are essentially one; and that one is the Government.

FINLAND'S FRIENDS.

The proposal of the Finnish Government to send captured soldiers of the Red Guard army which fought in the Finnish civil war last Winter to work in the German potash mines not unnaturally found considerable opposition in the Finnish Diet. Finland needs German potash, Germany needs labor which does not have to be paid and which can be worked to death if need be; but despite the bitterness felt against the Finnish Bolsheviki, there were those in the Diet who denounced the proposed arrangement as a slave trade in the bodies of fellow-citizens.

The troubles of Finland began with the Bolshevist rising last Winter, supported by Russian Bolsheviki from Petrograd. But to an outsider it would seem that a Government which ended the civil war with German aid and practically turned the whole country over to Germany did not better matters much; a view which seems to be held by such distinguished Finns as General MANNERHEIM and other national leaders. Such evidence as we have available indicates that the great mass of the Finnish people are sadly dissatisfied with the German domination brought upon them by the Svinhufvud Government; but the Finnish White Guard propaganda in this country is not helping the cause of the Finnish people by attempting to exculpate SVINHUFVUD. His acts speak more loudly than their words; a gentleman who confers the Grand Cross of Finnish Liberty on the Kaiser and proposes to send fellow-countrymen to forced labor in German mines is hardly to be trusted with the wholehearted support which Finns in this country think we ought to give him. Of the excellent intention of the Finland Constitutional League of America there can be no doubt, but they would gain more support for their cause by backing up the anti-German majority, whose size was impressively shown by the opposition to the institution of monarchy, than by attempting to convince Americans that there are no Germans to speak of in Finland, and that any who may be there went in against the opposition of the present Government.

THE GRAIN HARVEST.

"There will be war bread of better quality than last year's, practically without rationing, for all who are fighting Germany," said Mr. HOOVER in London last Saturday. Our wheat harvest is nearly completed. While the official report for Aug. 1 showed a slight reduction of estimate, the crop will exceed last year's by at least 225,000,000 bushels, owing to an acreage increase of 28 per cent. The early promise of a great yield in Canada has not been fulfilled, for reduction has been caused by drought and untimely frosts, but the Government's estimate is 232,000,000 bushels, or only 2,000,000 less than the crop one year ago. From the two countries 350,000,000 bushels can be sent to our war partners in Europe.

Their own crops exceed those of 1917. In France there is a gain of 25 per cent., and there was a large addition to British acreage. A great accumulated surplus in Australia will be available when ships to carry it can be spared. In our Western fields wheat has been more fortunate than corn. Since the August report, which indicated a reduction of 171,000,000 bushels of that crop in a month, severe hot weather has caused additional loss, estimated by a prominent crop expert to have been 400,000,000 bushels in seven States. But last year's crop was a great one, and much has been carried over. There will be corn enough to keep up the supply of meat.

Our farmers were urged by the Government to increase their Winter wheat acreage for next year's crop by about 10 per cent. In Kansas, Missouri, and parts of the Northwest they are now plowing for that crop, which should be larger than the one now coming to market. There must still be, as Mr. HOOVER says, "economy in consumption, so that we may carry over from this harvest a stock of foodstuffs that will form positive 'insurance' against possible weather losses next year. Increase of seeded acreage will be additional insurance, and farmers should be commended for planning the increase, although the supply of hired labor is small.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Life Is Not What They Want.

Patriotism could hardly be carried further than it was by the 114 Polish officers and privates who, captured by the Austrians after they had deserted to the Russians and later joined the Czechoslovak forces in Siberia, now demand that no consideration of their impending—and legally deserved—fate shall move the Poles at home to any compromises in the struggle they are making for Polish independence.

This takes a sort of courage not greater, perhaps, but certainly different from and rarer than that which enables men to face death in battle without a tremor. The prisoners know the Austrians well, and that they certainly will be shot or hanged unless by sparing them their captors can gain political and military advantages of real and great importance. And those advantages can only be derived from utilizing the natural desire of the Poles still in Austria to save the lives of men whom they regard not as criminals, but as heroes. That in such circumstances the captives scorn to have their lives saved shows an utter devotion to the cause on which they staked everything when they turned to what was then the Entente side.

Comparable with their spirit of self-sacrifice is that displayed a few weeks ago by a group of French soldiers who, when surrounded by an overwhelming force of Germans and unable longer to hold the village in which they had been stationed, signaled that the French cannon should be turned on it as the only way of preventing its loss. That meant that every one of themselves would be killed by the shells from their own artillery, but that fact did not count with them as against the more hated fact that so only could the loss of the position be prevented.

What the French gunners did was not told, but the presumption is that they accepted the sacrifice so nobly offered, opened fire and drove the Germans back. That, however, was in the heat of battle, and not to save the Polish prisoners, if it could be done at not too great cost, would require a virtue more hard and stern than any except that which the ancient Romans claimed and sometimes revealed.

Publicity Will Do No Harm.

As regards the lamentable affray between white and colored soldiers at Camp Merritt there is little that now can be said profitably except that the effects of it can best be minimized, not by a policy of concealment of what happened, but by a clear and simple statement from the military authorities of the facts and the action they took on them. That the responsibility will be fixed and the break in discipline properly and justly penalized can be taken for granted by the well-disposed, but any secrecy, any attempt to hush the thing up and to leave the public in ignorance as to where the blame lay, will give opportunity for endless talk by those who delight in exaggerating anything of this kind.

The public is quite competent to hear and understand the truth, whatever it may be, and it will be neither surprised nor alarmed at indications of occasional friction between different military units. Similar troubles occur in all armies, but they are least serious when dealt with frankly as well as promptly.

There is no real prejudice in this country against negro soldiers. Their courage and loyalty have been proved on too many battlefields to be doubted now, and any quarrel that may arise between them and white troops serving the same flag means next to nothing as to racial incompatibilities and is significant only as to the ordinary frailties of human nature as illustrated in individuals.

Whether black men or white in this instance started the fight is a question of no importance except as it will determine where—in this instance—the remedial measures should be applied. As a rule, the relations between the two colors in our army are excellent, and that they do not always agree means no more than do like happenings that have been reported from the French and British armies, and again and again from that of Germany. For every "scandal" of this sort, however, full ventilation is the best cure, and it is the quickest one as well.

A Soldier Praises a Soldier.

It is equally natural and commendable that General PERSHING, an old friend of Colonel ROOSEVELT, should have written to him at some length in regard to the death of his son QUENTIN, and should have told in full the young man's record of achievements as a member of America's fighting force. And surely no father could have more compensation, or better, for the loss of a son than was offered in this case.

There is emotion in the letter, but it is almost wholly between the lines. On them is only soldierly appreciation of a soldier—recognition of duty promptly assumed and effectively done until there came the retirement from service that was so honorable as almost to preclude regret. "Lieutenant QUENTIN ROOSEVELT," the father read, "during his whole career in the air service, both as a cadet and as a flying officer, was a model of the best type of young American manhood. He was most courageous in his conduct, clean in his private life, and devoted to his duty."

That this career was only from Aug. 8, 1917, to July 17, 1918—less than a year—does not prove it short, for in that time the boy lived more than will many a man who goes to his grave at three score and ten.

Not long ago somebody down in Oklahoma dared to write and print that the ROOSEVELT boys had been provided with the soft and safe places that influence—in the estimation of suspicious and jealous minds—can provide in armies for the sons of such as Colonel ROOSEVELT. That man was accurately characterized by the Colonel and nothing has been heard from him since—not even an expression of apology and regret. But perhaps his silence is wise. Already his name is forgotten, and that, for him, is wonderful good fortune—so much more than he deserves that he is well advised not to ask forgiveness for his miserable gibe.

The Times Anniversary.

From The Brooklyn Times.

Our neighbor, THE NEW YORK TIMES, celebrated yesterday the twenty-second anniversary of the beginning of its history under its present management. Its circulation is beyond half a million. It is one of the greatest newspapers in the world. A newspaper complete in its news service; that has served its public by reporting this war in all its complexity and magnitude with generosity, fidelity, and a literary quality of the highest order; that possesses an editorial page of great brilliancy and power; THE NEW YORK TIMES well deserves the flattering success of which it makes modest mention in the announcement of its twenty-second anniversary.

A Gold Star Instead of Mourning.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

One of the saddening sights over here is the heavy crepe worn by the women of France—the omission of the word some before women was not an oversight. When we come home, after Germany's defeat, we hope our women will not depress themselves and us by adhering to this old, unwise custom. Will you suggest that the American woman who has lost a son, a brother, a husband over here wear, instead of gloomy black, a small gold star on the left sleeve above the cuff? May she wear it in pride, not sorrow.

A NEW RUSSIAN LEADER.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

With the greatest pleasure I read in today's TIMES that "the Government of Northern Russia" has been formed, with Mr. Tchaikovsky as President and Minister of Foreign Affairs. Nicholas Vasilievitch Tchaikovsky, an old friend of mine, is the right man in the right place. His reputation at home and abroad and his high moral character are a sure guarantee for raising Russia again in the estimation of the world at large. Tchaikovsky is a graduate of St. Petersburg University.

If Mrs. Breshkovsky is called the grandmother of Russian revolution, then Tchaikovsky should be called its grandfather. He was one of the first organizers of the revolutionary movement among the workmen and peasants in Russia. In the early seventies he was forced to emigrate. He came to this country in 1875 and settled in Kansas with his friends, who tried to do farming. The experiment failed, and Tchaikovsky returned to New York on foot, thus having learned personally all the hardships of tramping. He lived in New York several years. Then he went to London, where he settled with his family for good. Tchaikovsky, Krapotkin, and the late Plekhanoff were the most authoritative Russian revolutionists who repeatedly had been called to judge Russian traitors and to settle the most important questions of Russian revolution.

Well known and trusted both in London and Paris, Tchaikovsky will find no difficulty whatever in resuming the friendliest relations with the Allies. All loyal Russians will hail Tchaikovsky, from Vladivostok to Warsaw and from Murmansk to Tiflis.

No Flags in the Country.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Quite recently I have made a trip through the Central West, the granary of the nation, where Nature this year has smiled a bounteous yield. Fat cattle browsed in the fields. Latest models of automobiles spun up and down the roads. Prosperity was, with few exceptions, everywhere. Troop trains, some of them on the first lap of the journey "over there," passed these villages and farms. Bronzed, clear-eyed defenders of the nation and our national faith filled the cars, eager, if necessary, to make the highest sacrifice. And yet, in all of the communities through which I passed, with practically no exceptions, I did not see a single American flag in front of any farm house. It is true that Red Cross and Liberty Loan placards and flags were numerous, but why recognize only these special activities and not the great national emblem? It seems to me that a movement on the part of American farmers to display an American flag in every farmyard would be additional, visible, and incontrovertible evidence of their feelings in these times of national crisis.

D. ARTHUR BOWMAN.
St. Louis, Aug. 16, 1918.

Joyce Kilmer.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The name of Joyce Kilmer should be numbered among America's illustrious sons who have given all for the cause for which she fights. His death is a distinct loss to our literature, which is sorely in need of men of originality such as was his. When he wrote in prose or verse he could lift his standard higher than the commonplace writers of today and take his place with those who really amount to something in literature. To his friends who know what a brilliant intellect he had his noble death brings home the real cost of this struggle for liberty and democracy. He was a democrat in the finest sense of the word and has given his greatest contribution to the cause which he loved. Elsa Barker speaks for all his friends in her poem in a way that the rest of us cannot.

GARDNER K. BYERS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The press states that American troops in German prison camps are being brutally treated and tortured. Is America to submit to this? Terror can be put into the cowardly hearts of the German high military command, who are responsible, by informing them directly from our President that a prelude to peace will be the surrender to us for courtmartial of 100 German Generals and staff officers and Princes, whom alone we hold responsible.

R. J. CALDWELL.

NO PEACE TILL VICTORY.

Dedicated to the American Expeditionary Force.

Who dares to speak of peace while the pale moon
Looks down upon a new-made grave in France,
Where lies my soldier son? He died for us,
His flag, and plead no peace until his cause
Is won—no peace till Victory! And not Alone for him this plea; for every man
Who bears our Country's flag, freemen and knights
Of this fair western world who give their oath
And faith and life. For Country's sake they pledged
Allegiance to her now, and she will pledge
Fulfillment of their cause. Who dares to sing
For might against all right? For Victory
Complete speak out, and leave the peace to God!
Oh, that blind Milton, whose far-seeing soul
Called out to God to avenge his slaughtered saints
On Piedmont's mountains cold, could speak to us
And say: "Fight on for Victory till wrong
Is conquered." Let us keep faith with all our men
Who bear our flag across the sea to stand
In France for freedom. Never Homer sang
An Odyssey so great! O Belgium, speak!
O Poland, speak! And every human heart
That dares to beat for freedom, speak for God
And Victory! Who speaks of peace is but
The traitorous mouthpiece of the German lie.
And shall it be for naught we pour the cup,
Scarce tasted, of young manhood's life in rich
Libation on the soil of France to faith
For which our fathers came to this fair land;
To liberty for which old Holland fought
Three hundred years and won, and brought to us;
To Mayflower Pilgrims' faith; to all the hope
Of Huguenots; to all who since have kept
Their faith and held their flag untarnished still?

CHARLOTTE SAYRE BOORMAN.

CRAIG OPPOSES BOND TAX.

Sends Message to Congress on Levy on Municipal Securities.

Controller Craig sent a telegram to each member of the Congressional Ways and Means Committee yesterday protesting against the proposed tax on municipal securities. It read in part:

"The City of New York has aided the Federal Government in every way in the prosecution of the war. Large and valuable properties have been turned over without charge for army and navy purposes. The co-operation of the municipal authorities is continued and unreserved. A tax direct or indirect upon municipal bonds is in effect a tax upon the government of the City of New York. It is a tax upon public schools, hospitals, charitable and correctional institutions, and upon fire and police protection, and upon water supply, rapid transit and waterfront improvements. A certain amount of such improvements are vital under war conditions.

"The power to tax is the power to destroy. It is inconceivable that Congress should prostrate the credit and cripple the functions of a great and devoted municipal government. The gain cannot possibly offset the injury of a tax that so clearly appears to be unconstitutional. I earnestly urge that no tax be laid directly or indirectly upon municipal bonds."

NEWS PRINT PRICES IN JULY.

Contracts at $3.50 to $3.80—Production Low for Seven Months.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—News print manufacturers in July made contracts at $3.50 to $3.80 for rolls and $3.50 to $4.05 for sheets a hundredweight, f. o. b. mill, for car lots, the Federal Trade Commission announced today. Deliveries extend to 1921 at an adjustable price. The price ranges were reported in twelve contracts for 92,045 tons. Current shipmens for roll news were at $3 to $3.75 and sheet news at $3.50 to $4.10.

Jobbers' prices on the Pacific Coast were much higher than elsewhere. In the East and Middle West rolls in ton lots sold at $3.25 to $5.88 and sheets at $4.25 to $6.75. On the Pacific Coast rolls were $4.60 to $6.75 and sheets $5.50 to $10.

Production during July was reduced by labor trouble and the Government taking over power at Niagara Falls. The lost production the first seven months of 1918, as compared with 1917, was 69,408 tons of total print and 70,058 tons of standard news. Publishers' stocks increased during the month, but mill stocks decreased.

LETTER FROM JOYCE KILMER

Special to The New York Times.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Aug. 19.—A letter written by Sergeant Joyce Kilmer, author, and member of THE NEW YORK TIMES staff, whose death in France has been reported, was received by Mrs. Kilmer at the Summer home at Oak Bluffs today. It was written before the allied offensive, and described the country and its flowers, with few references to the war. Mrs. Kilmer gave out a few excerpts from the letter.

"If you get a cablegram soon saying I am dangerously wounded, don't worry," he wrote, "because our Lieutenant is just back from the hospital—he has a little touch of trench fever—and he says that when he was in the hospital he was fed strawberries and cream. But perhaps that does not sound as exciting to you as to me.

"The intelligence section is back from its post, the beautiful place from which I wrote you many letters. Now we are in very flat country, the flattest I ever saw, with very violent flowers, chiefly scarlet poppies and small blue things, corn flowers, I believe. Gloriously hot, with good swimming nearby, and the best sort of shower bath obtainable by merely sitting under the spout of a pump where an obliging friend turns the handle."

"American literature, nay, the world's literature, suffers a tremendous loss in his death," he said. "John Masefield said that most of the poets would be killed in the war, and here is one great man gone."

Mrs. Kilmer has learned that her husband was killed on her birthday, Aug. 1. She is the stepdaughter of Mr. Alden, and her mother has written poems under the name Ada Foster Murray.

CALL TO PHYSICIANS.

Meetings to Expedite Enrollment in Medical Service Corps.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Dr. Franklin Martin of the Advisory Commission of the Council of National Defense and Chairman of the General Medical Board has arranged for a series of meetings to be held throughout the country as part of the campaign for expediting the enrollment of physicians in the reorganized Volunteer Medical Service Corps.

These meetings will be held Aug. 22 and Aug. 29 "at the most central and accessible place" in each State. Their purpose is to arrange for enlargement of State Executive Committees to handle the active campaign for the corps, to arrange for the appointment of a representative in each county, and to acquaint the State and county representatives with the details as to the reorganized Volunteer Medical Service Corps.

"The campaign is being launched at once," said Dr. Martin today, "as many members of the medical profession not already in the service are anxious to be enrolled as volunteers for the Medical Department of the army before the registration under the new draft law taking men up to and including the age of 45 goes into effect."

AIRCRAFT INQUIRY REPORT.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The report of the Senate Military Affairs Committee's sub-committee on the recent aircraft production investigation is promised for tomorrow.

The sub-committee, among other things, will touch, in the report, upon disclosures relating to flagrant mismanagement of the aircraft program by certain subordinate officials who, it is alleged, were responsible for long delay in getting production under way.

The report will be offered to the Senate, it is expected, the latter part of this week.

SUGAR RULES VIOLATED.

Food Board Reports Many Restaurants Still Using Bowls Here.

The Federal Food Board called attention yesterday to the fact that many public eating places still kept the sugar bowl on their tables in violation of the conservation rules of the Food Administration.

While the sugar bowl has been banished from tables in dining cars, hotels, and most of the large restaurants, there are still numerous public eating places in the city which have failed to follow this patriotic example. Continuance of this practice on the part of these places, according to the Food Board, is not only harmful to the sugar conservation program of the United States Food Administration, but it is unfair to those places which are co-operating with the Government by serving only a fixed quantity of sugar to each patron.

GREAT FALLING OFF IN LUXURY IMPORTS

DROP IN CHINA AND LACES

Foodstuffs, Cheese, Olives, and Olive Oil Are Far Below Ante-bellum Figures.

Americans are getting along without luxuries from Europe and elsewhere, according to a compilation issued yesterday by the National City Bank. This shows that in virtually all the imports usually classed as luxuries the 1918 Government fiscal year figures fall materially below those of the preceding year and are far less than those of the year before the outbreak of the European war.

Just how great the actual reduction had been was difficult to state, the bank said, due to the fact that many of the articles usually classed as luxuries were stated only in the Government reports in figures of value. As prices of these per unit of quantity have advanced the lower value figures do not adequately represent the decline in quantities imported.

In almost all articles in which quantities were stated the fall-off was very large, and in those measured only by value figures there was in most cases a heavy reduction.

The Decrease Only Natural.

"That luxury imports should be less than before the war," the bank's statement said, "is quite natural by reason of the fact that many of the articles of this character originated in European countries, some in the countries with which we are now at war, and some in those of our allies, now too busily employed to manufacture or otherwise accumulate materials of this class for exportation."

Coming to details of the 1918 luxury importations into the United States, it is shown, for example, that this country imported only $11,000,000 of art works in the fiscal year just ended, against $23,000,000 in 1917 and $35,000,000 in the fiscal year 1914, just preceding the start of the war.

In automobiles the value in 1918 was only about $50,000, against nearly $2,000,000 in 1913, and more than $2,000,000 in 1912, while the average value per machine imported in 1918 was less than one-half that before the war. Decorated chinaware imported in 1918 was only about $3,500,000 in value, against about $8,000,000 in 1914. Of cotton laces imported in 1918 the value was only about $10,000,000, against $16,500,000 in 1917 and nearly $34,000,000 in 1914. Of silk laces the 1918 imports were valued at but little more than one-half those of 1914.

Fewer Precious Stones Coming.

Of cotton plushes and velvets the quantity imported in 1918 was less than 1,000,000 yards, against more than 8,000,000 in 1917 and practically 5,000,000 in 1914. Of ostrich feathers, in 1918 the imports were valued at nearly $1,000,000, against nearly $4,000,000 in 1914 and over $6,000,000 in 1913. In precious stones the total for 1918 was only about $32,000,000, against $47,000,000 in 1917 and $50,000,000 in 1913, while of pearls alone the value in 1918 was less than $2,000,000, against over $8,000,000 in 1917, and more than $10,000,000 in 1916.

In the articles of food usually classed as luxuries when imported, there was also a marked falling off. Cheese imported in 1918 amounted to about 9,000,000 pounds, against 15,000,000 in 1917 and 64,000,000 pounds in 1914. The 1918 entries of currants aggregated 5,000,000 pounds, against 25,000,000 in 1916 and 32,000,000 pounds in 1914.

Dates received here in the last fiscal period were down to 6,000,000 pounds, compared with 34,000,000 in 1914, while olives and olive oil showed totals in 1918 of about one-half those of the year before the war.

CUT REFRIGERATOR STYLES.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Manufacturers of household refrigerators were today advised by the Conservation Division of the War Industries Board that no new patterns and styles should be added during the war, and that the number of patterns and styles should be reduced to conserve materials, especially iron, steel, tin, solder, and porcelain.

Two grades only for refrigerators are suggested. Grade 1 is to consist of refrigerators with sheet metal, porcelain, opal glass, stone, monolithic, or other substances, not more than two of these linings to be used. Grade 2 is to consist of cheaper refrigerators, lined with sheet metal, either plain or enameled. The use of wood for all exteriors and the discontinuance of manufacture of steel and porcelain refrigerators, refrigerators with double lids and metal coolers, are among the suggestions.

As it is deemed imperative that the use of steel be confined to war industries, except where it is required to meet the essential demands of the civilian population, the conservation division particularly requests manufacturers to discontinue using iron or steel wherever it is practicable to adopt a substitute. It is requested also that manufacturers curtail their consumption of block or pig tin and tin oxides. This country is dependent upon overseas shipments for supplies of this metal and large quantities are required for the war program.

Steps have been taken to insure an increased production of sheet zinc and manufacturers of refrigerators should utilize this metal to replace iron or steel wherever possible, says the conservation division.

ASKS W. S. S. DRIVE SUPPORT

Director Allen Tells How Purchases Will Keep Army Going.

Frederic W. Allen, War Savings Director for Greater New York, yesterday called upon the business men of the city to rally to the support of their salesmen, who have undertaken to sell $25,000,000 worth of War Savings Stamps during the week of Aug. 22-29. He appealed to every firm employing salesmen of any kind to send them out on Thursday morning plentifully supplied with stamps, and to the people of New York to buy from the salesmen during the week to the limit of their ability. In his appeal he said:

"Investment in one War Savings Stamp will provide the Government with funds to purchase 100 rifle bullets.

"Investment in two War Savings Stamps will feed a soldier for a week.

"Investment in five War Savings Stamps will provide a soldier with a rifle.

"The person who invests in forty War Savings Stamps will provide the funds to arm a soldier, clothe him, equip him from head to foot, and start him overseas."

ROYALTIES ON ENEMY OPERAS SEIZED HERE

NEW JOB FOR CUSTODIAN

A. Mitchell Palmer, the Enemy Alien Property Custodian, invaded the field of light and heavy operas yesterday, not as an impresario, composer, or advocate of "art for art's sake, but as the collector of hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of royalties which formally accrued to enemy holders of American rights to Broadway hits.

All the royalties thus collected will be invested promptly in Liberty bonds, for which reason Uncle Sam's interest in the success of the Viennese operetta "Pom Pom," or Richard Strauss's "Salome" will be every bit as keen as that of any producer.

Versatile as they have been in reconstructing the management of most every type of German-owned business up to the present time, Mr. Palmer and the members of his staff had to confess yesterday that the manipulation of a crop of operettas, operas, plays, and playlets, not to speak of talking machine records, offered something entirely new to their experience.

However, just as they have been compelled to learn by experience how to continue the income producing powers of a German-owned shoe factory, so they expect to learn by further experience how to preserve the box office prestige of "Little Boy Blue," "Miss Springtime," and others, even after the enemy interest in these successes ceases to exist.

Making Exhaustive Inquiry.

Francis P. Garvan, Director of the Bureau of Investigation, is now conducting an exhaustive inquiry into the entire field of royalties, copyrights, patents, &c., as he is convinced that much enemy property of this kind is still lying about on Broadway, unreported to the Enemy Alien Property Custodian's office. Without impairing their box office values, Mr. Garvan will quietly seek to transfer all enemy control of American rights to musical and dramatic productions to the Government, no matter what they are.

On the list of enemy owned operettas in which Custodian Palmer seized the American rights yesterday are "Her Soldier Boy," "Alone at Last," "The Star Gazers," "Gypsy Love," "The Dollar Princess," "Pom Pom," "The Gay Hussars," "Sardi," "Little Boy Blue," "The Chocolate Soldier," "Miss Springtime," and "The Riviera Girl." Among the plays in the list are "Madam X" and "The Concert," and the grand operas include "Salome," Wolf Ferrari's "The Jewels of the Madonna," and "The Secret of Suzanne."

The German theatres in this country will suffer heavily, because the Alien Property Custodian has also taken over the American rights to whole repertoires of German plays, among them being many which have been produced at the big German theatre in Milwaukee and the German theatre in New York. They include "Das Kuckuck's Ei," "Das Buch Einer Frau," "Der Rettungsengel," "Griechisches Feuer," "Der Weibsteufel," "Des Pastors Rieke," "Fraulein Chef," "Die Schwebende "Fräulein Chef," "Die Schwebende Jungfrau," "Der Meister," "Die Spanische Fliege," "Eine Ehe," "Laura-Massiert," "Das Ratsel Weib," "Magdalena," "Frau Majas Rache," and "Lottchen's Geburstag."

Talking Machine Records Affected.

In the matter of royalties on talking-machine records the Alien Property Custodian's most notable seizure was that of the records of Mme. Emmy Destinn, the Metropolitan Opera prima donna, among the records being "Wiegenlied," "The Wedding," "My Homeland," "Good Night," "Pique Dame—Es dammert," "Pique Dame—O viens non," "Trovatore — Miserere," "Mignon—Kennst du das Land," "Madama Butterfly—Un bel di vedremo," "Aida—O patria mia," "Tosca — Vissi d'Arte e d'Amore," "Tannhäuser — Elizabeth's Gebet," "Magic Flute—Pamina's Air," "Pique Dame—Es geht auf Mitternacht," "Rusalke—Lieblicher Mond," "Trovatore—D'amor sull'ali rosee," "Ave Maria," "Die Bekehrte," "Quand je dors," "L'ultima Canzone," and "Guarany—Sento una forza indomita."

Among the musical compositions on the list are "Andante Religioso," "Berceuse," "Elegie," "Indian Lament," Dvorak-Kreisler's "Studien" for violin, and Mendelssohn's "Schuler Konzert Op. 213."

Professor A. Gudeman's "Latin Literature of the Empire," Arnold Kutner's "Commercial German," Mrs. K. C. H. Dreschel's "Grimms Simbads," Josepha Schrakamp's "German Readings," German juvenile book, "Max and Moritz," Professor Max Walker's "Beginners' German," John L. Stoddard's lectures, "Influence of the Bible on Civilization," and J. Weingren's publication, "Electric Power Station."

Mr. Stoddard is an American citizen, but is now living at Meran, Austria, hence his property is subject to seizure.

Old Guard Off for Rifle Practice.

The Old Guard Veteran Battalion, commanded by Major Edward Havemeyer Snyder, will leave its headquarters at 229 West Fifty-first Street this morning for Seagirt, N. J., for rifle practice until Aug. 24. On the last day of the practice, the Veteran Military Rifle Association, composed of teams from the 7th, 13th, 22d, 23d, and 71st Regiments, and the Old Guard Battalion will shoot for the Spencer Trophy, given to the association by General Bird W. Spencer of New Jersey, Inspector General of Rifle Practice of New Jersey, to be competed for annually.

REFER MITCHEL MEMORIAL.

Executive Board, After Discussion, Leaves Matter to Committee.

The form of the memorial to be erected in commemoration of the life and public service of John Purroy Mitchel, former Mayor of New York and Major in the Aviation Corps of the United States Army, has been referred to a special committee for settlement. A long session of the Executive Committee was held yesterday in the office of Robert Adamson, Chairman, 511 Fifth Avenue. He said that plans ranging from a public bath to a big water gate had been submitted. Proposals to use the old reservoir in Central Park for a playground, scholarships in some of the universities, and other suggestions have been offered.

"I was empowered to name a special committee of five," Mr. Adamson said after the meeting. "This committee will thrash out all the proposed plans and agree on one that to them seems most fitting and report back. I have asked George McAneny, Lamar Hardy, George W. Perkins, Alfred E. Smith, President of the Board of Aldermen, and Frank L. Dowling, President of the Borough of Manhattan, to act. When they will be ready is still indefinite."

WILL CONTINUE STRIKE.

Although 2,000 employes of Rosenwasser Brothers, at a meeting in Long Island City yesterday afternoon, continued their strike, after refusing to accept a compromise proposed by members of the firm, nearly normal production of gas mask bags, army leggings, shoes and aviators' coats was reported at the factory. The strike is now in its second week, and since it began the management of the plant, which has been working exclusively on war contracts, has been filling vacancies caused by the strike. The strikers are members of United Shoe Makers of America. Their local representative, following the meeting yesterday, made this statement:

"We met today in pursuance of the direction of Professor William Z. Ripley, Chairman of the Board of Administration of Labor Standards for Army Clothing. We invited a representative of the Rosenwasser firm to be present, and this invitation was accepted. The representative said the firm would continue to keep in its employ all the men who had been taken on since last week, but that they would give employment to former employes as vacancies occurred. We feel that the jobs belong to us. As we could not come to an agreement, we decided to present the matter to Professor Ripley at the conference which has been arranged for Thursday."

It was asserted yesterday that the strike had for a week held up production, not of gas masks, as previously reported, but of gas mask bags, the knapsacks in which the masks are carried by the soldier.

RUSSELLITES TO TESTIFY.

Accompanied by several deputy wardens from the penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., Alexander H. McMillan and William E. Van Amburgh, two of the leaders of the International Bible Students' Association, founded by the late "Pastor" Charles Taze Russell, arrived in Brooklyn yesterday.

The two men, with the six other leaders of the Russellite organizations who were convicted of conspiracy to defeat the purposes of the Selective Draft act, have been serving their terms in prison to which they were sentenced by Judge H. B. Howe last June. They have been brought to this city to testify at the trial of William F. Hudgings, a worker of the society. The trial will begin today before Judge Thomas I. Chatfield.

JAPANESE FETE AT CAPITAL.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand entertained a small company of officials of the Embassy staff in their box for the Japanese fête in the garden of the Club de Vingt, given tonight for the benefit of the Free Milk for France Fund. The Japanese play was followed by the fox dance done by Michio Itow.

Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. McAdoo came to Washington this morning from White Sulphur Springs, where they have a cottage for the Summer.

Secretary of War Baker and his daughter, Miss Betty Baker, returned this morning from Pottstown, Penn., where, with Mrs. Baker, they motored on Sunday. Mrs. Baker returned this evening by motor. During their stay in Pottstown they were the guests of Mrs. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Leopold.

Dr. Elizalde, the Minister from Ecuador, went to Charnian, Penn., Saturday, to spend several days with Mme. Elizalde and their children.

WED AT PELHAM BAY CAMP.

Pelham Bay Naval Training Camp had its first wedding yesterday afternoon when Miss Grace Franklin, daughter of the Commandant of the station, Commander William B. Franklin, and Mrs. Franklin, was married to Lieutenant William Murray Black, Jr., of the Field Artillery Corps, U. S. A., son of Major Gen. and Mrs. William Murray Black of Washington, D. C.

The ceremony was attended by all the picturesqueness of army-navy nuptials, the Rev. Lea Luquer and the Rev. McVickar Haight, camp chaplain, officiating.

The scene of the marriage was in the living room of the officers' clubhouse, formerly the old Adee homestead, which was decorated in pink and white. Officers of the station formed an aisle through which the bridal party passed. The meditation from "Thais" was played during the ceremony, and the bridal march, composed by Bandmaster William Schroder, was rendered by an orchestra of forty pieces.

Late Senator's Granddaughter Marries Shelton Hale.

Shelton Hale, a son of Mrs. Annie Riley Hale of 12 East 85th Street, New York, and Miss Mehetabel Sherman Evarts, a daughter of the late Maxwell Evarts and of Mrs. Margaret A. S. Evarts, were married last Saturday in St. Paul's Church at Windsor, Vt., where the Evarts country place, Juniper Hill Farm, is situated. The engagement was announced last March.

Mr. Hale has been in Washington, D. C., as Assistant Secretary of the War Trade Board.

Mrs. Hale is a granddaughter of the late Senator William M. Evarts, and the ceremony was performed by her uncle, the Rev. Prescott Evarts, and the Rev. P. C. Manzer. The bride is the sister of the Misses Margaret, Mary and Josephine Evarts and of Sherman and Jeremiah Evarts.

Phillips-Fitzgibbon Engagement.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Margaret Louise Phillips, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob L. Phillips, of 49 East Sixty-seventh Street, this city, to Lieutenant James E. Fitzgibbon, 310th Cavalry, U. S. A., now stationed at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzgibbon of New York, and a nephew of ex-United States Senator O'Gorman.

Miss Phillips' marriage will take place tomorrow in the Lady Chapel of St. Patrick's Cathedral, and a small reception will be held at the Plaza.

'ZOOMING' THRILLS A FLIER IN FRANCE

The training of American aviators in France has been marked by much kindly interest on the part of the French people who see them at close range, just as others here at home are observed almost daily by hundreds of persons in the suburbs of New York and all cities near the camps. The following letter describes some experiences of one of our new fliers in an aviation instruction centre oversea:

"I went 'hedge hopping' last night. 'Hedge hopping' is the fanciful name for flying low. I think it is perhaps the most exhilarating—and dangerous—of all phases of flying, even including acrobatics. It is the splendid sensation of tremendous power and matchless speed. No other sensation is to be compared with it.

"I had a nap in the mid-afternoon, and when I came out and found the air balmy I felt exceedingly fit. I climbed into machine No. —, and, finding her turning up 1,300 revolutions per minute, I even felt coltish. I taxied out to the line, the starter gave me the 'Come across,' and I jumped her off the ground.

"The air was lying as level as the Dead Sea. I sat there in the boat and tried to single, but gave that up when I could not hear my own voice for the motor.

"Then there flashed across my mind the idea of giving Jacqueline a thrill. Jacqueline, you remember, is the 'Rose of France' who live in the big château on the hill. I climbed until I could see her tower and then, straight as a bee, I made for it. When I came near I I did a few Coney Island scenic railway dips, by way of a greeting. She says she can always tell when it is I by the way I 'sign myself' in the air. I didn't get any answer—apparently they were all inside—so I went down where they could hear me. They came out on the terrace and waved as I went by with a rush.

"I then climbed up to the regulation 1,200 meters and pulled my very best bet—a 'renerversement.' It is not difficult with these machines because they take their time and one can go through the formula, 'Pull—kick—cut and give 'em the gun again, quite deliberately. The old bus pokes her nose up into the air to a stall, the kick on the rudder turns her over on her side, and she slips quite naturally into a straight dive, which is the only terrifying moment, and then comes out of it as smooth and easy as sliding down the banisters.

"I prefer to do my stunts over 'her' house because, if I must fall, it would be an ideal place, and to wake up and find her holding me by the hand wouldn't be half bad. I would start singing, 'Je ne veux pas guerir,' or as Americans sing it, 'I don't want to get well.'

"I dived down by the château and waved and headed for home because I was supposed to be doing some 'hops.' I hadn't been missed, so I did my quota of 'hops,' which have nothing to do with malted liquor but are merely practice landings.

"It was 9 o'clock and the sun was down, but it was not yet dark when I climbed into another machine to 'run it up' on the blocks for the 'mechano' who was trying to discover what was the trouble. It was dirty spark plugs, and when he had replaced them she tuned up so beautifully I decided to take her around once. He pulled the blocks out, and as everybody else, including the 'Chef,' had gone in, there was no one to say me nay when I took off.

"Still feeling coltish, I headed again for Jacqueline's. As I was almost there an impudent little 'pup' from the Observers' School came up where I was and nosed around. To throw him off the scent I went on over the château and, when he turned for the camp, I dropped down low over Jacqueline's beautiful Corot forest and, just skimming the trees, I came back. Looking down, I could see the backwash of my 'prop' waving the trees.

"They came running out on the terrace and waved. I turned sharply and, putting one wing down almost on the weather vane, I made circles above them. Then I went down the valley and came back on a level with them. I 'gave 'er all the gun' and 'zoomed' the château—that is, I almost went up the front of the place. It was too close for comfort, and I don't know what they thought of me, because I probably gave them a fright.

"That 'zooming' was fun, and going back I tried it some more. Technically, it is contour-flying and is strictly 'defendu' for such as me. I know I shall be ruined for anything else from now on. In Middle Tennessee they say if you teach a horse to jump fences he is no good after that because he likes it too well.

"I dipped into the valley, picking up speed all the way. I headed straight for some tall Lombardy poplars and actually I climbed them, or, rather, jumped them. After that I zoomed every lone tree in a field and hopped every hedge, although, in fact, it was getting so dark it was risky. I went down to speak to every farmhouse, and when the barnyard fowl began to run for cover I would shoot up into the sky again.

"It is as different from ordinary flying as riding an Indian or Harley-Davidson is from motoring, only it is a hundred thousand times more thrilling than motor-biking. It is smooth like motor-boating and you have the same wave motion and the sensation of rushing movement. It is more thrilling than aquaplaning—that kingly sport, consisting of being towed on a board behind a fast motor boat. It partakes of the elements of all these.

"The ground flows past in a magnificent stream. Flying at an altitude is like floating, and if it were not for the beauty of the clouds above and landscape below it would be monotonous; but not so with flying low, where one has to be alert and quick. It is really dangerous because, if the motor 'poops,' it means either sudden extinction or miraculous escape. There is no time to think, and, even if you thought, there is nothing that you could do about it.

"Don't worry, I won't do it often—I can't afford to take the chance when I am needed up front.

"I found the field—it was not easy—and circled and landed into where the wind should have been if there had been any. I was coming down on a beautiful glide. I began to redress, when—bump! it was the ground ten feet closer than I had expected. It was really too dark to see well, but nothing was hurt.

"Somewhere in France."

San Salvador Reforms Urged.

SAN SALVADOR, Aug. 18.—United action by the cities of San Salvador in pressing social reforms upon the President is urged in a telegram sent to the various cities of the country by the municipality of Santiago de Maria. The cities are asked to convoke meetings to pass resolutions requesting the Chief Executive to convoke a constituent assembly that shall frame and sign a political constitution based on the demands of social reform.

"Big Bill" Edwards to Run.

The feature event at the annual outing of the employes of the Third, or Upper Manhattan, Internal Revenue District, to be held next Saturday at Donnelly's Grove, College Point, according to the Committee of Arrangements, is to be a one-mile race between Collector Mark Eisner of the Third, who weighs 175 pounds, and ("Big Bill") William H. Edwards, Collector of the Second, or Wall Street, Revenue District. Mr. Edwards, who tips the scales at 300 pounds or more, was formerly a well-known Princeton football player. In addition to this event, the committee announces a baseball game, potato races, knitting contests for the women employes, shot-put, and hammer-throwing contests. Collector Henry P. Keith of the Brooklyn Revenue Office and others have been invited.

TO STABILIZE OIL PRICES.

Fuel Administration Accepts War Service Committee's Plan.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Plans for the stabilization of petroleum prices, recommended by the National Petroleum War Service Committee in New York last week, were accepted today by the Fuel Administration, which announced its belief that the agreement would prevent any radical change in prices of gasoline and other oil products to consumers.

The plan provides generally for maximum premiums for oil of various grades in the fields throughout the country. As far as practicable, the flow of oil through existing channels will continue and protection as to prices and supplies is assured to small refiners.

The Fuel Administration, the statement says, is also endeavoring to have established fair differentials for refiners and distributers.

McCALL QUITS SENATE RACE.

Massachusetts Governor May Retire from Political Arena.

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—Governor McCall today announced he had reconsidered his decision to become a candidate for the Republican Senatorial nomination. An intimation that he contemplated withdrawing from the political arena altogether was contained in his statement, which said:

"As it is most unlikely I shall ever again appear before the people of the commonwealth for their suffrage, I take this occasion to thank them most deeply for the generous confidence they have given me."

Governor McCall's withdrawal leaves the field clear at present for Senator John W. Weeks, whose campaign for renomination is already under way. The Governor, in explaining his withdrawal, said that he had desired to dispense with a personal canvass, but had been advised that under the present conditions one would be necessary.

"I feel strongly," he continued, "that to do this would be out of tune with the time. The hearts of our people are beyond the seas. Poor time it is to drag out personal claims into the day and shriek out one's virtues to the passer-by."

MRS. BELMONT PROTESTS.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, at the headquarters in this city of the National Women's Party yesterday, deplored the conditions in the Washington jail where suffragettes were locked up following a demonstration held opposite the White House on Aug. 14. She declared that women would continue "to demand justice in spite of arrests and imprisonments." On Saturday Miss Vivian Pierce, editor of The Suffragist, the organ of the National Woman's Party, announced that another demonstration was to be held in Washington this week, probably on Thursday, and that she had come to New York to enlist the support of women here. "The five by seven cells," said Mrs. Belmont, "in which the prisoners are confined are lit only from the corridor, the windows being twelve feet above the floor, with no sky visible. In addition all suffrage prisoners are refused books, papers, warm clothing, or visits from friends. Enemy alien in our internment camps are treated with more consideration than these women, who are simply contending for the right of free speech."

EX-GOV. G. H. PROUTY KILLED

SHERBROOKE, Quebec, Aug. 19.—G. H. Prouty, formerly Governor of Vermont, was killed when an automobile in which he was riding was struck by a Grand Trunk train near Waterville today.

Mr. Prouty was on his way from Newport, Vt., to take a train at Lennoxville for Jackman, Me., when the chauffeur failed to observe the approaching engine, owing to a dense fog. Mr. Prouty was instantly killed. The chauffeur, J. W. Blay, was taken to the Sherbrooke Hospital, suffering from concussion of the brain.

NEWPORT, Vt., Aug. 19.—Former Gov. Prouty, who was killed near Waterville, P. Q., today, had left his home here to go to the Moosehead Lake region in Maine. Mr. Prouty was manager of a large lumber business. He had served in both branches of the Vermont Legislature and as Lieutenant Governor, and was Governor from 1908 to 1910.

GALLINGER'S BODY IN STATE

Senator's Funeral to be Held in Concord Tomorrow.

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 19.—The body of United States Senator Gallinger, who died in Franklin Saturday, will lie in state in Doric Hall at the State House here next Wednesday between the hours of 11 A. M. and 1 P. M. All State offices will be closed during that time. The funeral service will be held at the First Baptist Church at 2 o'clock on that day.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Tribute to the late Senator Gallinger, minority leader, was paid in the Senate today by Senator Nelson of Minnesota, in moving that adjournment be taken at once out of respect to his memory. Senator Nelson introduced a resolution, which was unanimously adopted, eulogizing the New Hampshire Senator, and providing for the holding of memorial services.

Both the Senate and House adjourned after appointing committees to attend Senator Gallinger's funeral, which will be held at Concord Wednesday.

250,000 Chinese Flood Sufferers.

HONG KONG, Aug. 17, (Associated Press.)—Five thousand persons are homeless and 250,000 are without proper food as a result of a flood in the Tung-Kiang River. The American Red Cross is providing temporary relief.

PERSHING DEMANDS CLEAN LIFE IN ARMY

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 19, (Associated Press.)—In a general order just issued, General Pershing addresses the army frankly on the social evil, and urges continence as "the plain duty of every member of the American Expeditionary Forces, both for the vigorous conduct of the war and the clean health of the American people after the war."

General Pershing directs the commanding officers to urge moral cleanliness on the men as their duty as soldiers and the best training for enforced cleanness of life at the front. The order prescribes more rigid control of leaves of absence and directs courts-martial to exercise severity in dealing with infected men.

The order makes all immoral resorts "off limits," and in co-operation with the French police, both military and civil, takes steps to repress clandestine evasion of the order.

PERSHING THANKS KNIGHTS.

Message to K. of C. Tells of Substantial Aid Rendered Army.

Aug. 17, 1918.

James A. Flaherty,
K. of C. Headquarters,
461 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

I wish on behalf of the troops under my command to thank your organization, not only for the generous and inspiring message, but for the substantial service it is rendering for the army in France.

PERSHING.

The dispatch was in reply to one sent to General Pershing on Aug. 6, when the Knights opened their "Victory" convention at the Waldorf-Astoria. The message conveyed the good wishes of the organization, and gave assurance that all of the 420,000 members of the order were behind the American forces to a man, and were pledged without qualification to back them to the limit, both as an organization and as individuals.

Chairman William J. Mulligan of the Knights of Columbus War Activities Committee, and William P. Larkin, National Director from New York, issued a statement yesterday, saying that the Knights of Columbus were not engaged in any drive at present for funds in Manhattan and the Bronx, and were in no way interested in block parties or any other functions purporting to produce funds for K. of C. purposes in these boroughs.

BAKER REPLIES TO K. OF C.

Denies Religious Distinction is Involved in Dual Drive.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Replying to a criticism by James A. Flaherty, Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus, that religious distinctions were involved in the plan of the War Department for a combination campaign in January to raise funds for the war recreation work of the Knights of Columbus and the Jewish Welfare Board, following a similar drive in November for the Y. M. C. A., and three other agencies, Secretary Baker telegraphed Mr. Flaherty today that "no religious distinctions were thought of when the plan was framed."

The Secretary pointed out that dual campaigns had been arranged because it had been found impracticable to have a single drive for all agencies, and that campaigns for the Catholic and Jewish funds had been placed in January simply because a preference had been expressed for that time. The Secretary expressed the hope that next year there could be a common drive to raise funds for all agencies.

REV. DR. WM. S. JONES DEAD.

The Rev. Dr. William Strother Jones, senior curate of St. Thomas's Church, Fifth Avenue and Fifty-third Street, until his resignation in June because of ill-health, died yesterday at his home in Alexandria, Va. Dr. Jones was about 66 years old. He is survived by his wife and three sons, who are in the navy. Dr. Jones had been in frail health for more than a year.

He had been senior curate at St. Thomas's since 1914. Born in Fauquier County, Va., a son of James Fitzgerald Jones and Anne Lewis Marshall Jones, he was graduated from Washington and Lee University, and later from Virginia Theological Seminary. He was ordained a priest of the Protestant Episcopal Church in 1877. In 1894 he received the degree of D. D. from Washington and Lee.

Dr. Jones was first appointed rector of the Episcopal Church at Casanova, Va., serving there until 1879, when he took charge of a parish in Maryland. From 1888 to 1894 he was pastor of St. Paul's at Fairfield, Conn. From 1896 to 1908 he was rector of St. Michael's Church, Trenton, N. J. In 1910 he went to St. Paul's at Erie, Penn., coming to St. Thomas's in 1914. Dr. Jones was a delegate to the General Conventions of the Episcopal Church in 1904, 1907, and 1913.

John William Devoy.

Drowns in Central Park Lake.

John Fleming, 9 years old, of 438 West Forty-ninth Street was drowned yesterday in the big lake in Central Park. He had been in swimming and he afforded amusement to the soldiers and sailors rowing about the lake by giving imitations of a sailor leaping from a torpedoed ship. According to the boy's companions, he was attacked by cramps and went down before any one could reach him. The police recovered the body.

CALDWELL IS A BUSY MAN

The only thing at issue between the Yanks and the world's champion White Sox at the Polo Grounds yesterday was the little detail about staying in the first division. Chicago decided that it wanted to get up among the first four, so it won the game, 4 to 1, and shoved the Yanks down among the also-present bunch.

Jack Quinn, who used to pitch for the Yanks on the old Hilltop years back, has been dug out of the bushes, dusted off, polished up a bit, and set to work pitching again, and hasn't lost a game since he was thoroughly renovated. The funny part of it is that Manager Miller Huggins maintains that Jack Quinn is the property of the Yanks. Arguing along that line, Quinn's victory yesterday might go to the credit of the Yanks by a stretch of the imagination, but, as baseball imaginations are not stretching just now, it doesn't.

Jean Jacques Fournier, who is now first-basing for the Yanks, has been awarded to the Chicago White Sox, but he is still playing with the Yanks. It would seem to a man up a tree that whatever the National Commission says nowadays goes for Sweeney. One word from the commission, and the players do as they please.

Another funny case is that of Ray Caldwell. Ray is said to have pitched a game for a shipyard team in Weehawken on Saturday, and is also said to have played centre field on the same team Sunday. Yet he was back in his Yank uniform losing a game yesterday. The only time that Ray isn't playing baseball is when he eats his meals.

While Jack Quinn, claimed by the Yanks, was beating the same Yanks, Fournier, claimed by the White Sox, was trying his best to beat the same White Sox. Jacques crashed out a triple, a double, and a single, but they didn't do much good. It was not until the Yanks grouped two hits in the ninth that they were able to score on an infield out.

The White Sox got their first run in the third, when Schalk got a pass and Quinn skied to Lamar. Good propelled a two-bagger to left, which gave Schalk a ride all the way home. Another was hatched in the seventh. Gandil singled to left, while John Collins flied to Hyatt. Mostil, a semi-pro player from Chicago, whacked a triple to centre and scored Gandil.

Quinn walked in the eighth and Good fanned. Liebold walked, and Weaver rolled an easy grounder to Caldwell, who tossed to Fournier, Jacques allowing the ball to waft through him. Quinn counted on the play, Liebold went to third, and Weaver to second. Gandil lofted a sacrifice fly to Lamar, and Liebold scored.

GIANTS AND PIRATES DIVIDE DOUBLE BILL

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 19.—The Giants got an even break with the Pirates in today's double-header, losing the first game, 8 to 1, and winning the second, 2 to 1. In the opener Cecil Causey was hit hard, while two errors committed by Eddie Sicking helped to swell the total of Pittsburgh runs. Ralph Comstock, who opposed Causey, yielded nine safe blows, but kept them so well scattered that a minimum of damage was done. Fred Toney, hurled the second game for New York, and was in good form, while Wilbur Cooper was only a trifle less effective.

The Pirates got to Causey for a run in the second inning of the first game, when McKechnie reached first on a fumble by Sicking, stole second, and scored on a single by Schmidt. They were overtaken by McGraw's men in the third on Burns's single, his steal of second, Kauff's out, and an infield hit by Doyle.

In the fourth, McKechnie's triple, a pass to Schmidt, and an error by Sicking gave the Pirates a run and put them again in the lead. They scored three runs in the fifth. Carey beat out a hit, and and raced to third on Southworth's double. Cutshaw tripled, scoring Carey and Southworth, and on the squeeze play Cutshaw scored. McKechnie singled and stole second, and Schmidt also singled, but McKechnie was out trying to score.

In the sixth a single by Comstock, a pass to Bigbee, Southworth's single and steal of second, and a single by Cutshaw scored three runs. Causey retired in the seventh to allow Wilhoit to bat for him, and Al Demaree finished the pastime and prevented further scoring.

The Giants hopped on Cooper in the first inning of the second game and bumped him for a run. Burns opened with a single, and after Thorpe had flied out Kauff walked. Doyle forced Kauff, Burns reaching third, and on a double steal Burns scored. In the sixth Burns again led off with a single; but was forced by Thorpe. Kauff was thrown out by Cutshaw, but Doyle doubled, scoring Thorpe.

For eight innings Toney held the Pirates to three hits. In the ninth, however, the Pirates nicked him for three hits in a row and had him in a bad hole, but he extricated himself, with the aid of Arthur Fletcher. The scores:

The New Studebaker Sedan

Beautiful in Design—Thoroughly Modern—Mechanically Right

Studebaker

Eight solid upright posts, extending from floor to roof, lend a solidity to the New Studebaker Sedan that makes this car particularly free from annoying rattles.

Local Swimmers Help Soldiers Open New Tank.

Lieutenant Ludy Langer of Camp Gordon, Ga., and Leo Giebel and Cyril Carroll of the New York A. C., gave soldiers stationed at Camp Mills exhibitions of their aquatic prowess yesterday. The occasion was the inaugural swimming meet of the newly constructed camp pool, under the combined auspices of the New York A. C. and the War Camp Community Service.

Langer and Giebel were opponents in a 300-yard swim, which was won by Langer, who just managed to touch off ahead of Giebel at the finish, after a nip-and-tuck race, in 3:34 2-5. Carroll, without competition, plunged 65 feet in his best trial, while Giebel gave the soldiers an exhibition of back-stroke swimming.

The soldiers' races were at 33 yards and 66 yards. The shorter race was won by Private A. C. Gault of the Headquarters Division, 64th Infantry, who swam the 33 yards in 0:23 3-5. He was followed by Private James Trahey of Camp Mills, while Corporal H. T. Johnson, Quartermaster's Corps, gained third prize.

In the 66-yard race Private H. J. Przystalski, Company H, 50th Infantry, was the winner, in 1:03 3-5. Field Clerk W. A. Stephens, Camp Headquarters, finished second and Private J. C. Korns, Company H, 50th Infantry, was third.

TO ARRANGE WORLD SERIES.

National Commission to Meet in Cincinnati Today.

John A. Heydler, acting President of the National League, went to Cincinnati yesterday to attend a meeting of the National Commission, which will be held there today. The commission has been called to discuss plans for the world's series, as it is pretty certain now that the contests will bring together the Chicago Cubs and the Boston Red Sox.

Arrangements will probably be made to begin the series on either Sept. 3 or 4. Some of the players on both the Chicago and Boston clubs still have some doubt whether the Government sanctions the series, and they will ask the commission for some assurance that there will be no interference on the part of the draft boards before any consent to play.

Both President Heydler and August Herrmann, Chairman of the commission, are in favor of playing the series, but there is some doubt about Ban Johnson's stand in the matter. Johnson wanted to close the season today and play the series before Sept. 1, but was overruled. Johnson may object to the American League playing after Sept. 2 unless baseball leaders get the sanction of the Government.

DIRECTUM J. FIRST IN PACE.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Spirited racing marked the opening day of the Grand Circuit at Poughkeepsie. Directum J., piloted by Thomas W. Murphy, won the Belmont, 2:05 pace, with comparative ease, but the other races were all hard fought.

In the 2:07 pace Lizzie March took the first heat, with four horses finishing abreast. In the second, Rowe went out in the lead with Baron Atta and was never headed. Baron Atta also led to within a few feet of the wire in the third heat, Betsy Hamlin, driven by Cox, beating him by a neck. With the three heat winners starting in the final heat, Betsy Hamlin again outstayed Baron Atta.

Dundee Outpoints Touhey.

Johnny Dundee outpointed Tommy Touhey of Paterson in an eight-round bout at the Armory A. A. of Jersey City last night. Four of the rounds were undeniably Dundee's, while two of the others showed Touhey at his best. The remaining two rounds were even. In the fifth round Dundee scored a knock down, but the damage done was only slight.

LONG SHOTS REVEL IN RACING AT SPA

SARATOGA, Aug. 19.—This was Red Cross Day at the races, all receipts being turned over to the war charity, as was the case on Red Cross days at the New York tracks. The layers of odds shared in the plunder, for only one favorite won and three of the successful horses were quoted at 12 to 1 or better.

One of the big surprises came in the Red Cross Handicap at a mile in which A. K. Macomber's Hollister was an odds on choice. Buxton had the mount on Hollister, but after getting away well and racing with the Woodland Stock Farms' Slippery Elm for the first quarter, he dropped back and was neatly pocketed in the run along the back stretch. Buxton came on the inside at the home turn, but without advantage, as he was forced to go to the outside again.

There was a close finish in the last race, won by A. K. Macomber's War Kiss, a 20 to 1 shot. R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s Minuet, the favorite, came with a rush at the finish and most of the spectators thought she had gained the verdict. There was a hostile demonstration when the number of War Kiss was placed at the top of the board.

Andrew Miller's Roamer, which is to try for the mile record on Wednesday, had his last speedy workout for the test today. Carrying more weight than he will pick up in the trial, he went a mile and a furlong in 1:51 1-5

The summaries:

MAKE TENNIS DRAW TODAY.

Representative Field of Contestants for National Singles Tourney.

The draw for the national singles tennis championship, which begins on the courts of the West Side Tennis Club Aug. 26, will be made at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the office of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, 20 Broad Street.

Headed by Robert Lindley Murray and Ichyia Kumagae, who rank the highest of any who have entered, the field of contestants will represent all sections of the country. Furthermore, it will bring together several of the best juniors, as well as the veterans, so that it will be typical of tennis conditions prevailing this season.

The tournament is expected to make an appeal to the public not only because it offers the best tennis of the year, but because it is being played for the benefit of the War and Navy Departments' Commissions on Training Camp Activities, to provide athletic facilities for men in the service. Harry Parker, 101 Park Avenue, Treasurer of the fund, reports an increasing number of inquiries for season tickets. These tickets can be had in advance only by application to him.

GOVERNMENT SEEKS RE-EDUCATION DATA

MANY TURN TO FARM WORK

Surprisingly Large Number of Occupations Open to Those Bereft of Hearing.

The term "re-education" is often a misnomer for what turns out to be the primary initial education of the soldier. In many cases the cripple, the nervous wreck, will receive for the first time in his life the vocational training that he should have received early in life, when in possession of all his faculties. But re-education is the complete, albeit tardy, recognition of the right of the citizen to be fully equipped for the economic struggle. The disabilities resulting from the ordeal of the battlefield may in many cases be no more severe than the congenital defects of many a man who has stayed peacefully at home. Yet the latter has seldom enjoyed the advantages of a specialized education which would take into account his specific defects and prescribe for them. The surest path to the effective solution of the problem of the returned soldier is found in the complete and expert analysis of the effect of the training which has already been given in greater or less degree to those among the civilian population who have suffered from similar defects.

Such an analysis has just been made and published by the Government Census Bureau. It concerns the deaf mute, and in its survey of the occupations and the means of communication of this type of defective it throws light upon the problem of the soldier who has had his hearing destroyed by shell fire. Obviously there are differences between the congenitally deaf and those who have lost their hearing after many years of schooling and practice in the use of language, but the general problem remains the same. First, the loss of hearing may incapacitate the man for the occupation in which he was formerly engaged. Investigation of the trades in which the deaf are now profitably employed should throw light upon the work to which he may turn his hands after the Government has thoroughly trained him in it. Second, he must be given new and effective means of communicating with his fellow men. The standard practice and the results obtained therefrom are enlightening.

According to the census enumeration, there are 44,708 deaf-and-dumb persons in the United States. To each of these there has been sent a schedule of thirty-six questions. About half the number answered the questions, and, although this may seem a small proportion, it is felt, from the character of the answers and the kind of people that made them, that the information obtained is typical for the whole group. The answers were classified with respect to geographic distribution of the deaf and dumb, sex, race, and nativity, country of birth of foreign-born white deaf-mutes, age, marital condition, age when hearing was lost, cause of deafness, heredity and deafness, education, means of communication and ability to read lips, and occupations and economic status.

That there is no dearth of jobs for the deaf mutes is shown by the number of kinds of work they are already engaging in. The farmers are the most important numerically and it is striking to note that in just this field where they excel the deaf mutes will find the greatest number of opportunities, and also may render the highest patriotic service. The farmers represent about one-seventh of the total number of deaf and dumb males gainfully employed who returned schedules to the Bureau. It is interesting to note that this percentage is approximately the same as the corresponding proportion for the general male population 10 years of age or over gainfully employed.

Agricultural laborers, not including those on the home farms or connected with the stock raising industry, ranked next, forming about one-eighth of the total, and agricultural laborers on the home farm third, with 8 per cent. of the total. These three occupations together comprised about one-third of the total, a proportion practically the same as that for the total male population 10 years of age or over gainfully employed. Then there are the printers, lithographers, pressmen, custom workers on boots and shoes, carpenters, tailors, painters, glaziers, lumber mill workers, cabinet workers, tobacco and cigar workers, foundry and metal workers.

Obviously there are certain general classes of occupations from which deaf mutes are by reason of their defect more or less debarred, whereas in others their defect would be little, if any, handicap. The returns show that deafmutism constitutes less of a bar to employment in manufacturing and mechanical pursuits and building and hand trades than in any other broad occupational group since nearly one-half of the deaf mutes were in them, while only one-third of the general population were so engaged.

We too often think of the deaf as going through life making gestures in order to get themselves understood, but it has been proved over and over again that even the congenitally deaf can be taught to speak in the vast majority of instances, and moreover can be made to understand others by watching the lips. In this sense the defective is put upon exactly the same plane as the normal person. In fact, 25 per cent. of the deaf can now communicate by speech, and 33 per cent. of them can read the lips of others. So if the worker can learn a trade and be as efficient at it as his hearing neighbor, and can communicate with every one by the use of ordinary speech, he enjoys the essentials of democracy, that is, equal opportunity. Since we are fighting for democracy, the policy of the Government in bringing about this state of affairs by re-education conforms with the aims of the war.

That the country has not been unmindful of its afflicted is attested by the fact that the laws of twenty-two States provide especially for the compulsory education of the deaf, while in the Constitutions of twenty-nine there are references to institutions for the deaf, stating, usually, that such institutions must be established and maintained by the State, or that it is the duty of the Legislature to provide by law for the education of the deaf.

Throughout the United States there are now 47 public residential schools, 37 private residential schools, 76 public day schools, and 4 homes for the aged deaf.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

The market on the Consolidated Exchange yesterday closed dull but firm. Final quotations in the standard issues were about the highest for the day, but the gains registered were fractional. The market was narrow throughout the session, and the volume of trading was confined to a few stocks.

AT A SPECIAL TERM, PART I, OF THE Supreme Court of the State of New York, held in and for the County of New York, at the County Court House, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 22d day of July, 1918. Present: Hon. John V. McAvoy, Justice.

On reading and filing the petition of Joseph B. Greenhut, Benedict J. Greenhut, William T. Black, Ely R. Wolfner, Jacob G. Cohen, Jerome Siegel, Leo Schlesinger and Frank I. Tomlins, constituting a majority of the Board of Directors of Greenhut Company, Inc., a corporation created under the laws of the State of New York, having its principal office located in the County of New York, and the schedule thereto annexed, duly verified by the petitioners on the 15th day of July, 1918, from which it appears that the case is one of those specified in section 170 of the General Corporation Laws, and it further appearing to the satisfaction of the court from said petition that it would be beneficial to the interest of the stockholders that the corporation should be dissolved, and on reading and filing notice of this application, dated July 15th, 1918, with proof of due service thereof, and of said petition and schedules, and a copy of this order on the Attorney-General of the State of New York;

And after hearing Rose & Paskus, attorneys for the petitioners, and no one appearing representing the Attorney-General, and Hughes, Rounds, Schurman and Dwight appearing on behalf of committee representing Class M of preferred stockholders and not opposing;

Now, on motion of Rose & Paskus, attorneys for the petitioners, it is Ordered that all persons interested in said corporation show cause, before me or one of the justices of this court, at a Special Term, Part I thereof, to be held at the County Court House, County of New York, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 9th day of September, 1918, at 10:15 o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, why the said corporation should not be dissolved, and why an order should not be entered accordingly with such provisions as may be proper; and it is further Ordered that a copy of this order be published at least once in each of the three weeks immediately preceding said 9th day of September, 1918, in the New York Times and New York Law Journal, newspapers published in the County of New York.

Protecting Prosperity

The present condition of prosperity is perilous. None who are familiar with the past can doubt it. The reaction will be proportionate to the present inflation.

At such a time as this, American Credit Insurance furnishes a bulwark of safety to manufacturers and wholesalers, against the uncertainties of trade. It assures, under policies of unusual clearness and liberality, against excessive losses through sudden mishaps—against temporary or prolonged reaction through falling prices or any other cause.

The American's Unlimited Policy not only insures against abnormal credit losses; it serves to prevent losses. It provides for the collection of all covered accounts not over 45 days past due, or the loss is provable under the bond.

Such service is of tremendous protective value, not only to the individual business man, but to the whole community as well. The full particulars will gladly be sent free to any manufacturer or wholesaler upon request.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Drag, with No New Influences at Work—Government Bonds Stronger.

The new week opened with the market situation unchanged in any respect. The war news continued good over Sunday, with hopes of allied success in Russia; the differences between the Secretary of the Treasury and Representative Kitchin over the exact form of the new war profits tax seem likely of settlement shortly; and money was still to be had at 6 per cent., provided the brokers did not require too much. Under such conditions it was hardly surprising that the usual midsummer dullness was not disturbed by performances on the Stock Exchange. The usual amount of professional business was supplemented by a very small amount of outside buying. All told, the day's transactions could easily have been cleared away in the forenoon without putting any undue strain on the brokers.

Price changes in such a market mean nothing, except as they reflect firmness. There is unquestionably a latent buying power which is awaiting the beginning of a broader movement, but the average investor is frankly puzzled by the question of adjusting business to meet the increasing dominance of Government orders in almost every line, and he prefers to hold aloof until the course of probable after-war developments is indicated.

The recommendation from Mr. McAdoo that State and municipal issues be made subject to Federal income taxes has divided opinion among bankers and bond experts both as to the advisability of such a change, and as to the Government's constitutional right to make it. In the meantime the supply of Liberty 3½s, carrying the tax exemption privilege, has not been increased by offerings from investors to whom the exemption has no direct value as rapidly as orders for this issue. Yesterday's sales were made at from 101 at the opening, an advance of a full half-point over the last price recorded on the Stock Exchange, though sales were made over the counter at that figure on Saturday, to 101.06. Municipals were inclined to heaviness by way of discounting the possibility of their removal from the favored class of tax exempts. Dealers say that if Secretary McAdoo has his way it might make a difference of from 1 to 2 per cent. in the price of outstanding municipals.

TRADING IN LONDON FIRM.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Trading on the Stock Exchange developed firmness today. Activity was confined to British railway stocks, notably those of the non-dividend paying division.

In view of monetary conditions, funds were firmly held. Russian securities were neglected, pending developments. Honduran bonds took a fresh stride forward, but speculative Brazilian railway issues experienced another relapse. Oil stocks showed renewed strength.

Rubber Company Earnings.

The second half of the year is wont to bring smaller earnings to the rubber companies than the first half. The situation this year promises to be less conducive to preliminary estimates of future results than at other times, because of restrictions put on shipments of raw material into the country and the curtailment of the automobile industry. Even at that, it would seem that the major manufacturers will have little to complain about. The Goodrich Company, for one, has already reported an excellent six months to June 30. The United States Rubber Company is understood to have earned a net income of $10,242,300 in the first half of the year, a gain of approximately $3,000,000 over the same period of 1917 and the equivalent of more than $21 a share of common stock after providing for the preferred stock dividend.

Houston Oil Moves Up.

Houston Oil, that erratic stock on the Curb, was one of the few outside issues to display strength yesterday, gaining 1¼ points. The rise occurred after announcement was made of the bringing in of a second well on the company's newly developed property in Texas. The appearance of real in place of rumored wells in the company's possession is expected in some market quarters to help stabilize the course of the shares.

General Motors, off the Clearing House sheet, showed no change yesterday from its tendency to move upward when moderate buying took place. The net gain was nearly 2 points, and a stiff premium was reported in the loan crowd for traders who needed to borrow stock overnight.

Bankers Consider Boston Protest.

The Clearing House Committee of which Walter E. Frew, President of the Corn Exchange Bank, is Chairman, held a special meeting yesterday at which consideration was given to the protest filed by the Boston Clearing House Association against the action of the New York Clearing House in placing a charge of 1-10 of 1 per cent. for the collection of out-of-town bankers' acceptances not payable in New York. The meeting lasted from 3 P. M. until 5:45 P. M. Chairman Frew was not inclined to say what action, if any, the committee had decided to take, and, in answer to inquiries, said: "We have the matter under consideration."

While in some quarters there is a belief that the New York Clearing House may rescind or modify the rule which has been the subject of protest by Boston banks, in others the view is expressed that the out-of-town institutions will see the justice of the charge and arrange to have their acceptances payable in New York City. It is argued that out-of-town banks which sell their acceptances in this city should be willing to arrange to have the payments effected here, and, in cases where such arrangements are not made, a day's interest or its equivalent should be allowed the New York purchaser of the acceptance. As a matter of fact, most of the larger Boston banks which have acceptances outstanding in any volume make those sold in New York payable at banks in New York, and thus are not subjected to the collection charge.

Briefs on Contract Filed.

The various parties to the negotiations over the railroad control contract were once more assembled in Washington yesterday, where it is understood briefs were filed by counsel for all concerned, for the consideration of Mr. McAdoo. The market, as well as every one else, is hopeful of a decision this week, although the Director General has given no assurances.

A "Useless Occupation"?

Some indignant brokers in one and another of the various markets where an individual with a speculative turn of mind can get "action" for his money were overheard yesterday openly hoping for the passage of the 18-to-45 draft law, in order that they might see the arm of the law descend on sundry bear speculators, on the theory that going short of the market was about as nonessential as any imaginable industry. The feeling in this regard is particularly heated on the Cotton Exchange, where a little group of ring traders is accused of persistently selling the market down on any excuse or no excuse at all. But, as one man remarked yesterday, "trying to sell this market down is about the most useless occupation I know of, either way you look at it."

LIBERTY 3½S REACH 101.06.

Demand for Tax Exempt Bonds Responsible for New High Record.

The 3½ per cent. bonds of the First Liberty Loan scored a new high record price yesterday. On Saturday they sold up to 100.50 on the Stock Exchange and at 101 over the counter. Yesterday the opening quotation on the Exchange was 101, and later in the session 101.06 was paid. The closing price was 100.90.

The recent advance in the price of the 3½s is due to the fact that they are absolutely exempt from all Federal, State, and local taxation and that persons of means have been buying these bonds ever since it has become plain that the new war revenue act would provide for heavy income tax rates.

The 5 per cent. Federal Land Bank bonds, which were recently sold to the public at 101, also made a new high record yesterday. They sold up to 103⅜ and closed at 103⅛. These bonds, while not obligations of the United States, are declared to be "instrumentalities" of the Government and possess all the tax-exemption features of the 3½ per cent. Liberty Loan bonds. The Farm Mortgage Bankers' Association of America has recently been conducting a campaign in an effort to have Congress pass legislation removing the tax-exemption provision from all future issues of Federal Land Bank bonds.

National Conduit Business Better.

The National Conduit and Cable Company reports for the quarter ended June 30 last net sales of $4,142,838 and a deficit of $102,055. For the six months ended June 30 the net sales totaled $6,628,684 and the deficit amounted to $394,468. The deficit of $102,055 for the second quarter of the current year compares with a deficit of $292,418 for the first quarter.

HIDE & LEATHER EARNINGS.

The annual report of the American Hide and Leather Company for the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1918, issued yesterday, shows net profits above fixed profits of $2,385,613, an increase over the previous year of $622,863, and equivalent to earnings of $18.35 a share on the $13,000,000 of preferred stock outstanding, on which there are more than $100 a share of back dividends due.

The gross profits of $29,104,428 represented an increase of $5,027,604, but an increase of more than $4,000,000 in expenses, and a decrease in outside income cut this down heavily. The gross income of $3,162,257 compares with $2,457,807 for the previous year, and the profit and loss surplus, after payment of current preferred dividends, was increased from $6,711,188 to $8,469,386.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The Irving National Bank has published in pamphlet form the address of Lewis E. Pierson, Chairman of the board, before the National Association of Credit Men, on "Broadening the Vision of the American Business Man."

Herman S. Gottlieb, assistant cashier of the Bank of United States, has been elected Cashier of the West Side Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago.

Herbert Fleishhacker of the Anglo and London Paris National Bank of San Francisco has joined the Foreign Securities Committee of the Investment Bankers' Association.

Benjamin M. Anderson, Jr., Assistant Professor of Economics of Harvard University and a writer on theoretical and practical financial subjects, has been added to the service department of the National Bank of Commerce in New York.

WANTS ONE SYSTEM FOR ALL PHONES

EXPERTS ARE INVESTIGATING

Much of 25,000,000 Miles of Independent Lines May Be Joined to 50,000,000 A. T. & T. Miles.

Postmaster General Burleson has undertaken the unification of all telephone lines in the United States into a single system. With the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's lines as the central unit, it is planned to bring the numerous lines now competing with the Bell telephone network into the system, a project which the Bell management has long supported as a development of the greatest importance to the telephone in this country. Several months of negotiations with the owners of numerous independent companies are expected to pass before details of the plan are ready for announcement.

N. C. Kingsbury, Vice President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and George W. Robinson, President of the Tri-State Telephone and Telegraph Company, have been asked by Mr. Burleson to examine into ways and means for uniting the lines in a practical way. These telephone experts will undertake the work this week, and it is expected that many conferences will be held in this and interior cities as the situation is presented to officers and stockholders of the concerns which do not now exchange service with the Bell companies. There are approximately 19,719 telephone lines spread over the country, including everything from the main toll lines of major concerns to the short rural wires which are especially numerous in the Middle and Southwest. Of these, 1,289 are listed as competing, some with members of the Bell system and others with outside independent concerns.

It is expected that consolidations of lines which compete directly will be recommended in some cases and in such consolidations it is probable that certain lines of the Bell system will be subordinated to present outside lines, the purpose being to give the quickest and best service at the least possible expense in the way of overhead costs. The Government may arrange to buy some of the independent lines which at present compete with the Bell companies, but the expectation is held that, for the most part, traffic agreements will be urged upon the owners of the outside properties on terms which will be of advantage to them.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company is dominant in the telephone business of the nation through its own long-distance and local lines and the interest which it has in numerous companies. The company's own property, together with the property of its subsidiaries and the concerns which connect with their lines form the Bell system. The Bell telephone organization comprises about 50,000,000 miles of wire, with nearly 10,000,000 stations. It is estimated that nearly 25,000,000 miles of wire is owned and operated by independent concerns which do not work with the Bell companies, and under the new program a large part of this mileage will be joined to the Bell service.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 7,306 packages. Market strong for high grades of fresh creamery, with a lessened supply of that class of stock. Medium grades comprise a larger proportion of the receipts and show weakness. Ladles and packing stock steady to firm. Creamery, higher than extras, per lb., 46¼@47c; extras, 92 score, 46c; firsts, 88 to 91 score, 44@45¾c; seconds, 83 to 87 score, 42@43½c; thirds, 40@41c; creamery, unsalted, higher than extras, 47½@48½c; extras, 47@47½c; firsts, 45½@46½c; seconds, 43@45c; State dairy, tubs, finest, 45¼@46¾c; good to prime, 43½@45c; common to fair, 39@43c; renovated, extras, 41½@42c; firsts, 40@41c; lower grades, 38@39c; imitation creamery, firsts, 38½@39c; ladles, current make, firsts, 37@38c; seconds, 36@36½c; lower grades, 34½@35½c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 36c; No. 2, 35@35½c; lower grades, 33@34½c.

EGGS.—Receipts yesterday, reported by the Mercantile Exchange, 10,869 cases. The scarcity of high-grade heat-free eggs continues, and prices for such rule firm and in sellers' favor, with some further improvement realized on the better qualities of high grade. The market is still burdened with accumulations of medium and lower qualities, which are pressed for sale at a wide range of prices. Much of the supply is still selling in range of 35@41c, and a good many lots, containing a large proportion of hatched and badly heated eggs, have sold at lower and irregular prices. Storage eggs are firm, with a fair demand, and prices are held with considerable confidence. Some lots of especially fancy goods have drawn bids a little above recent quotations. Fresh gathered extras, per dozen, 48@50c; regular packed extra firsts, 45@47c; regular packed firsts, 42@44c; seconds, 37@41c; poor to fair, 20@36c; fresh gathered dirties, No. 1, 35@36c; No. 2 and poorer, 30@34c; fresh gathered checks, good to choice, dry, 31@32c; undergrades, 20@30c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby Western hennery whites, fine to fancy, 64@66c; ordinary to prime, 48@62c; gathered whites, ordinary to fine, 45@62c; Western and Southern gathered whites, 44@55c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby browns, 51@53c; gathered brown and mixed colors, 38@50c; refrigerator, special marks, fancy, 42½@43c; firsts, 41½@42c.

COTTON UP AND DOWN, WITH NEW HIGH RECORD

Day Shows Net Losses of 3 to 20 Points by Recovering Nearly All of Sensational Drop.

After making a new high record, not only for the current season, but for the entire history of the Cotton Exchange, in contracts for most of the active months, (the exceptions being May and July,) the local cotton market yesterday gave way under heavy selling and realizing, and dropped over 100 points from the high level of the morning. There was a very strong undertone to the market, however, and heavy trade buying on a scale down, profit taking and covering by shorts, and new purchases for long account brought prices back strikingly in the last hour, recovering nearly all the loss. The strength and activity in December was the market feature, but it was a very broad and active market all down the list. The close was firm, at net losses of only 3 to 20 points.

Pershing Cables "Well Done" in Reply to Hurley Message.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—General Pershing has cabled to Edward N. Hurley, Chairman of the Shipping Board, his praise of the work of the American shipbuilders. The dispatch, received today, reads:

> The cable of the splendid achievements of the shipbuilders of America has been received and published to the forces. The news thrills every American in France. Well done.

The American Commander's message was in response to one sent by Mr. Hurley, in which he told of the launching of four ships, as follows:

> August 3, 1918.
>
> General Pershing,
> Paris:
> The splendid achievements of your troops the past month have been backed to the utmost by American shipbuilders. Today first launching at big fabrication yard Merchant Shipbuilding Corporation at Bristol, Penn. Tomorrow Alameda Shipyard, California, launches 12,000 to steamer Invincible, built twenty-four working days. Keel laid July 4 on shipway that launched Defiance forty working days. Invincible will join our bridge of boats under steam in September. On Monday Hog Island launches its first hull. Four big fabrication shipyards on Atlantic now in production and strongest friendly rivalry between Atlantic and Pacific to put tonnage behind the American spearhead in France.

FEAR CONFISCATION OF LAND

Officers of oil companies with properties in Mexico are still much concerned over the taxation program announced by the Carranza Government on July 31, although news from Mexico City during the last few days has indicated a modification of the decree to be made in the near future. The oil producers maintain that the original program, if followed out, would bring about the confiscation of the lands on which their wells are situated, and they say they are waiting with anxiety for the results of negotiations between the Department of State, the British Foreign Office, and the Foreign Department of Mexico.

The Mexican Petroleum Company, the Pierce Oil Corporation, the South Penn Oil Company, the Penn-Mex Oil Company, and other American concerns are vitally interested in the current developments south of the border. The Mexican Eagle Oil Company is one of the largest British corporations to be affected. There have been numerous consultations between interests representing the American and British companies at the office of the Mexican Petroleum Company and other places. The oil men say there is little they can do pending the result of diplomatic proceedings. It is understood that they meet to exchange information which comes from their representatives in Mexico. A committee of American oil producers is working in Mexico to ameliorate the situation in respect to the tax, if a way can be found to that end.

TO PROTECT HOLDERS OF BONDS OF RUSSIA

Committee Named by Investment Bankers May Confer with State Department.

$100,000,000 SOLD HERE

When Funds of Imperial Government Here Are Exhausted It Is Believed Interest Will Stop.

The announcement of the appointment by the Investment Bankers' Association of America of a committee to act in the interest of American holders of foreign securities, aroused considerable interest yesterday in banking and investment circles. Besides the statement of Warren S. Hayden, President of the association, no definite information regarding the plans of the committee was forthcoming. Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co., the Chairman of the committee, is away on his vacation, and in his absence his associates were reluctant to comment on their proposed activities.

It was learned, however, that the primary purpose of naming a Protective Committee at this time was to consider what measures could be taken in regard to the bonds of the Imperial Russian Government that have been sold to Americans. As far as the other foreign Government securities are concerned, there is no apprehension regarding their standing and worth, but in view of the political changes that have taken place in Russia and the avowed intention of the Bolsheviki to repudiate the imperial loans, the situation in respect to Russian bonds is uncertain. Precisely what the committee could do is not known, but it is believed that a representative body of bankers, such as has been named, would be in a position to confer with the State Department and take effective measures for the protection of American bondholders.

There have been floated in the United States two Russian loans, totaling $75,000,000, and there have been sold Russian internal bonds to an amount estimated from $15,000,000 to $35,000,000. The total is, therefore, approximately $100,000,000.

In June, 1916, there were sold here $50,000,000 of three-year 6½ per cent. notes due June 18, 1919. In December of the same year a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., the National City Company, the Guaranty Trust Company, Lee, Higginson & Co., and Harris, Forbes & Co., sold $25,000,000 of five-year 5½ per cent. notes of the Imperial Russian Government at 94¾. These mature Dec. 1, 1921.

The 5½s closed yesterday at 58 and the 6½s at 61. The 5½ per cent. ruble bonds were quoted at $109@112 per 1,000 rubles.

The National City Bank of New York, the chief American depositary for funds of the Imperial Russian Government, has thus far paid regularly and promptly the interest on the two Russian dollar loans and also the interest on the ruble bonds which had been registered with it. Although the bank officials have never made any public announcement in respect to the source of the funds used in the payment of interest, it has been generally understood that the payments were made out of balances held here in the name of the old Russian Government. Each interest payment has been authorized by an agent of the Russian Government. The size of the balance of the account now remaining is not known, but it is presumed that when it is exhausted the National City Bank will be forced to stop paying the interest on Russian bonds.

WARNS OF EXPEDIENTS TO LESSEN WAR TAX

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Reports to the Treasury Department from all parts of the country tend to show that in expectation of an 80 per cent. war profits tax business men and corporations are discussing how they will be affected. Already in some sections steps have been taken to adjust business investments to the new tax.

The uncertainty that exists as to what standard of comparison of war profits with ante-war profits will be set up or what years will be taken to afford a comparative ratio of profits is believed by experts of the Internal Revenue Bureau, it was said there today, to have prompted a resort to various expedients to anticipate the tax and obtain some measure of relief from its burdens.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper today issued a general warning against suggested increases of capital or any reorganizations that are designed to assist in diverting profits from a legitimate taxable status. Mr. Roper's statement follows:

"It has come to the attention of the Bureau of Internal Revenue that corporations in different parts of the country are being advised to increase their capital stock to cover surplus and undivided profits. Corporations which act on advice of this kind in the belief that they can thus place themselves in a more favorable position with respect to the excess profits tax will incur needless expense without securing any advantage whatever in the matter of taxation.

"It should be borne in mind that the present excess profits tax is based upon the returns from capital actually invested in the business, in the determination of which surplus and undivided profits are included. An increase in capital stock to cover these items does not result in an increased invested capital, and, therefore, will not change the status of the corporation with respect to the excess profits tax. It is also pointed out that an increase in the amount of capital stock outstanding to cover such items as good-will, value of patents, trade marks, copyrights, &c., not previously capitalized, must under the law be excluded in determining the invested capital of a corporation under the excess profits tax.

"Corporations should not undertake any reorganization nor increase their capital stock to cover items already included in their assets without first assuring themselves that they thoroughly understand the law and regulations pertaining to income and excess profits taxes. No special advantage with respect to taxation should accrue to any business because of its form of organization, whether individual, partnership or corporate. It is believed that any inequities of this character that may have resulted from the operation of the present law will be fully guarded against in the revenue measure now before Congress."

G. B. Mallon in Bankers Trust Staff.

Seward Prosser, President of the Bankers' Trust Company, announced yesterday that George B. Mallon had become a member of the staff of that company. Mr. Mallon was city editor of The Sun for twelve years, and for five years was associated with Edman J. Ridgway in editing the group of five Butterick magazines and as Secretary and Treasurer of the Ridgway Company, which publishes Everybody's Magazine and Adventure. He has been State Publicity Director for the National War Savings Committee of New Jersey and editor of War-Thrift, which is published in Newark twice a month to help along the War Savings campaign. He is President of the Amherst Alumni Association of New York and of the Sun Alumni Association. He lives in Montclair, N. J.

Interstate-Callahan Mining Profits.

The Consolidated Interstate-Callahan Mining Company reports profits of $179,567 for the quarter ended June 30, 1918. This is equivalent to 39 cents a share, ($10 par value,) or at the annual rate of $1.56. The profits of the preceding quarter amounted to $149,596, and for the corresponding quarter last year $408,987. During the quarter ended June 30 there were mined 23,215 tons of zinc and lead-silver ores.

Canada, the Land for a Vacation

Tourist traffic in Canada is estimated to be worth $50,000,000 yearly to the Dominion. From Nova Scotia to British Columbia there is an endless variety of natural beauty—sea, river, lake, prairie and mountains—whose attractions, added to an extremely healthful and exhilarating climate, appeal to people of all tastes and inclinations.

There are more than 300 branches of the UNION BANK OF CANADA located in the most important cities and towns, each offering to the American traveler in the Dominion a complete banking service.

Convertible at the holders' option, on and after September 15, 1918, par for par, into the 8% First Preferred Cumulative Stock of the Company.

CONTINENTAL AND COMMERCIAL TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK, CHICAGO, CORPORATE TRUSTEE

For detailed information regarding these bonds, attention is directed to a letter of L. R. Eccles, Vice-President of the Company, a copy of which will be sent on application, from which the following is summarized:

The Company is one of the large and successful beet sugar producers of America, its business having been in successful operation for a period of twenty years. The physical property of the Company consists of eight sugar beet manufacturing plants located at Ogden, Brigham City, Logan, Lewiston and Smithfield, Utah, and Burley, Twin Falls and Paul, Idaho. The officials of the Company estimate that its 1918 production will approximate 120,000,000 pounds of sugar.

These bonds, which will constitute the only funded debt of the Company, will be secured by a closed first mortgage upon physical properties appraised at more than $10,000,000. Total assets are over $16,960,000, or more than four times the amount of this issue.

The Company covenants that it will, at all times, maintain quick assets as defined in the trust deed equal to at least 100% of all outstanding indebtedness, including these bonds.

The book value of the Common Stock of the Company, as shown by an independent auditor, indicates an equity behind the bonds of more than $13,000,000. As the bonds mature in five annual installments of $750,000 each, the mortgage will be rapidly decreased, thus increasing the equity in the property for the bonds remaining outstanding.

Average annual net profits of the Company applicable to interest charges for the last three fiscal years were $2,156,414.75. The annual interest on these bonds is $262,500.

The entire proceeds of this issue of bonds will be devoted to the reduction of current liabilities, thereby not increasing the present indebtedness of the Company.

W. S. S. SALE A BIG SUCCESS.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Sales in the War Stamp campaign are progressing at the rate of $150,000,000 a month. If this rate is maintained for the remainder of the fiscal year, the entire authorization of $2,000,000,000 will be taken up.

It is now regarded as a foregone conclusion that in view of the success of the War Stamps sale, it will no longer be conducted as a separate campaign. It probably will be incorporated with the Liberty Bond Publicity Bureau and conducted as an adjunct of that organization. Much work and expenditure now carried on in the bond and the stamp propaganda duplicate effort.

The total amount of War Stamps sold down to today is $697,578,000, which is over one-fourth of the total authorization, and represents the work of nine months. A great part of the success of the sale is due to the excellent organization effected in the latter part of last year, when Frank A. Vanderlip, President of the National City Bank of New York, came to Washington and personally took charge.

With the consolidation of the war savings work with the Fourth Liberty Bond sale organization, Mr. Vanderlip will formally retire from charge of the War Stamp campaign. He has been resting in Lower California since March.

Hygiene Bureau Has Anniversary.

The personnel of the Bureau of Hygiene of the Department of Health celebrated the tenth anniversary of the founding of the bureau yesterday. Health Commissioner Royal S. Copeland called attention to the fact that the bureau, now in charge of Dr. Josephine Baker, was the first of its kind in the world and early set a standard in the conservation of child life and health. In 1907, a year before the founding of the bureau, the baby death rate for the city was 144 out of every 1,000 babies born. In 1917 there were 88 deaths out of every 1,000, and up to date this year the mortality average has been set at 85, said to be the lowest infant death rate of any large city in the world.

EXHIBIT BRITISH CLOTHS.

Commerce Bureau Shows Samples of "Standardized" Suits.

Through the efforts of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, New Yorkers are to be given an opportunity to see samples of the "standardized" clothing for male civilians originated by the British Government for its citizens for the purpose of conserving wool for army and navy requirements. Commercial Agent MacLean, in charge of the New York office of the Foreign Commerce Bureau, announced yesterday that he had received from the American Commercial Attache, London, samples of the British standard cloths, along with a man's and a boy's suit made up. These are now on exhibition in Room 734, Custom House, and may be viewed by those interested for a limited period.

"There is a fairly wide range of patterns for men's, youths' and boys' suits and overcoats," Mr. MacLean said, "and the material is of much better quality than that formerly used for ready-made clothing, although selling for considerably lower prices. Thus the demand of the fastidious dresser for something new now may not be gratified, but the average man in Great Britain will be well clad and better off financially. Of course, an example proportion of the standard suitings is reserved for those who want their clothes made to order."

A part of the bureau's exhibit consists of two complete suits. One of these is a man's suit, selling at retail at about $15. The material is gray worsted, Winter weight, and of a neat pattern. The other is a youth's suit, retailing at a little less than $12. The material and workmanship are somewhat inferior to those of the man's suit, a cheaper lining being used.

Egypt Limits Cotton Acreage.

CAIRO, Aug. 19.—The Egyptian Government has decided to limit cotton cultivation to one-third of the perennial area. The limitation is to remain in force through 1919.

Asks Who Has the Cloth.

"There are a great many buyers of men's wear fabrics from all over the country," said an authority in this trade yesterday, "who come to market for additional Fall materials or for Spring goods and are forced to return home without having obtained so much as a yard of cloth. One of our old customers came in here this morning and literally begged me for just a few yards of anything at almost any price. He said he had tried every mill and wholesaler in the city that he knew of and that they had long ago been cleaned out. Of course, we are in the same position. There may be, as Washington says, enough cloth made up to last the civilian trade for a year, but I would like to know who has it."

Gray Goods Market Quiet.

There was comparative quite in the local gray goods market yesterday. Though there is reported to be a good demand for twills, jeans, drills and heavy weight sheetings, none of these is obtainable in any quantities, even second hands having little or nothing to offer. In printcloths there was some trading from first hands in 38½-inch, 44-40s at 10¼ cents, the Government price. A little business also developed in 38½-inch 64-60s at 15½ cents, which is the Government figure for this construction. About the only business done by second hands was in 36-inch 48 squares and in 36-inch 48-40s. Prices here were 14¼ cents and 13⅛ cents respectively, the former ¼ of a cent above the fixed price, the latter on the regular Government basis.

Suit Shades in Waists.

Waist manufacturers report that models in the darker suit shades, such as navy, terra cotta and various other red tones, are coming more into demand for Fall, though flesh colored or white georgettes are still by far the leaders. The collarless blouse with the round neck, which has been so popular all Summer, is continuing in high favor in the trade for the coming season. High colors, however, are by no means neglected and, as they are more suitable for wear in cool or cold weather, it is predicted that more will be heard of them later.

Shirting Flannel Bids Opened.

About forty offerings of shirting flannel were opened yesterday afternoon in the local office of Quartermaster's Department of the Army. Prices ranged from $2 to $2.20 on the flannels specified, and quantities in each offering ranged from 50,000 to 500,000 yards. There was some 28-inch and 36-inch flannel offered, the former at prices from $1.05 to $1.25, the latter at $1.36 and $1.40. The low offering of $2 on the flannel of specification width was made by Robert W. A. Wood of Philadelphia. It was for 50,000 yards. The American Woolen Company offered 500,000 yards at $2.07½. The general run of prices was somewhat lower than the trade had expected they would be.

⁂

Household China Trade Quiet.

Just now there is not very much activity in the local wholesale and retail market for household china. The dullness, however, is attributed more to the excessively hot weather that has prevailed than to any fundamental weakness in the market itself. "There is every indication," said one wholesaler yesterday, "that with the return of normal weather normal buying will be resumed. In fact, already today we have done as much business as we did all last week. Buyers fully realize that the labor scarcity has curtailed domestic production, that the Government needs are greater than they ever were in the past, and that the goods available for the regular trade are constantly shrinking in quantity."

Separate Skirts Well Taken.

Fall orders for separate skirts now on the books, according to a number of local manufacturers, are unusually large in volume, despite the temporary letup for the last week or two. Many more silk fabrics are figuring prominently in the Fall trade this year than ever did before. Especially popular are those silks of a heavy weave made to substitute for woolen fabrics. Serges in simple styles are in such general and widespread demand that manufacturers say they could sell more such garments than they could make if they had the necessary materials. Draped panels, fringe-bordered tunics and very long and narrow lines for the more dressy models are mentioned as the predominating style features of the season up to now.

FOR NEW RAILROAD STATION.

To further relieve transit conditions at the Grand Central station, the Public Service Commission announced yesterday that it would ask the Railroad Administration in the near future to authorize the New York Central Railroad Company to construct the new station, long planned by it, at 149th Street and Mott Avenue, the Bronx.

It was expected that the station would be begun at least two years ago, and would involve an expenditure of not less than $2,000,000. Its construction would provide facilities for turning back virtually all New York Central main line, Harlem and New Haven commuting trains at 149th Street and diverting passengers into both the east and west side subways at that point and eliminate much of the congestion at the Grand Central station.

The New York Central Railroad Company has made some preliminary expenditures for this station, several thousand dollars having been spent to construct passageways from the subway station leading to what eventually will be the concourse of the new railroad station.

300 Machinists Go on Strike.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Aug. 19.—Three hundred machinists employed in the Plainfield plant of the Niles-Bement-Pond Company, engaged on war work for the Government, went on strike today because the company would not agree to a uniform wage scale of 85 cents an hour for tool makers, 75 for machinists, 65 for specialists and 10 per cent. increase for night men. A committee named to interview H. M. Cleaver, plant manager, reported that he would not agree to the scale and refused to submit the matter to the War Labor Board, but that the company was willing to abide by the decision of the latter board in the case of the Newark strike, which has not yet been announced.

DIG NOW FOR NEXT SPRING.

Waste of Time to Harvest Potatoes Without Spading the Whole Patch.

The wise war gardener is now preparing for next Spring. There is a lot of hard work that must be done sometime between now and the planting season of 1919, and if it is spread over the cool days of August, September, and October, and even November, it will be out of the way when the grand rush comes in April and May.

Here is an example set by one of the most successful gardeners in Tenafly. His first planting of golden bantam corn came in the last week in July, and by Aug. 1 he had a vacant spot eight feet by fifty, where the corn had stood. Instead of following the lazy precedent of his neighbors and giving the fodder to the local Italian iceman for taking it away, he turned to with a sharp, round pointed spade, laid all the corn stover lengthwise of the row; and as he went along spading, cut it into pieces not over six inches long and turned it under. The job was done leisurely on cool days when the exertion was not overheating, and in a season when a well-kept garden is giving its owner little concern except to harvest it. The novice probably will say he wasted his time, for the ice man would have left the ground clean, and it will have to be spaded next Spring anyway. But that's where the novice is mistaken. The ice man would have left the ground clean, but he would have carried off perhaps two hundred pounds of the very finest fertilizer, which the ground needs for next year. The Tenafly man has turned this corn stover so far under that by Spring it will be thoroughly rotted and ready to supply the humus that most gardeners buy in the shape of manure at $3 a load. Furthermore, it is just where it will do the most good, about six inches under the surface and not mixed with the top soil as manure spaded or raked in next Spring would be, and, again, this rotting corn stover will absorb three times its bulk of Winter rain and snow water and hold it against the early dry spells of Summer.

The novice is also mistaken about our Tenafly friend having to spade this ground again next Spring. The rains, snows, frosts, and thaws it will experience before April will leave this soil well compacted but soft and friable, and when planting time comes a rake will put it into far better condition for planting than if the spading had been put off six or seven months. Novices generally labor under the error that soil for planting should be loose and open, as it usually is immediately after spading. It should not be hard, but the under layer should be compact and firm, so that there are no airholes or open spaces for roots to die in.

The Tenafly man has four more plantings of corn, all of which he will have spaded under by Oct. 1, so that a space 50 by perhaps 30 feet will be ready for use with merely raking or stirring with a wheelhoe. It will be a great spot for planting peas in April or for first cabbage, potatoes, onions, and the other things that want an early start.

This Tenafly gardener has been digging and eating his own potatoes since July 1. Instead of following the all too common practice of forking out his potatoes from the hills and leaving the space between rows to grow up into a forest of ragweed, smartweed, and wild carrot, he spades the whole plot as he goes. This insures getting all the potatoes, turns under the weeds before they go to seed and, while their bulk is sufficient to add green manure to the soil, prepares the plot for Spring planting.

This far-sighted Tenaflyer has parsnips and salsify to dig later, and he will spade as he goes. He has turned under the rubbish of his early cabbage patch instead of leaving the waste leaves to rot and annoy the olfactories of the neighborhood, so when the frost leaves to rot and annoy the olfactories will have before him half or less of the work that will confront his less far-seeing garden neighbors.

AIR POST MAKES FAST TIME.

Flight from Belmont Park to Philadelphia Made in 52 Minutes.

The results attained in the operation of the Air Mail Service in the last week by civilian aviators encourage the postal authorities to go ahead with plans for establishing a New York to Chicago route. The civilian fliers now operating between New York and Washington are gaining experience which will be valuable to the department when these plans are completed.

Robert Shank, in one of the new machines from the Elizabeth, N. J., plant, yesterday flew from Belmont Park to Philadelphia in fifty-two minutes, which is the fastest flight made since the civilian aviators were inducted into the service. Maurice Newton flew in with the mail from the south, having left Philadelphia at 1:43 and arriving at 3 o'clock.

GOVERNMENT MAY TAKE POWER PLANTS

$200,000,000 APPROPRIATION

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—A bill introduced in the House today by Representative Thetus W. Sims of Tennessee, would give authority to take over all power plants in the United States, whether steam, electrical, or hydraulic, and to control them for the period of the war. Representative Sims said the bill was prepared by experts of the War Industries Board, and was indorsed by President Wilson, Secretary Baker, and heads of boards directing conservation and war activities.

The bill carries an initial appropriation of $200,000,000 for acquiring power plants. A large portion of this would be used to build or acquire power plants at the mouths of coal mines. Refuse coal would be used for fuel and electric power transmitted to factories doing war work.

Representative Sims said that the Administration was anxious to have the bill passed speedily. Hearings will be held, starting on Wednesday, at which Secretary Baker and the heads of the Shipping Board and War Industries Board will appear.

"We are facing a power shortage which is acute, and has been for a long time," said Mr. Sims in a formal statement accompanying the bill. "This shortage is hampering our program of essential war production and this measure authorizing the President to erect superpower stations at the coal mines and other places where he may deem them necessary, or to extend financial aid to persons and corporations about to do so, is designed to obtain results of tremendous immediate and ultimate value to America.

"It is introduced with the indorsement of the Administration, has been most carefully prepared, has been considered in conference with executive officers of the Government and representatives of the great power companies, and is indorsed by all of them.

"This bill must not be understood as in any sense taking the place of the Water Power bill now before the House. What is planned is to confer upon the President all necessary power to deal with our urgent power situation promptly and effectively, and to place at his disposal adequate funds with which to begin operations."

Four pressing military needs for the enactment of this legislation were defined by Representative Sims, as follows: Increased production of power available for war industries in shipyards; economy in the consumption of fuel; reduction in the railroad freight load, especially in the fuel load; increased production of metallurgical coke, ammoniacal liquor, all recovered from coal.

The bill provides "that the President may construct or acquire power plants and transmission lines, and incidental property necessary for the production of material and commodities essential to the national defense." He is empowered either to take over privately owned power plants or to advance funds from the appropriation to assist in their private operation. The measure specifies further that the power to construct or acquire any power plant, transmission lines or incidental property shall terminate at the end of the war, and that the power to operate and maintain the plants shall continue only for such time as the President shall deem necessary for the public interest.

Compensation when the plants are taken over is to be fixed by the President. In the event of a dispute, 75 per cent. of the amount fixed by the President shall be paid, and the owner has the right to sue for the remainder in dispute.

STAMP TAXES INTERPRETED.

William H. Edwards, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Second, or Wall Street District, yesterday received from Commissioner Daniel C. Roper in Washington a comprehensive interpretation of the stamp taxes as they apply to certificates and transfers of stock. It is shown, for instance, that the tax on the issue of capital stock attaches to the issue of certificates of stock representing stock never before issued, no matter when authorized. The tax applies to the issue of certificates of shares in co-called Massachusetts trusts and other unincorporated associations.

It is pointed out that the tax on the transfer of capital stock attaches to sales of transfers of stock, whether ro not represented by certificates. Furthermore, the tax on the issue of capital stock attaches to the issue of preferred and common stock, upon a reorganization of a corporation under Section 24 of the New York Stock Corporation law for the purpose of issuing stock without par value, but the tax on transfers of stock is inapplicable to the surrender of old stock in exchange for new stock pursuant to such reorganization.

The Commissioner rules that the stamp tax, whether on issue or on transfer, is measured, not by the amount paid in, on, or for, the stock, but by the face or par value in the case of shares having a face or par value, and by the actual value, determined by the market price or otherwise, in the case of shares having no face or par value but an actual value in excess of $100 a share.

BANKRUPTCY SALES.

NOTICE OF SALE.

Pursuant to an order of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, the undersigned receiver offers for sale the following described property of the above named bankrupt:

At No. 6 Church Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, furniture and fixtures, and the right, title, and interest of the receiver to any unfilled orders for the shipment of chemicals, lease and good-will of the business of Herman & Herman, Inc.

Sealed bids for the above described property will be received by the undersigned receiver at the office of Zalkin & Cohen, the attorneys for the receiver, No. 51 Chambers Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, on the 20th day of August, 1918, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

TERMS OF SALE.

No bid will be considered unless accompanied by certified check or cash for at least 10% of the amount of the bid, unless the highest bid so received for the property offered shall equal or exceed 100% of the appraised value, unless confirmed by the Court. Bids equal to or exceeding 100% of the appraised value may be accepted without confirmation. The receiver reserves a right to reject any and all bids in whole or in part. Bids may be made for either all or part of the property.

The property offered for sale may be inspected at either place at any time during business hours.

No representation, guaranty, or covenant is made by the receiver as to the character, quality, or description of the property, nor is any representation, guaranty, or covenant made as to the said lease.

In the event of the acceptance by the receiver of any bid, such bidder must pay the balance of his bid at such time and place as the receiver announces at the time of the acceptance of such bid. Should such bidder fail or omit for any cause to pay at the time of the said purchase price, the receiver may, at his option, withdraw the acceptance of such bid, sell the property at public auction, and charge such bidder with any loss or expense attendant thereon.

Property, if any, not sold under sealed bids will be sold at public auction on the 22d day of August, 1918, at 10:30 A. M., in the forenoon at No. 6 Church Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, by Charles Shongood, United States Auctioneer, and on the 23d day of August, 1918, at 10:30 A. M., in the forenoon, at Nos. 205 and 206 Van Vordt Street, Jersey City, New Jersey, by Charles Shongood, United States Auctioneer.

EDWARDS H. CHILDS,

ZALKIN & COHEN, Attorneys for Receiver, 51 Chambers Street, New York City.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR the Southern District of New York.—In the matter of MORGAN, TRUETT & CO., Bankrupts.—In Bankruptcy.—No. 25780.

Notice is hereby given that the sale of the personal property belonging to the estate of the above named bankrupts under the direction of Justin L. Miner, Trustee, at public auction to the highest bidder, by Philip McMorrow, Auctioneer, at the Massachusetts Storage Warehouse Co., No. 2026 Washington Street, Boston, Massachusetts, on the 14th day of August, 1918, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, had been adjourned to and will take place on the 20th day of August, 1918, at the same time and place.

JUSTIN L. MINER,

REAL ESTATE FIELD

In a leading deal of a moderately active real estate market, yesterday, the eleven-story modernized loft building at 57 to 59 East Eleventh Street, on a plot 54 by 103, was sold by the United States Trust Company to I. Randolph and Everett Jacobs, operators. N. A. Berwin & Co. were the brokers in the deal.

Borden Company Adds to Holdings.

For use as a stable and garage, Bordens' Condensed Milk Company has bought from Raffaele Monaco the old buildings at 515 to 521 Renwick Street, on a plot 80 by 60, adjoining the large warehouse recently leased by the same company at Greenwich and Canal Streets. William A. White & Sons negotiated the deal.

Dwelling Buyers.

Carter Macy & Co. sold the four-story dwelling at 21 West Eighty-second Street to Mrs. Anna Quinn, the present tenant.

Max Greenwald is the buyer of the dwelling at 225 West 130th Street, which has been sold for the estate of A. Garside by Porter & Co.

The three-story house at 438 West Forty-third Street has been sold by the Ryan Estate to Michael J. Kiernan, through Joseph F. Feist.

Apartment House Resale.

Frederick Brown resold the five-story apartment house occupying the block front on the south side of 178th Street, from Southern Boulevard to Marmion Avenue, to Louis Smith, Jr., for investment. It has been held at $100,000.

Bronx Transactions.

The Mott Haven Realty Company is reported to have sold the vacant plot, 50 by 100.3, at 240 to 242 East 146th Street. Santo Gianci sold the five-story apartment house at 2,357 Hoffman Street.

Brooklyn.

Samuel & William Lesnick, jewelers, purchased for partial occupancy, from the William Ulmer Brewing Company, the four-story building at 5,102 Fifth Avenue. Tutino & Cerny were the brokers.

New Jersey.

B. M. Culver bought through F. W. Crawley & Brothers, the residence of Julia D. Keyler, on Porter Place, Montclair, which has been held at $20,000.

Commercial Lease.

The United Cigar Stores Company has leased a store in the building at the southeast corner of Sixth Avenue and Fifty-eighth Street. The company's store now in the same block will be moved to the new location.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The area of high pressure which overspread New England and the St. Lawrence Valley Sunday has diminished slightly in intensity, but still is the controlling factor of the weather in Northeastern districts. Pressure is still low in the Southwest and quite generally throughout the Rocky Mountain region, although no definite storm centre appears. Precipitation of the last twenty-four hours has been confined to the South Atlantic and East Gulf States, Florida, and the Southern Appalachian region.

Temperature has fallen somewhat in the South and has risen slightly in the northern districts east of the Mississippi.

Showery weather is probable in Florida, South Carolina, Georgia, and the East Gulf States during the next twenty-four hours. The weather elsewhere in the Washington forecast district will be fair.

Temperature will rise slowly in northeastern districts, reaching the normal by Wednesday.

FORECASTS TODAY AND WEDNESDAY.

Eastern New York and Southern New England—Fair Tuesday and Wednesday, not much change in temperature.

New Jersey—Fair Tuesday and Wednesday.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair and slightly warmer Tuesday; Wednesday fair.

Northern New England—Fair Tuesday and Wednesday, warmer in the interior.

3 A. M.	66	63	4 P. M.	80	71
6 A. M.	66	62	6 P. M.	78	69
9 A. M.	75	66	9 P. M.	72	68
12 M.	79	70	11 P. M.	71	65

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 68; for the corresponding date last year it was 73; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 72. The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 63; at 8 P. M. it was 67. Maximum temperature, 73 degrees at 1:40 P. M.; minimum, 62 degrees at 5 P. M. Humidity, 74 per cent. at 8 A. M., 58 per cent. at 8 P. M. The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 30.42 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.37 inches.

WHITMAN DESERTED HEACOCK, HE SAYS

THEN INDORSED SCHOENECK

Lewis Dares Whitman to Answer His Questions About Hearst, Brisbane, and His Vetoes.

State Senator Theodore Douglas Robinson yesterday accused Governor Whitman and his friends of inducing ex-Senator Seth G. Heacock of Ilion to become a candidate in the Republican primaries for the nomination for Lieutenant Governor against Edward Schoeneck and then deserting Heacock for Schoeneck at the last minute. Attorney General Merton E. Lewis, who is opposing the Governor for the Gubernatorial nomination, has already accused Mr. Whitman of "double-crossing" Schoeneck by promising him his support while secretly inducing Heacock to run.

"It will be recalled," said Senator Robinson, "that Seth G. Heacock announced his candidacy for the Lieutenant Governorship the Saturday before the petitions had to be filed. The day for the filing of these petitions was Aug. 6. Heacock, as I heard it, had been assured of the Governor's support by prominent Whitman people, like Mr. Orr, his secretary, and George A. Glynn, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, and on that assurance he went ahead with his petitions.

"It was about that time that Governor Whitman, when asked about Senator Heacock's opposition to Lieutenant Governor Schoeneck, said: 'I am for neither one. Both are for me.' Until that moment Heacock imagined he had a fine show. Then Whitman went to Caledonia, and the next day, after spending the night with George Aldridge, came out with his so-called indorsement of Schoeneck. Heacock immediately had a warm interview with Glynn and accused the Governor of double-crossing him. Every one who knows the Governor believes that is what he did to Heacock."

Governor Whitman, Senator Robinson declared, has lost the support of the Herkimer County organization because of his treatment of Heacock, and it will now indorse Lewis. Some months ago, he said, the organization passed Whitman resolutions, but that recently nearly every member of the County Committee informed him that if they had the opportunity to do so they would rescind them. Mr. Lewis said yesterday:

"Governor Whitman is so intimately and profoundly impressed with the evils of booze that he advocates the ratification of the Federal prohibition amendment by the Senate and Assembly, and pledges himself to work for such ratification if elected. He even goes so far as to say that if he were a member of the Legislature he would vote for such ratification. My acquaintance with booze is very limited. If booze is to be the issue of this campaign, I am willing to fight the battle on those lines. I have endeavored to induce the Governor to tell the people why he favors the ratification of the Federal prohibition amendment. Did the Governor talk with Brisbane about prohibition at their recent private conference at the St. Regis Hotel?"

Mr. Lewis produced a number of questions affecting the campaign, which he dared Governor Whitman to answer. Among them were the following:

"Will the Governor tell the enrolled Republicans of the State what the arrangement was which led him to veto the moving picture censorship bill? Did Mr. Hearst request the veto, either directly or indirectly? Was there a promise of support given by Mr. Hearst in 1916 for the renomination and re-election of Governor Whitman as a consideration for such veto?

"Is it not true that Governor Whitman participated in the preparation of the bill which provided for the disposition of the water power created by the barge canal construction? Is it not true that Governor Whitman gave an emergency message on the day before the final adjournment of this year's Legislature certifying to the necessity of the immediate passage of the bill? When did the Governor change his mind upon this subject? What led him to veto the bill? Was the veto decided upon after an attack made upon the bill by Mr. Hearst in The New York American?

"Is the Governor still a candidate for the Presidential nomination in 1920, as he declared himself to be in an interview shortly after the first day of last January?

"Does he expect Mr. Hearst's support for that nomination?

A. J. Berwind, Republican leader of the Seventh District, called upon Mr. Lewis yesterday and invited him to speak at the clubhouse of his district, at 2,228 Broadway, next Monday evening. Mr. Lewis will speak at the clubhouse in the Sixth District, of which County Chairman Samuel S. Koenig is leader, tomorrow night

STANDS ON A 'WET' PLANK.

Former Jersey Legislator a Democratic Candidate for U. S. Senate.

Frank H. McDermit, of the law firm of McDermit & McDermit of Newark, N. J., a former member of the Legislature, announced yesterday his candidacy for the nomination for United States Senator at the Democratic primaries. He issued a platform in which he states:

"I am opposed to prohibition. Demagogic, self-styled leaders, taking advantage of the stress in which the people of the country find themselves, through threats of political opposition have influenced the legislative representatives of many of the States to espouse their undemocratic cause, in spite of the fact that the voters of the several commonwealths have emphatically declared their opposition to absolute prohibition. I shall devote myself to an effort looking to the retention of beers and light wines as natural and healthful beverages for the people."

Mr. McDermit says he believes in universal suffrage and favors the establishment of boards for the settlement of disputes between labor and capital. He advocates the public ownership of all public utilities.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Lieut. Gov. Edward Schoeneck, through his Campaign Committee, issued tonight a statement in which he replies to the aspersions which Seth G. Heacock and William M. Bennett, his primary opponents, have cast upon his patriotism.

The statement is in two parts, the first setting forth that he was responsible for turning over the State Fair Grounds to the Government; that he "was the first to bring to the attention of Governor Whitman" the situation which resulted in the Espionage Act, under which Merton E. Lewis exposed Bolo Pacha and other Germanic propagandists; that he lent effective aid to the breaking up of the German-American Alliance; that he prevented the farmers from forming an agrarian party, because it would have a "depressing psychological effect" to start a protest party during the war, and that he has worked unceasingly among his fellow-citizens of German descent to bring them into sympathy with the Government.

The second part of the statement is devoted to the Tolishus case, in which he points out that all he did in connection with that matter was done in coöperation with the Government.

Acknowledgment.

THE NEW YORK TIMES acknowledges the receipt of a check for $10 from Vita C. Kirchner, Port Kent, N. Y. The money has been forwarded to John Forbes Mitchel, Chaplain at Hoffman's Island, and is to be used for buying cigarettes for the soldiers convalescing there.

SPANISH INFLUENZA FOUND IN 'MILD FORM'

TELLS REPORT OF EXPERTS

Health Commissioner Lays Disease to Temperature Changes in Dodging U-Boats.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, the Health Commissioner, in announcing the result of the Health Department's investigation of the reported cases of Spanish influenza which arrived in New York recently, asserted yesterday that the researches of experts indicated that in a few cases symptoms of Spanish influenza had been found in a mild form.

Experts of the Bureau of Preventable Diseases of the Health Department began an investigation last week on the arrival of a second ship, whose surgeon reported twenty-one cases of Spanish influenza on the voyage. All his patients were in the convalescent stage and none had developed pneumonia and the ship was passed. Five out of eight cases among passengers in the third cabin, all East Indians, died, and the others were removed to St. Vincent's Hospital.

"Researches made by experts in the department's laboratories," said Dr. Copeland, "indicate that in a few cases symptoms of Spanish influenza are found and these in a very mild form. Of eleven cases of the disease arriving on one steamship a week ago, we have found that the patients were stricken with pneumonia and bronchial trouble and that no indication of the germs attributed to Spanish influenza had been located.

"We believe that owing to the present exigencies of submarine warfare, passengers coming to this side contract heavy colds and later pneumonia, as a result of passing through the semi-arctic waters of the North and later are affected with fever, heat prostration and stomach disorders when coming through the Gulf Stream farther South. By the time they arrive here their condition is such that they must undergo a vigorous treatment for pneumonia.

"The department has obtained the name and address of every passenger who is believed to have been affected by the disease and also has under observation all persons who have come into contact with the persons affected. Our nurses and physicians are making daily visits to these persons and will continue to do so until every possible danger of the disease spreading has been eliminated."

The first cases of Spanish influenza were reported on the arrival here of a Norwegian steamship on Aug. 13. Eleven persons were removed to Norwegian Hospital, Brooklyn, where it was then said the majority were suffering from pneumonia. The death of Mrs. Jensine Olsen, who was on her way to join her husband in Flint, Mich., occurred within an hour after her arrival at the hospital. Her death was laid to bronchial pneumonia.

Pleads Guilty in Election Case.

John H. Clayton, 32 years of age, of 563 Barbey Street, Brooklyn, pleaded guilty yesterday in the County Court to forgery in the third degree in having signed ten names to the nominating petition of Henry Moeller, who is contesting in the primaries against Jacob A. Livingston for the designation as Republican State Committeeman from the Twenty-second Assembly District of Kings County. Judge May announced that he would sentence the defendant on Monday.

APPROVE LOYALTY TEST.

Roosevelt and Parker for Candidates of Proved Patriotism.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and Alton B. Parker yesterday approved the nation-wide campaign being conducted by the Congressional Committee of the National Security League to insure the election to Congress this Fall of candidates of demonstrated loyalty and ability. In a lettter to the league, Colonel Roosevelt wrote:

"No man should be elected to Congress on any ticket unless he is 100 per cent. American and unless he believes in fighting this war with all possible energy and speed until we win a complete overwhelming victory. Nor should he be elected unless he will stand for the kind of peace which will mean not only liberty for ourselves, but for all other well-behaved people; and this means the break-up of both the Austrian and Turkish Empires. Finally, he should be a man who can be trusted to make good his words by his deeds, and there should be no possible suspicion of his having shirked his duty or having permitted his own kinsfolk to shirk their duty, about going to war."

Alton B. Parker, who is Honorary Vice President of the Security League, wrote: "Every man who sympathizes in the slightest degree with our enemies should be defeated for Representative in Congress, no matter which party organization lends its name to his candidacy."
